FIRST U.S. CASUALTIES IN CAMBODIA

GIs Near Red Headquarters

LANDING ZONE X-RAY, Cambodia, Saturday (AP) — About 8,000 U.S. troops moving in the wake of a massive air-artillery barrage, drove into Cambodia today in a bid to destroy the elusive sanctuaries of the Communist command for South Vietnam.

One American tank column pressed to within 600 yards of an underground tunnel complex thought to be the site of the enemy headquarters.

Two Americans were killed and six wounded in the first hours of the advance Friday. The two, who were the first U.S. combat deaths in the advance, were both members of the 11th Armored Cavalry regiment.

Advance units thrust more than 20 miles inside Cambodian territory as field commanders reported light ground resistance in the area known as the Fishhook, 70 miles northwest of Saigon. The operation called Total Victory was ordered by President Nixon.

Support Leader, He Asks

CHICAGO (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson said Friday that as President Nixon deliberates his policy moves in Southeast Asia he should have the support of "all people who love freedom."

Speaking to some 7,200 Democrats at a fund-raising dinner, the former president cautioned that, "I mustn't say too much about foreign affairs tonight."

But he said, "America cannot withdraw from the world."

"No spot in this nation is more than 30 hours away from Berlin, Tokyo and Moscow, and from Phnom Penh or Vientiane or Saigon," he said.

Johnson said that he had listened to President Nixon's television address Thursday night, explaining his decision to send U.S. forces to attack Communist divisions in Cambodia.

"I heard our President's voice last night," he said. "I think our country is getting to know it."

"I hope our President's voice will not be drowned out by other voices that do not know all the facts and do not have the responsibility of making these decisions."

Johnson said the President should have the support of all Americans for Democratic Action.

Nixon, Senate Unit Will Meet Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously demanded Friday a face-to-face discussion on the invasion of Cambodia with President Nixon who reacted by calling for meetings Tuesday with the four Senate and House groups concerned.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he had shown the President a news story about the Senate committee seeking a meeting with Nixon on the Cambodian issue and remarked:

"We saw the story on the wire and the President thought it would be a good thing."

In addition to the request from the Foreign Relations Committee, senators reacting in frustration against the new military combat operation in Cambodia introduced a censure resolution against Nixon and talked of cutting off Vietnam war funds eventually.

The bid for a committee meeting with the President was the first since debate over joining the League of Nations 51 years ago.

CHAIRMAN J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and other senators questioned the legal and constitutional power of the President, even as commander in chief, to send troops into a neutral nation.

Some hours later, after Nixon and his family had left for Camp David in Maryland to spend the weekend, the White House announced arrangements for the Tuesday meetings.

The complete membership of four committees have been invited, the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committee members for 5 p.m. and the members of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees for 8:30 a.m.

Asked whether this was Nixon's response to the action of the Foreign Relations Committee, Ziegler said:

"This is what the President has determined to do, inviting down all the members of the appropriate committees of Congress."

Ziegler said he was sure Nixon would be willing to discuss not only Cambodia on Tuesday but other foreign affairs matters also.

In one of the moves critical of Nixon's action, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said he will co-sponsor amendments which would cut off funds to offensive military operations by U.S. forces in all Southeast Asia, including Cambodia and South Vietnam.

Cuba Blocks Hijack Plan to Fly On

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hijackers Friday diverted a British West Indian Airlines passenger jet with 68 persons aboard to a landing in Havana and then demanded to be flown with the passengers to Africa. Cuban officials refused to refuel the plane, a BWIA spokesman said.

The spokesman said the hijackers then apparently abandoned their plan and deplaned in Havana, releasing the 60 passengers and eight crew members to Cuban officials.

The Boeing 727 was hijacked to Havana on a flight from Kingston, Jamaica to Miami.

The spokesman said he did not know any of the details of the hijacking itself other than that the hijackers were believed to be black and "we presume there were several of them."

"Full funds would still be available to bring all our men home rapidly, and with maximum safety," he said.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, attacking the "hallucination of victory in Vietnam," introduced a resolution which, if passed, would censure the President and express the view of the Senate that he had no legal or constitutional power to act in Cambodia.

EVEN SOME of those senators defending Nixon's action said they believe the public would react negatively and that no one could foresee all the implications and consequences of the move.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott agreed with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that politics should be kept out of the debate on Cambodia.

"Lord knows I want to," he said, "because I'm on the losing side of this in public opinion as of now."

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said they will offer legislation to bar introduction of U.S. combat troops into Cambodia and to prohibit the delivery of arms or the use of U.S. advisers in that nation.

But it was unclear when the measures would be introduced or how much support they would muster.

Antiwar Students Rampage

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — State police battled 1,000 University of Maryland students with cattle prods, clubs, tear gas and Mace Friday after the youths ransacked ROTC offices and cut off a major highway in a protest against the sending of American troops to Cambodia.

Gov. Marvin Mandel ordered 300 National Guardsmen to stand by for possible use in quelling the disorders, but state police said the troops probably would not be called in.

Late Friday, as a state police helicopter hovered over one crowd of 300 students near two dormitories, troopers fired volleys of tear gas into the crowd. Tear gas seeped into the dormitories.

The gas sent the students fleeing across the campus, which is only two miles from the District of Columbia line and has the third largest student population of any campus in the nation.

THE TEAR GAS was used after several bloody clashes between students, who threw rocks and bottles, and police, who used clubs, cattle prods and Mace. At least two police were injured and more than 25 students were taken away for treatment. Most suffered head wounds but one broken arm was reported. Students managed at times to block U.S. 1 which goes through the campus.

Several reporters and cameramen were clubbed and a television photogra-

Do-It-Yourself Law

Q. I have been making alimony payments to the Superior Court of California since 1963, but I will soon have to depend solely on Social Security payments for my income and I will be unable to continue these monthly payments. Do I have to pay a lawyer to get me a court hearing on this matter, or is there some way I can present my case without spending a lot of money? R. P., Long Beach.

A. As in most legal proceedings, you can prepare your own brief asking the court to have a hearing for the modification of the alimony order, but it is a complicated process. The book, "Superior Court Rules," available from the Los Angeles Daily Journal, 220 W. First St., Los Angeles, for $2.10, explains the basic procedures for the conduct of hearings and the filing of motions with the court. The Los Angeles County Law Library, 301 W. First St., Los Angeles, has reference works which should help you prepare your case.

Q. How many students have been accepted at California State College at Long Beach in the Economic Opportunities Program from the beginning of the program, how many were allowed to continue, and how many were dropped because of grades? I. H., Compton.

A. The Economic Opportunity Program at CCLB has enrolled 814 students since it began in the fall of 1967. Of this number, four students have been dropped because of grades, and 50 others have left the program for personal reasons. American troops, supported by an elite force of 2,000 South Vietnamese, is the top command post for all Communist military and political activities in South Vietnam.

Troops combed the scrub jungles of Cambodia north of Vietnam's War Zone C, where the enemy constructed thick-walled concrete bunkers linked by a maze of tunnels.

But the top enemy command post, known as the Central Office for South Vietnam or COSVN is only sometimes in the area. Since it was formed in the early 1960s COSVN has been a mobile and dispersed headquarters. The last known Communist command headquarters was four miles inside Cambodia. But intelligence sources said the enemy command had withdrawn northward two days before the operation was launched.

While attention focused on the first major American ground operation in Cambodia since the Vietnam war began, a South Vietnamese task force with American advisers pushed 30 miles into Cambodia along Highway 1 further south. It linked up with Cambodian troops defending the beleaguered

'Ringo' Promoter Appeals L.B. Ban

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

A petition for a writ of mandate to force the city to issue a permit for operation of a game called "Ringo" was taken under submission Friday by Superior Court Judge Max Wisot.

The action followed arguments by attorneys William T. Pillsbury and C. Ransom Samuelson, for the petitioner, and by Deputy City Attorney John Calhoun, for the city.

The city contends that "Ringo," a modified form of bingo, is a "game of chance." The petitioner, C. Ray Shira, 122 Juniper Ave., says it is "a game of skill."

Court attaches said Judge Wisot probably will render a decision in about 10 days.

Shira applied for a permit last October to operate a game of "Ringo," but was turned down by the city's license bureau on recommendation of the Police Department. He appealed to the City Council.

Councilmen first voted, 4-3, to grant the permit, but rescinded that action the following week on advice of the city attorney's office. At a second hearing in December, the council unanimously denied the permit.

Shira contends the councilmen acted "unlawfully, illegally and without authority" when they denied the permit at the second hearing. He has asked the court to order the city to issue the permit, and also seeks damages.

U.S., Laotian Pilots Pound Red Forces

Combined News Services

VIENTIANE — U.S. and Laotian air force fighter-bomber pilots flew round-the-clock strikes Friday in a counteroffensive against North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops who seized the province capital of Attapeu. Laotian infantrymen in positions 15 miles northwest of Attapeu, Laos were reported preparing for a counterattack on a ridge overlooking the city's airstrip which was in Communist hands.

Communist forces said 106 Laotian defenders were killed and 70 wounded. Earlier reports had placed casualties at 83 killed and 23 wounded.

Russ Demilitarize May Day

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union Friday replaced its usual May Day display of military might with a "demilitarized" demonstration that featured a plea for Communist world unity. But East Germany put on a military parade denounced as illegal by the Western allies and placed a new squeeze on West Berlin traffic. In Warsaw, American diplomats walked out of Poland's May Day celebrations when Communist Party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka condemned what he called "the brutal armed intervention" by the U.S. in Cambodia.

Haitian Rebels Ask Asylum

ROOSEVELT ROADS, Puerto Rico — The commander of the rebellious Haitian coast guard and 117 of his men asked Friday for political asylum in the U.S. The men arrived at this U.S. Navy base in the morning aboard three leaking Haitian coast guard vessels that shelled Haiti's capital of Port au Prince a week ago. The Haitian government said two persons were killed and 34 injured in the shelling.

Israel Raids as Nasser Appeals

TEL AVIV — Israeli warplanes blasted Egypt's Suez front lines for six hours Friday. Shortly afterward Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser appealed urgently to President Nixon to take steps to bring peace to the Mideast. Nasser, addressing a May Day throng outside Cairo, also defined Soviet assistance in Egypt's conflict with Israel, and said if it were not for the Russians, the Israelis would be in Cairo now. He did not deny that Soviet pilots were flying Egyptian warplanes. Meanwhile Israeli planes struck Egyptian targets in the Suez Canal and then pounded artillery positions across the canal.

Eban Denounces Nasser's Talk

JERUSALEM — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban termed Egyptian President Nasser's speech in Cairo Friday "a direct continuation" of everything he has said since the eve of the Mideast war of June 1967. Eban said Nasser was trying to "impose terror and dread on the enlightened world" so that it would deny Israel arms for defense.

Clean, 'Flush' Hippies Welcome

LIMA — Peru's tough Interior (Police) Minister Armando Artola put out the word Friday — hippies are welcome in Peru. However, he put in a couple of qualifying phrases — they have to have plenty of U.S. dollars, and not look like hippies. His comment followed reports of a "world congress" of hippies scheduled to be held in November. He said, "I am not going to deny entry of those who come with enough dollars, and are clean and well shaven."

Green Beret Charged In Family Killing

Combined News Services

Green Beret Capt. Jeffrey R. MacDonald was charged Friday with murdering his pregnant wife and two small daughters, a bizarre crime he had blamed on a hippie-type band of three men and a blonde. The Army made an announcement. This is similar to a preliminary hearing in a civilian court. The officer presumably will decide whether MacDonald, 26, from Patchogue, N.Y., is to be court-martialed. The slayings occurred in the pre-dawn hours Feb. 17. Bodies of Mrs. Colette MacDonald, 26; Kimberly, 6, and Kristen Jean, 2, were found in the MacDonalds' blood-spattered apartment at Fort Bragg, N.C., when military policemen responded to MacDonald's telephoned plea for help. Police found Mrs. MacDonald's body in her bedroom. MacDonald, suffering from stab wounds, was lying beside her. The girls were dead in their beds. The Army announcement gave no indication of how MacDonald himself was wounded.

JOE LOUIS

Former world heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, 56, was ordered hospitalized Friday in Denver for examination at Colorado Psychiatric Hospital, a part of the University of Colorado Medical Center. Judge David Brofman, of the Denver Probate Court, said he signed the hospitalization order Friday morning. Under Colorado law, Louis could be hospitalized up to six months but only by the recommendation of the attending physician. Reason for the hospitalization was not revealed.

STEVENS PROBE

The death of actress Inger Stevens will be investigated by a team of behavioral scientists to determine whether she committed suicide, the county coroner's office said Friday. The investigation will include interviews with friends and relatives in an attempt to find out about her "personal habits and personal relations with others." The investigating team consists of psychiatrists and psychologists from the Los Angeles Suicide Prevention Center.

WORST ACTORS

Brother and sister Peter and Jane Fonda captured top honors as worst actor and actress of the year in Harvard Lampoon. Miss Fonda won the Natalie Wood Award for worst actress "for 'Spirits of the Dead' and for marrying Roger Vadim." Her brother was honored "for making 'Easy Rider' what it is." Mia Farrow was named worst supporting actress for her role in "Secret Ceremony" while Dennis Hopper was selected worst supporting actor for his part in "Easy Rider."

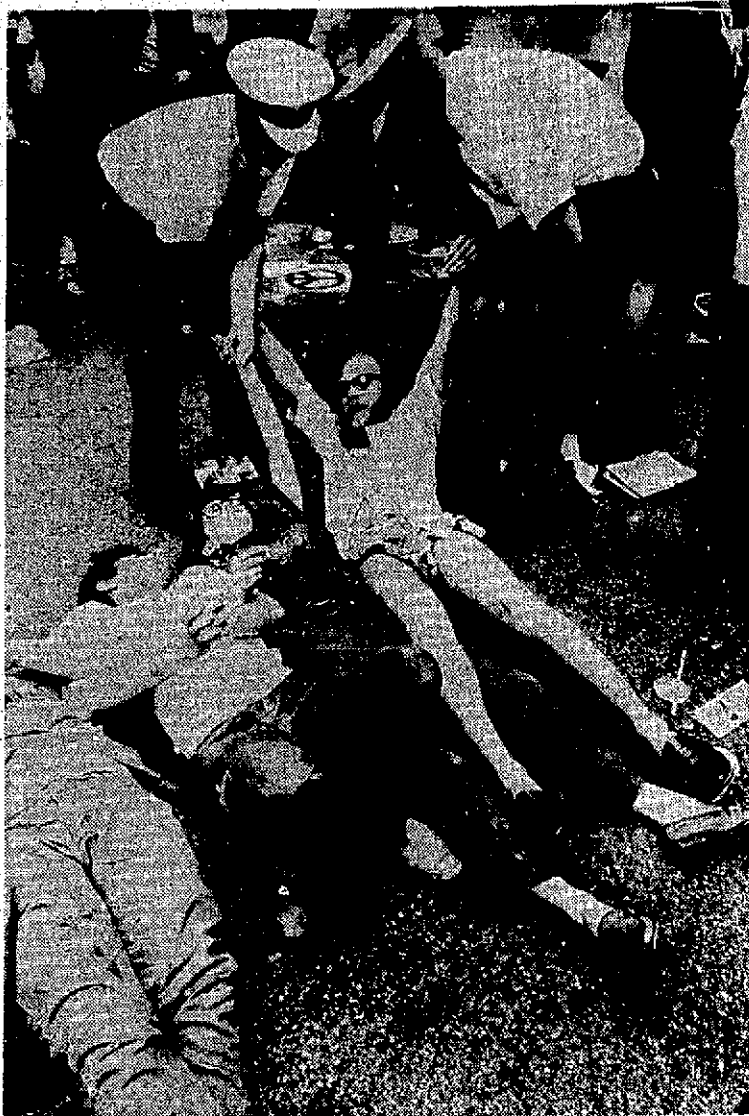

RED HEADS

Chairman Mao Tse-tung conferred Friday with the deposed Cambodian head of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the New China news agency reported from Peking. It said Mao was accompanied by his designated successor, Defense Minister Lin Biao, Premier Chou En-lai and other officials.

BOYS FIND FORTUNE, MAY GET TO KEEP IT

Two boys walking to school Friday found thousands of dollars in old, rainsoaked banknotes. Police said they found more than $25,000 and it might total as much as $50,000. Tim Laster and David Todd, two 8-year-old second graders at Harrison Park school in Grand Rapids, Mich., found the money in a large cardboard box near a garage behind the school. The bills ranged in denomination from $20 to $1,000.

"There were some $20 bills hanging out the side of the box and when I opened the lid there were stacks and stacks of money," the Laster youth said. The boys carried the money to Todd's home and his mother called police. There was no immediate success in finding the owner, police said and the boys will be able to keep the cash if no owner is located.

POLICE 'HELP' DEMONSTRATORS

ED BEGLEY

"He was Ed Begley before the 'Sweet Bird of Youth' and he was Ed Begley afterwards." With these words, Oscar winner Ed Begley was eulogized Friday by Will O'Hearn, long-time friend of the 60-year-old actor who died of a heart attack Tuesday. About 150 persons, many of them top stars in Hollywood, attended Begley's funeral at Corpus Christi Catholic Church in Pacific Palisades. Burial was in San Fernando Mission Cemetery. Among the entertainers at the funeral were Gregory Peck, Henry Fonda, Max Baer, Karl Malden, James Gregory and Eddie Foy Jr. His long career was capped by the Academy Award for his performance in "Sweet Bird of Youth" in 1962.

'HAPPY' RIOT

A public celebration of Queen Juliana's 61st birthday degenerated into sporadic rioting in downtown Amsterdam. Police said 10 persons, including four policemen, were injured in clashes with youths who smashed shop windows and stoned police cars. Police spokesman said the rioting seemed "just to nag us."

CARSWELL PLEA

Former Judge G. Harold Carswell called on the U.S. Supreme Court Friday to define such terms as "unitary school system" so that lower courts can more effectively implement high court school decisions. The Georgia-born jurist told a Law Day gathering at Mercer University in Macon, his alma mater, it is increasingly difficult for lower courts to enforce Supreme Court decisions when many terms are open to broad interpretation.

SEDUCTION SUIT FILED ON SINGER

A Washington mother filed a $1.25-million suit against folk singer Peter Yarrow Friday, alleging he seduced her two teen-age daughters. Yarrow, 32, New York, leader of the singing group, Peter, Paul and Mary, pleaded guilty March 26 to a charge of taking indecent liberties with a minor, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Anne D. Winter.

A sentencing date has not yet been set for the incident which allegedly occurred in a downtown hotel last August with Mrs. Winter's 18-year-old daughter Kathleen Crowley, present. The suit alleges that Yarrow seduced the girls from 1966 through 1969, encouraged a minor to perform indecent acts and attempted to persuade Kathleen to leave her family and enter his custody.

A 10-day restraining order forbidding communication between Yarrow and Kathleen was issued, despite Kathleen's protests Friday. Yarrow is married to Mary Beth McCarthy, niece of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

PICASSO

Nearly a thousand early works of Pablo Picasso, virtually unnoticed and unguarded for more than 60 years, have been transferred to a Barcelona museum and put under heavy security precautions. "We will take no risks," says Juan Alnau, director of Barcelona museum. "Police will guard closely the National Art Museum while Picasso's gift is being sorted out and prepared for exhibition." The gift is 994 paintings and drawings done before 1908.

Stanford Hosts Meet of Blacks

By VERN SMITH
Staff Writer

PALO ALTO — Black students from across the nation are gathering at Stanford University today for a three-day Black Unity Conference.

Among topics the conference will consider the threatened extinction of the year-old black studies programs at several California colleges.

The black student conference, which has registered more than 5,000 students, was organized by Black Student Unions from Stanford and San Francisco State.

SOME STUDENTS have come from as far as Washington D.C. and Houston for the event, considered one of the largest ever held by black college students.

The theme of the three-day affair, called "Black Unity," is "unity among black students."

"We called this conference out of alarm," said Leo Brazile, chairman of the Stanford BSU, in his opening statement Friday morning. "Alarm over the fact that the question of racism in America is being allowed to seep out of view under the weight of Vietnam, ecology and women's liberation."

"We believe this is happening because black people are being factionalized by the flood of ideologies that appeared soon after we began to purge whites from our organization and communities."

"We have gathered here to hack out the differences and unite on the common ground of these ideologies."

"We are here to air our views and vote some resolutions into action programs as far as our geographic locations will allow us," Brazile said.

ONE OF THE toughest projects the students plan to deal with is what to do about year-old black studies programs. At some colleges in California, including Cal State Long Beach, the controversial programs face extinction after this school year.

After breakfast and a general assembly in Stanford's Memorial Auditorium, student delegates broke off into workshops.

It is in these workshops where the bulk of the work is expected to take place.

Workshops include black studies, communications and black student involvement in the community.

The top item on today's agenda is a morning panel discussion on black education which includes Dr. Nathan Hare, former head of the black studies department at San Francisco State, and Josiah Williams of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Construction Dips Slightly in March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Total new construction activity in March was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $90.2 billion, down 1 per cent from February and 2 per cent less than in March a year ago, the Commerce Department reported Friday.

CHIMNEY'S FOR THE BIRDS, HORRIFIED FAMILY LEARNS

United Press International

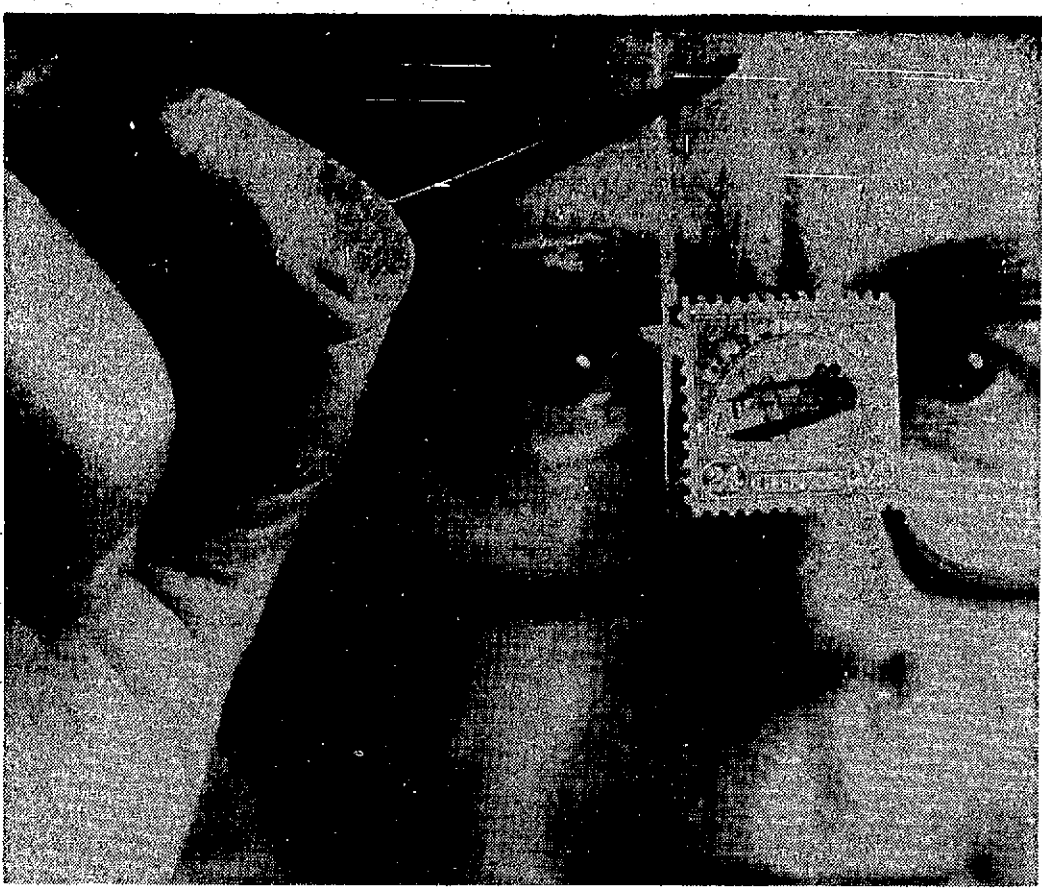

An ominous rustling sound from the living room heralded an experience for Mr. and Mrs. Larry Benson of Los Angeles that was right out of the Hitchcock horror movie, "The Birds."

The couple arose from the dinner table to investigate the sound and found their fireplace gushing birds — hundreds of the small, charcoal-grey creatures.

"I didn't believe what I saw," Mrs. Benson said. "The room was filled with birds. Some were on the beams. Some were on the bannister. Some were crashing into the picture window."

Mrs. Benson grabbed her two young daughters and fled out the front door. Benson tried to plug up the chimney with a bear rug but the birds kept coming in. Outnumbered, he fled outside and joined his wife.

By this time, a number of neighborhood boys had gathered and Benson led

5,000 Rally at Teacher Hearing

Associated Press

More than 5,000 persons marched or drove around the Los Angeles County Courthouse where contempt of court hearings began Friday against leaders of the striking United Teachers of Los Angeles.

Negotiations to end the three-week-old strike by about half the school districts 25,400 teachers were suspended until today because members of the UTLA negotiating team had to appear in court.

The case, continued to Monday, is being heard by Superior Court Judge Stevens Fargo who denied a UTLA motion asking for a jury trial.

JUDGE Fargo suggested negotiations be continued over the weekend, when the court is not in session.

Charged with contempt for ignoring a temporary restraining order against the strike are Robert Ransom, UTLA president; Larry Sibelman, executive vice president; Roger Seigure, associate executive director and Donald Baer, executive director.

The demonstrators, who also marched on the nearby school district headquarters, began earlier in the day with motorcades toward the Civic Center from six sections of the city.

DR. JULIAN Nava, a member of the Board of Education, addressed the demonstrators and said he was doing all he could to see the strike settled.

Meanwhile district officials reported a slight increase in the number of teachers and students who stayed off classes Friday: of an enrollment of 637,309 students, 243,855 were absent, and of the 25,400 teachers, 12,091 were reported off their jobs.

INVERTED AIRPLANE Flawed Stamp Brings $32,000

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

Long Beach went to sleep as the International City Friday night and awoke this morning to learn it is now the philatelic capital of the nation.

A New Jersey stamp dealer flew into town Friday and traded a rare, 1918 air mail stamp — with an upside down airplane — for a cashier's check in the amount of $32,000.

Elated with the purchase were Ray Lundgren and Sam Frudakis, who co-sponsor the annual Long Beach Stamp and Coin Exposition. The stamp will be on view when the 10th renewal of the exposition is held June 11-14 in Long Beach Auditorium.

"I've been in the stamp business for 25 years," said Lundgren. "In 1954 I could have bought the stamp for $2,500 but it seemed a little steep to me."

"IF I LIVE 20 years more," he said, "I feel certain this stamp will be worth half a million dollars."

The stamp is officially listed in the Scott catalogue — bible of the philatelist world — at $25,000 but the seller, Greg Manning, of Maplewood, N.J., said the list was "a couple of years out of date."

Santa Fe Engine Damaged by Fire

MOJAVE (UPI) — Fire caused $5,000 damage to an engine of the Santa Fe Railroad's San Francisco Chief Friday near Mojave.

The fire, apparently started by a short in the electrical system, was discovered about 17 miles east of here shortly after 2 a.m. The blaze caused a delay of 2½ hours.

Jess Says Demos Are United

ANAHEIM — Jess Unruh asserted Friday there are not 10 "credentialed" Democrats in the state who are against his gubernatorial candidacy.

Answering a reporter's question suggesting a Yorty-Unruh factionalized Democratic Party in California, he said:

"The Democratic Party is not factionalized. It is united behind me. Some Democrats will vote for other candidates, but I don't think you can find 10 in the state with any Democratic Party credentials — those who are actively engaged or thinking of becoming actively engaged in the campaign — who are not supporting me for governor."

Unruh told of his own feeling "of sick despair, almost incredulity," upon hearing President Nixon's Thursday talk on Cambodia. (See story on Page C-1).

The former Assembly Democratic speaker speaking at the Disneyland Hotel said he is not concerned over any Unruh-Reagan popularity indexes, not until the fall. He is encouraged, he said by great numbers of new people becoming involved in his campaign.

Commercial Anchovy Fishing Ban Relaxed

By JACK BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

The State Fish and Game Commission Friday eased its ban against the netting of anchovy by the commercial fishing fleet for the last 11 days of the season.

Meeting in San Diego, the five-man board voted unanimously to rescind partially the restriction it imposed on the commercial fleet on March 20.

Beginning at one minute after midnight Monday, the commercial fisherman will be allowed to take anchovy in a corridor six miles offshore from the mainland but no closer than three miles from the channel side of Catalina Island.

The reopened zone extends only from Dana Point in Orange County to Pt. Dume, northern tip of Santa Monica Bay.

BEGINNING with the opening of the season on Sept. 13, the taking of the small silver-sided fish was permitted within three miles offshore between Pt. Dume and Pt. Concepcion, north of Santa Barbara.

On March 20, at a verbally stormy session in Los Angeles the commission extended the closed zone out to 12 miles. Friday, the commission relaxed that ban down to six miles offshore.

The taking of anchovy by the commercial fleet for reduction of the fish into poultry and cattle feed closes on May 15 in all areas off the Southern California coast.

Canned anchovy as a table delicacy have not been widely accepted by American housewives.

Closing of the offshore Southern California areas to the commercial fishing fleet in March prompted an outburst of protest from the local commercial fishing community.

SPORT FISHERMEN, who use the anchovy as bait, lauded the action by the commission. They claimed overfishing of the anchovy by the commercial fleet had caused the fish to disappear from the waters inside the Los Angeles-Long Beach breakwater.

The commercial fishermen contended there were so many thousands of tons on anchovy in waters outside the breakwater that thinning of the schools would actually produce healthier, larger schools of anchovy.

Efforts by the commercial fishing interests, ship owners, union fishermen, cannery, and others, to have the ban imposed by the commission on March 20 repealed by legal action, failed to win court support.

Representatives of the commercial fishing industry attending Friday's meeting in the State Building expressed pleasure, although something less than full glee, at the partial easing of the ban.

Airline Ticket Raid Nets Five

Five persons were arrested in a raid Friday in connection with the sale of thousands of dollars worth of airline tickets taken last July 26 from a Huntington Beach travel agency, it was reported.

Los Angeles police identified the persons arrested as Ronald W. Weiner, 29, and his wife, Mary 25, of Studio City; Simon and Esther Saltzberg, 53 and 48 respectively, of Panorama City; and Marvin Goldberg, 52, of West Hollywood.

All were booked for investigation of forgery, police said.

The arrests came after undercover officers, tipped by earlier ticket sales, purchased tickets from the suspects, police reported.

Officers said they recovered 1,039 airline tickets valued at about $500,000; $6,000 in business machines and $6,000 in cash.

Cambodians Fighting Regime Threaten Civil War

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — There is mounting evidence that Cambodians are taking up arms in growing numbers against the government, raising the threat of a civil war.

In some cases North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops act as advisers to these Cambodians.

Army officers in east-central Kompong Cham Province say forces there are now predominantly Cambodians with their alien advisers.

Some commanders, fearful of the implications of Cambodians fighting Cambodians, rebuke junior officers who begin to naively describe how many Cambodians are fighting with the enemy.

But many field officers now admit that the forces opposing them, while predominantly Viet Cong in most areas, include often about 30 per cent or more armed Cambodians.

If this pattern of support from Cambodians continues to expand, it will mean Cambodians will be thrust into a form of civil war where Cambodians fight Cambodians but with foreign leadership.

After Prince Norodom Sihanouk was toppled as head of state on March 18, a brief civil war exploded in parts of Cambodia. Viet Cong and Sihanouk supporters triggered demonstrations for Sihanouk. Cambodian troops suppressed them by killing more than 100 demonstrators.

The Viet Cong and Sihanouk elements fell back on a direct military drive to topple the government.

In view of the severe pressure against the government, it cannot be ruled out that Cambodian government forces will be led by battle-trained ethnic Cambodians from South Vietnam. In turn, these units, should they materialize, would be pitted against pro-Sihanouk units led by Viet Cong or North Vietnamese advisers.

Normally, the government side would be too proud to accept Vietnamese advisers, and may remain so despite the growing threat of military collapse.

But Phnom Penh would welcome the ethnic Cambodians from South Vietnam's Mekong Delta area. These are the Kampuchea Kroms, or southern Cambodians. Many work as mercenary forces for the Green Berets. They would make a natural force to permanently insert into Cambodia.

A few thousand of these troops could provide the all-important leadership and experience won lacking in Cambodia's green and untested army of about 50,000.

While the government of Premier Lon Nol has been under mounting threat from the enemy and their Cambodian sympathizers, Sihanouk has been stressing the formation of a Cambodian resistance army.

Sihanouk terms it the National United Front of Kampuchea-Cambodia. The front has its own battle flags but little else. Uniforms, weapons, ammunition and supplies must come from Hanoi and Peking.

The movement gained a major boost when Premier Chou En-lai publicly declared Red China's support for Sihanouk and his attempt to topple Lon Nol.

While the rank-and-file opposition units in Cambodia may increasingly be Cambodians, Sihanouk has again indicated he will leave the leadership to Hanoi, or most of the decisions.

After Chou spoke at an Indochina summit meeting Monday Sihanouk added that he thought the conference was aimed at directing "a struggle that must be expanded, unified and coordinated."

Sihanouk was referring to a joint effort by the pro-Communist sides of Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam against the allied forces.

Significantly, Sihanouk added that the conference aimed at directing "the over-all cooperation after the victory of the people of Khmer Cambodia Laos and Vietnam." This would require Hanoi's direction, if for no other reason than it is stronger and more experienced in war than Cambodia and Laos.

Whether, in the long run, Sihanouk would consider his soul mortgaged to Hanoi as the price of returning to power, remains to be seen.

STUDENTS DEBATE NIXON'S DECISION

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

"How can they tell us to work within the system? We've been trying that for five years. Now we're in Cambodia..."

The speaker was a husky student in a letterman's jacket who sat on the lawn with friends at California State College at Long Beach Friday after a speech by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Jess Unruh.

Unruh had urged students to work within the existing political system to change President Nixon's Southeast Asian policies.

"But what can we do outside of the system?" asked another student. "A third party? Guerilla warfare? Drop out?"

THE DEBATE — which went unresolved — continued into the afternoon. It was typical of reactions by Cal State students to President Nixon's Thursday night announcement of massive military involvement in Cambodia.

"I haven't talked to anyone on campus who is for the President's Cambodian policy," Dean of Students Jack Shainline said.

"But I think our students are trying to approach this in a rational way. They see no point in protesting violence in Cambodia by violence on campus. They want to express their opinions in sensible ways."

But depression marked many student discussions.

"It's another excuse to step up the draft," said engineering student Vince Arthur.

"It all reminds me of the way that Lyndon Johnson stepped up the Vietnam war four years ago," said Mike Durand, chairman of the school's Experimental College.

"It seems that everyone's learned the lesson of the Vietnam War but Nixon," Durand said. "It shows the bankruptcy of his pledge of peace. I'd hoped there really was a new Nixon, but it's obvious there isn't."

SOCIOLOGY student Bill Marks said he believed that the Pentagon engineered the overthrow of Cambodian neutralist Prince Norodom Sihanouk last month to install a pro-American regime that would allow stepup of the war.

Another student, Fred Newman, said he believed Nixon's Cambodian strategy was "good military tactics — it makes sense to destroy Viet Cong sanctuaries in Cambodia — but the Cambodian war will grow like the Vietnam war. The long-range results will far outweigh short-range military gains."

Jim Antenore, chairman of the Associated Students Political Open Forums committee, said Nixon's Cambodian policy fits into a larger picture of "U.S. economic imperialism."

Britain Seeks Russian Help on Asian War

LONDON — Britain asked the Soviet Union Friday to join in calling a new conference to halt the spreading Indochina war.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart at the same time officially advised the United States that the British government does not think much of President Nixon's thrust into Cambodia.

While some of America's European allies criticized Nixon's Cambodian strategy, favorable reaction came from Asian governments closest to the South-east Asian war area.

Deploping Nixon's decision to send American troops into Cambodia, the French government said "experience of recent years has shown that military action leads to an unescapable train of events which cannot be controlled."

The Canadians expressed regret that the United States found it necessary to send troops into Cambodia.

A spokesman for neutral India said the American action "will only aggravate an already difficult situation." Surendra Pal Singh, deputy foreign minister, told Parliament in New Delhi that Cambodia was becoming "a playground of international power politics."

VFW Hails Decision

REDFIELD, S.D. — Ray Gallagher, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Friday called President Nixon's decision to move against enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia "the most sensible decision made by any president on conduct of the Vietnam War."

He added: "The President's decision to combine south Vietnamese and American military might against the enemy nerve centers could be a key move leading to a conclusion of the war. This policy will at last provide the security needed by our troops."

"The VFW believes we should take initiatives calculated to hurt the enemy, weaken his will to conquer and hasten the end to this tragic conflict," said Gallagher.

Nixon 'Unwinds' Before Weekend

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, escaping from the pressures of recent days, took a luncheon cruise on the Potomac Friday before flying by helicopter to his Camp David retreat.

Mrs. Nixon joined her husband for the outing on the yacht "Sequoia," as did son-in-law and daughter David and Julie Eisenhower and friend C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla.

They were flying together to Camp David, near Thurmont, Md., for a stay expected to last until Sunday. Daughter Tricia Nixon planned to join the party at the hideaway in the Caloctin Mountains.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler took pains to explain that Nixon had been working long hours during most of April on Southeast Asia problems and other matters and was settling aside some time to spend with his family.

majority party by adopting the views of extreme right wing or left wing groups.

"If we did that, we might as well turn the party over to the new left or the John Birch Society," he said.

Johnson said that if extreme views were adopted, the Democrats might be a minority party — "Or worse yet, several minority parties."

"I warn you there is real danger of that tonight," he said.

Churches Deplore Cambodia Decision

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Council of Churches, representing 30 Christian denominations, issued a statement Friday deploring President Nixon's decision to send troops into Cambodia.

"Military measures are self-defeating when political solutions are imperative," the statement said. "We oppose any escalation of military effort. We ask rather that the United States demonstrate its commitment to the U.N. Charter, more fundamental by seeking a wholly new approach to withdrawal and settlement by international arrangement."

provincial capital of Svay Rieng.

IT IS ONE of four task forces that launched an offensive into Cambodia Wednesday with American advisers and support from U.S. bombers, helicopters, gunships and artillery.

All told, more than 25,000 American and South Vietnamese troops and hundreds of tanks, armored personnel carriers, planes and helicopters are sweeping along a 200-mile stretch of eastern Cambodia.

In the Fishhook area operation, 20 U.S. helicopters were hit by enemy fire as they flew in American troops, and five were shot down, pilots reported.

By nightfall, the U.S. Command reported 194 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed, 151 by air and artillery strikes and 43 by American and South Vietnamese ground troops.

Grape Stake

Q. In 1966, I sold a crop of grapes to the Lockeford Winery in Lodi, Calif., and have yet not been paid for them. I understand the winery has changed ownership, and that this is part of the problem. Whom can I contact to find out about my money? J. B., Long Beach.

A. Charles Faber, who is handling financial affairs for the former owners of Lockeford Winery, said your sale records are in order, but payment for your grape crop will not be made until after the beverage made from the grapes has been sold. He added that your grapes went into a brandy that must age at least four more months before sale. When the sale is made, he said, you will be paid according to your agreement with the company. He is sending you a letter with this information for your files.

Indian Giving

Q. Can you give me some information on the Southwest Indian Foundation in Gallup, N.M.? It is supposedly a nonprofit organization to help American Indians. I recently sent them an $11 donation and received a small pin. The receipt they sent me stated that only $2 of the $11 I sent was tax deductible. Did only $2 go to help the Indians? V. D., Lakewood.

A. When you make a donation for which you receive something in return, the Internal Revenue Service will allow only a portion of the donation to be tax deductible, according to the Rev. Dunstan Schmidlin, founder and director of the foundation. He said an IRS representative established a fair amount that could be claimed as tax deductible on each item the foundation sells. The foundation is sponsored by the Roman Catholic Diocese of Gallup, and raises money for houses, roads and water projects for the Navajo Indians in the area. Since 1968 the foundation has worked in conjunction with the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the Office of Navajo Economic Opportunity and other government agencies to improve the Indians' living conditions.

CAMBODIAN ACTION

Headquarters said 108 persons were detained, though it was not clear whether these were enemy suspects or civilians.

clamp a vise on the enemy command's operation area on Cambodian soil roughly 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

IN SAIGON, the U.S. Command said early today 166 persons had been detained by the Allied forces. Field reports indicated the detainees were suspected North Vietnamese soldiers brought out of the Cambodian area under guard, many blindfolded with their hands tied. At least 300 civilians — women, children and old men — were gathered at landing zones and taken by helicopter into South Vietnam.

U.S. officers said observation and gunship helicopters had been given clearance to "fire on anything that moves" in an area extending about three miles north and west of the ground operations. The free-fire zone contains some villages.

Allied strategy is to clamp a vise on the enemy command's operation area on Cambodian soil roughly 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

HANOI'S response to the invasion could upset the timetable, seasoned military observers here said. Reliable intelligence sources said the North Vietnamese could dispatch two to three divisions of troops into the area within 12 hours.

The North Vietnamese 9th division has been sighted straddling the border west of the attack area. The Viet Cong 7th division, made up mostly of North Vietnamese troops is positioned just south of the invasion zone, inside South Vietnam and a third unidentified enemy division is reported moving down from the northeast, these sources said.

"They're definitely a threat," said one military intelligence source.

NIXON, LAWMAKERS

different drafts of the amendment are currently under consideration, and the matter will probably be discussed by the Foreign Relations Committee next week.

That committee did act Friday to report formally to the Senate the measure repealing the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, used by the Johnson Administration to justify dispatch of U.S. ground troops to Vietnam.

LAST YEAR Church and Cooper were successful in legislation barring the use of U.S. combat troops in Laos or Thailand.

"Too much blood has been lost, too much patience has gone unrewarded while the war continues to poison our whole society," Church told the Senate.

"Whether by negotiated compromise or by a phased, orderly but complete withdrawal, it is time to put an end to it," Church said. "If the executive branch will not take the initiative, then the Congress and the people must."

Fulbright said the last formal request of the committee he heads for a meeting with the chief executive was with President Woodrow Wilson.

"That was in 1919," said Sen. George D. Aiken, of Vermont, the committee's senior Republican, "and we felt a meeting with the President every 50 years was not unreasonable."

"The committee simply felt that this matter was of such grave importance we sought to seek a meeting with the President to discharge our own constitutional responsibilities," Fulbright said.

He said telegrams received by the committee Friday morning ran 15 to one against Nixon's actions and produced the greatest volume of wires received in so short a time in memory. The White House said phone calls it received strongly supported Nixon.

FULBRIGHT said the President's move was contrary to the spirit of the National Commitments resolution passed last year and emphasized: "I don't know of any legal authority for the President to take this action, not even as commander in chief does he have the right to engage in undeclared war in a neutral country."

"Apparently Cambodia is regarded not as foreign country but as no man's land — free for all," Aiken said.

"Too many people have presented the Cambodian situation as a 'golden opportunity' to save American lives and shorten the war," Mansfield said in a Senate speech. "The step up into Cambodia can do just the opposite."

"It may well lengthen the conflict, widen it into an Indochinese war, increase U.S. costs by billions and increase U.S. casualties which now number almost 50,000 dead..."

"There is nothing in past experience in Indochina to suggest that casualties can be reduced by enlarging the area of military operations."

Throughout the day of debate, Nixon supporters were not silent.

"The strident cooling of the antiwar doves that this is broadening of the war is pure bosh," said Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., "A nation at war must take all actions necessary to defeat the enemy."

"This military action is necessary to consolidate and complete the almost total destruction of the enemy's capability that has already taken place in most of southern Vietnam," said Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D.

"TO DO LESS than the President has done would be to destroy the credibility of the U.S. as the leader of the free world," said Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas.

"There is no question that his action raises

9,500 PEACEFUL; 500 VIOLENT FOR SEALE

Violence Ends May Day Rally

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Thousands of young people staged a peaceful May Day rally for Black Panther leader Bobby Seale Friday but four hours later a splinter group was dispersed by tear gas after throwing bottles at police.

The rally on New Haven Green drew a crowd of 10,000 — smaller than anticipated but still the largest ever held for the Black Panthers — and broke up an hour earlier than scheduled. Most of the throng went to the nearby Yale University campus for seminars, workshop sessions and dancing to rock bands.

HOWEVER, one group of about 500 returned to the southern edge of the rectangular green and began taunting two dozen riot clad police across the street.

After bottles were thrown, police moved across the street toward the crowd, firing at least six canisters of tear gas and "pepper gas" a smoke-like irritant. The crowd dispersed onto the green and regrouped again. Police formed two ranks on the street and held firm.

Several ranks of National Guard troops, carrying rifles with bayonets unsheathed, lined a street edging the campus. The guardsmen were among several thousand deployed throughout the city. Paratroopers and Marines were posted at two bases in New England outside Connecticut, ready to move in if necessary.

One black leader exhorted the splinter group to "please leave now. You are not helping us in our struggle. Violence does not help at all. You are not being manly or heroic or revolutionary."

A HANDFUL of demonstrators walked up close to the line of guardsmen and police — some out of curiosity, others to taunt. One youth was heard to yell, "This is a fascist country — there is no hope."

At the rally, participants cheered the speeches of their idols who included Abbie Hoffman and David Dellinger, two defendants in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial, French philosopher-dramatist Jean Genet, and David Hilliard, a top-level national Black Panther leader.

Nonviolence Urged at Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Student militants urged nonviolence Friday in the strike against Ohio State University after student leaders helped stop two days of disturbance that injured 150 persons.

Representatives of the militant strike coalition underscored the need to refrain from violence, but they added that picketing of eight major university buildings, begun Wednesday, will resume. Access to the buildings will not be impeded, leaders declared.

Michael White, a leader of the Afro-Am Society and a strike coordinator, told a student assembly that efforts are being made to persuade area labor unions to honor picket lines.

David Kettler, professor of political science, told the same gathering that efforts were under way by faculty organizations to promote meetings between dissident students and the university administration.

STUDENTS RAMPAGE

pher was hospitalized after he was maced.

The students chanted "if they invade Cambodia, we're going to invade College Park." Other shouts included "Seig Heil," "Get the pigs off the campus" and "Hell no, we won't go."

Students kept the major north-south highway closed for nearly two hours Friday afternoon and closed it sporadically early in the evening.

State police and other officials on the campus said they thought the violence could be controlled by state and local police without the guardsmen.

Crowds of students streamed off the campus into the downtown section of College Park and smashed store windows. Some looting was reported.

SOME 500 university of Cincinnati students staged a sit-down in front of the downtown post office in the Ohio River city. A student speaker exhorted them, "We must throw our bodies into the machine and grind it to a halt."

In Philadelphia, scores of Temple University students shouted antiwar epithets from the top of a National Guard tank which was temporarily disabled on Broad Street. More than 1,000 University of Pennsylvania students, shouting "Peace now" and "Stop the war," made a three-mile march to Independence Hall.

In Washington, the National Student Association issued a statement saying President Nixon should be impeached and the more militant Student Mobilization Committee called for "launching of immediate massive protests against this action."

The new surge of reaction against the war came as the President, chatting with Pentagon employees, bitterly attacked "those bums" among students who are "blowing up the campuses . . . burning the books." Nixon contrasted campus radicals to GIs fighting in Vietnam who, he said, are "the greatest."

Strikes were called at a number of universities, including Stanford and Princeton, and a "Strike Now" committee at Rutgers University called for a nationwide strike.

More than 2,000 students, faculty members and staff members at Stanford sent an open letter to the White House warning that the move into Cambodia could send campus violence "beyond control."

About 250 students held a peaceful sit-in at the administration building of San Jose State College. Student at Central Washington State College in Ellensburg burned Nixon in effigy.

In Seattle, dissidents stormed the Air Force ROTC annex at the University of Washington Friday, damaging windows, typewriters, projectors, filing cabinets and other items.

Chanting "off ROTC" the protesters attempted to set fire to the building during the later part of their demonstration, but a group of students extinguished the blaze. Several fights broke out.

New Mail Walkout Possible

Dissident Postal Workers Demand
Additional 8% Hike

WASHINGTON — A dissident group of the National Association of Letter Carriers voted Friday to resume postal strikes if Congress does not enact a promised additional 8 per cent pay raise by May 14.

The vote was taken at a meeting conducted by Gustave Johnson, New York letter carriers official who led the postal walkouts there several weeks ago.

The strikes were ended when postal unions and the Nixon administration negotiated a 6 per cent pay raise which was enacted by Congress. A promised additional 8 per cent is provided in a proposed postal reform bill still pending in Congress.

It was not immediately clear how many letter carriers were represented by the strike vote, but a spokesman for Johnson said it included representatives from New York, New Jersey, Ohio, California, Illinois, Iowa, New Hampshire, Kentucky, Virginia and other states.

"IT'S A STRIKE vote," said the spokesman.

He said the vote among officers of letter carrier units at the meeting was 24 strike votes, 24 votes of "present," and no votes against strike action.

Headquarters of the National Association of Letter Carriers deplored the action of the dissident groups, saying it "officially does not recognize this meeting."

The national secretary-treasurer, William T. Sullivan, told a reporter, "We are not striking and will not call a strike."

SULLIVAN, speaking in absence of the union's national president, James Rademacher, said the "mere thought of a strike was ridiculous and would jeopardize the outcome of a postal reform and wage hikes that was worked out after long negotiations with the government."

Johnson said the meeting of officials who voted to strike, represented about one-fourth of the nationwide total of 203,000 letter carriers.

"There will be no delivery of mail after May 14 unless President Nixon has signed a postal pay bill enacted by Congress," Johnson said.

He said the legislation has been moving at a snail-like pace and that "letter carriers from all over the nation feel they have been betrayed."

Nude Photos Get License Revoked

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The Portland city council refused to renew the business licenses of two book stores Thursday after viewing two magazines of colored photographs depicting nude men and women in a variety of sex acts.

Mayor Terry Schunk then apologized "to the taxpayers for having to spend $8 of their money to obtain the evidence."

Police Postpone Sick-Out Over Wage Parity in N.Y.

NEW YORK — Union representatives for city police voted Friday to postpone a scheduled sick-call job action indefinitely.

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association had threatened to begin the job action in a wage parity dispute at midnight Friday with as many as 80 per cent of the 25,000-member union calling in sick.

THE PBA's delegate assembly voted 200 to 130 for the postponement after President Edward J. Kiernan explained in a noisy two-hour meeting that the

HEROES WELCOMED IN CHICAGO

Apollo Astronauts Parade

CHICAGO (UPI) — Apollo 13 astronauts James A. Lovell and John L. Swigert, survivors of a buffeting in deep space, rode smilingly through a wind-blown ticker tape welcome Friday in the streets of Chicago's Loop.

Gusty winds carried great balls of cotton and tape aloft between skyscrapers and occasional light showers dampened the space heroes as they rode down Michigan Avenue and State Street and through the La Salle Street financial district.

THE RAIN apparently cut sharply into the size of the turnout but thousands of persons cheered the two astronauts as they were feted by city, state and national officials in Civic Center Plaza.

Lovell and Swigert addressed about 800 persons at a luncheon in a downtown hotel ballroom. Five NASA crewmembers were introduced along with a number of disabled Vietnam war veterans. The crowd gave them all a resounding, standing ovation.

The astronauts received their warmest — and loudest — welcome to the city when they took the stage at Orchestra Hall and admitted the welcome in the nation's second largest city because of a kidney infection suffered during the spaceship's harrowing emergency return to earth last month.

Fireboats spouted red, white and blue water and fireworks exploded as the motorcade crossed the Chicago River into the Loop area. Clumps of school children, Loop office workers and suburban housewives waved flags and shouted to the astronauts along State Street. The blustery winds made conversation between the crowds and the spacemen all but impossible.

The astronauts narrated a sound color film entitled "Apollo 13 Highlights, A Quick Look." The youthful audience appeared most impressed with the take-off, which, the astronauts said, required 7.5 million pounds of thrust and 15 tons of fuel per second.

'Chicago 7' Acquittal Bid Studied

CHICAGO (UPI) — U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman Friday took under advisement a motion by "Chicago Seven" defense lawyers requesting that the five convicted defendants in the riot trial be acquitted on the basis of published reports by one of the jurors.

William M. Kunstler and Leonard I. Weinglass, the defense lawyers, and Assistant U.S. Atty. Richard G. Schultz were each given 15 minutes for oral arguments.

The five, David T. Dellinger, Abbott (Abbie) Hoffman, Jerry Rubin, Rennie (Rennie) Davis and Thomas Hayden, were found guilty in February of crossing state lines to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic convention.

Two others, Lee Weiner and John Froines, were acquitted of the charge.

Kunstler based his motion on published reports by Miss Kay Richards, 23, who said the jury deliberated outside the courtroom without all exhibits and that the verdict was a compromise.

Recovery Crews to Seek 76 Bodies in Sealed Mine

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Two recovery crews are scheduled to break the concrete-block seal on Mod's Run in the Mountaineer No. 9 mine here Monday morning and investigate roof and water conditions in the tunnel leading to the bodies of 76 miners.

The move was expected to be made this week, but a low atmospheric ceiling and a falling barometer made it unwise to enter the methane-filled section, Vice President Pete Ferretti of Consolidation Coal Co. said Friday.

The "short, exploratory" trip would be better made under improved weather conditions, Ferretti said.

The reconnaissance mission into the sealed-off section will be less than a 60-minute trip, limited by the amount of oxygen the workmen can carry. Each crew will move in an arc about 1,000 feet beyond the seals, then retrace its route back to the Mod's Run seal.

Information collected by the crews will be studied by officials of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, the West Virginia Department of Mines, Consolidation Coal Co. and the United Mine Workers of America.

The next step would be decided on the basis of the information the recovery crews collect, Ferretti said.

The 76 bodies lie in a widely scattered section beyond Mod's Run in the huge mine hit by explosions and fire in November 1968. Recovery crews came upon two bodies in a tunnel about two weeks after the operation began last September.

NBC Strike Postponed

WASHINGTON — The AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians agreed Friday to the request of federal mediators to postpone a strike against National Broadcasting Co. in six cities.

"Please remain on your job until you hear further from this committee," the union negotiating committee said in telegrams to 1,300 employees in New York City, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Union members earlier voted down a proposed contract that would have raised pay $80 per week and shortened the work week.

Short Circuit Probably Caused Apollo Blast

By EDWARD K. DELONG
UPI Space Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston—A short circuit in an oxygen tank probably caused a fire that made the tank explode 205,000 miles deep in space and forced Apollo 13's astronauts to fight for their lives to get home, the deputy chief of the Space Agency said Friday.

The explosion aborted America's third moon landing venture and forced astronauts James A. Lovell, Fred W. Haise and John L. Swigert to battle 87 hours on their harrowing trip back to earth.

George M. Low, the deputy space agency chief, met through most of the day with the official explosion review board before telling newsmen what has been learned to date in an intensive investigation of the accident.

He said the board has isolated the problem almost definitely to a short circuit.

"From what I heard today and from what I've been told previously, I'm quite confident we will be able to bound the problem, that we will be able to determine its limits and that we will find corrective action that will encompass all possibilities," Low said.

IF THE SHORT circuit and combustion theory proves true, it will be the second time these events have struck the Apollo program. A short circuit in the Apollo 1 command ship on a launch pad at Cape Kennedy sparked a fire in the pure oxygen environment of the cabin Jan. 27, 1967, killing three astronauts.

Low said many changes are being discussed to prevent explosions on future moon flights and to make the Apollo spacecraft safer. He said the board expects to determine by June what changes are necessary and exactly what caused Apollo 13's near tragedy.

"Both the board and the project (Apollo program) people told me today that the most probable sequence of events on Apollo 13 is the following," Low said.

"First, a short circuit occurred in oxygen tank No. 2. This short circuit, most probably, caused combustion in the tank. This in turn caused the pressure and temperature in the tank to increase. The tank then ruptured."

Low said the explosive rupture of the high-pressure oxygen sphere, 26 inches in diameter, released enough gas into equipment bay No. 4 of the drum-shaped Apollo command ship's service module to blow a 5.6-by-13-foot panel off the outside of the craft.

THE INCH-THICK panel, he said, probably spun back into the clover-shaped main radio antenna of Apollo 13, causing a 1.5 second loss of communication with earth experienced moments after the explosion.

Low said no definite changes in the Apollo spacecraft have been determined but he listed five being considered.

They are permanent removal of the fan, changing heater wiring and location so all wires could be run outside the oxygen tank and metal ducts, removing aluminum from the quantity probe in the tank, elimination of flexible wiring leading to the probe and removal of all nonmetallic elements from inside the tank.

He said it is impossible to predict what changes might be adopted or whether they would delay the next moon landing flight, Apollo 14, originally scheduled for launch Oct. 1.

"I think the important thing here is to fix what was wrong," Low said.

He said the main source of information about the explosion is telemetry data radioed from Apollo 13 to earth by thousands of instruments on the craft. He called this "excellent."

A secondary, but so far "inconclusive," source of information is pictures the astronauts shot after they jettisoned the service module just before re-entry to earth's atmosphere.

Low said it is impossible to tell from the pictures whether oxygen tank No. 2 was completely demolished.

Engineers are studying ways to best recreate the explosion in a vacuum chamber as part of tests to determine what happened, Low said.

"There is a major effort underway," he said. "I would estimate 200 to 300 people are working on the investigation."

"It will take a combination of all the data analysis, all the testing and possibly the photography to determine definitely the cause or causes of what happened on Apollo 13."

State Gets Tough on Water Spoilers

By GIL BAILEY
Contributing Editor

The tough, new policy of the State Water Resources Control Board in regard to water pollution has been spelled out by Kerry W. Mulligan, chairman of that board.

"Every activity of man, every use he makes of water, degrades the quality for subsequent use," said Mulligan in a recent speech.

He called the recently passed Porter-Cologne Act the nation's toughest water pollution control law.

"The basic premise of the act is that no one has a right to pollute or to discharge waste into the waters of the state nor to continue such a discharge once commenced. Thus, waste discharges are privileges, not rights, and the state has a primary responsibility to regulate such waste discharges," Mulligan explained.

As a result more than 28 cease and desist orders have been issued by the state board and the nine regional boards it controls since Jan. 1.

Sixteen of these 28 orders have contained prohibitions of new connections to sewers, in effect block-be directed to us but to the local agency responsible for conditions that brought about such actions," Mulligan added.

"The cases we did select

ing new construction in areas including most of Mulligan noted.

"We have been both loudly applauded and harshly condemned," he added.

"Complaints should not were chronic cases, as was the city of San Francisco which had been in violation of waste discharge requirements for 20 years," Mulligan explained.

Mulligan estimated that it will take $1.123 billion to construct the sewer treatment facilities needed in California to protect the quality of its waters.

"As municipal, industrial and agricultural waste loads increase, a higher degree of treatment will be needed to protect water quality," he said. "And as the demand for more water increases, waste water reclamation and reuse will be essential."

Mulligan and his board have control over all the state's waters. They can take court action which could result in a city being finned up to $6,000 per day, they can overrule regional boards, they can stop pumping of groundwater supplies, and they can order a polluter to clean up at his own expense his pollution.

Mulligan had a strong answer as to why pollution continues:

"I say it is because of man's past indifference, his reluctance to spend the necessary money to prevent and control water pollution, and to man's ignorance of the consequences."

U.S. Identifies 22 Pollution-Causing Detergents

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government Friday identified 22 laundry and dishwashing products which it said contain pollution-causing phosphates and urged their manufacturers to promptly reduce or eliminate the phosphate content.

Topping the list of detergents in percentage of phosphates were the two leading so-called presoak products, Biz with 73.9 per cent and Axion with 63.2 per cent.

The product showing the lowest phosphate content — 14.2 per cent — was Wisk, which also was the only liquid detergent tested.

Officials said the 22 products were selected for testing as a representative sample of the laundry and dishwashing products on the market, and that there was no indication that the other products not tested did not also contain high percentages of phosphates.

The Interior Department said tests with each of the 22 detergents were conducted at five government and two private laboratories for its Federal Water Quality Administration, headed by Commissioner David D. Dominick.

"Phosphorus is a pollution problem because it speeds the growth of aquatic vegetation, which causes oxygen deficiencies and greatly accelerates the natural aging process of lakes," Dominick said.

"It is the FWQA's position that there be a reduction of phosphate levels in detergent formulations to minimum practical levels immediately and the complete replacement of phosphorus compounds in detergents with less environmentally harmful substitutes as soon as possible."

Dominick said the test results could not be compared directly to conflicting findings published by other agencies since different methods were used to express the numerical results.

Detergents with more than 50 per cent phosphate content were Salvo, with 56.6 per cent, and two automatic dishwasher products—Cascade at 54.5 per cent and All with 54 per cent.

The other laundry products tested and their percentage of phosphates were: Tide, 49.8; Drive, 47.4; Oxydol, 46.6; BMLD, 45.4; Cold Water All, 45.4; Ajax Laundry, 44.6; Cold Power, 44.6; Punch, 44.2; Dreft, 41.9; Gain, 39.5; Duz, 38.3; Bonus, 37.5; Breeze, 37.2; Cheer, 36.3; Fab, 34.8.

Two other automatic dishwasher detergents tested were Calgonite, with 49.4 per cent, and Electrosolo, with 34.8 per cent.

Florida Oil Slick Baffles Officials

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Pollution deposits along the Gulf Coast of Florida and Alabama are baffling federal water pollution investigators. They say the deposits contain some oil, but also involved is another substance not yet identified.

The pollution was first reported April 27, and some said they believe it to be the remains of two oil spills off the Louisiana coast which created two huge slicks, one 13 miles long, and another six miles.

HOWEVER, John R. Thoman, regional director of the Water Pollution Control Administration, said this is doubtful. But he said tests are being run on oil samples taken from the polluted water at the agency's laboratory at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Jim Finger, chief of the Southeastern Water Laboratory's Analytical Services Section in Athens, said he would begin tests on samples today. He said analysis would take several days and the final report would take about two weeks to complete.

"We have oil from the water and the beaches and oil from suspect sources," Finger said.

"We hope to compare the samples in an effort to determine the source of the pollution."

Thoman reported Friday that an investigator on the scene said there were "huge dark clouds of something foreign to these waters."

BUT BY Thursday these "clouds" had disappeared and the investigator, Al Smith, said he was unable to obtain sufficient amounts of the material to identify it.

"We are still trying to determine if, in fact, there is oil in the water in any quantity," Smith said in his report to Thoman. "All we have been able to establish is that small droplets of oil about the size of a quarter and smaller in a sparse beadlike fashion are along the beaches. There appears to be three deposits in these strings of oil."

"FROM THE air, there are huge dark clouds of something foreign to these waters. It is this that is causing the confusion. We have not been able to determine that these dark clouds are, in fact, oil."

"Sampling these dark clouds reveals tiny microscopic specks of something black in places, but in some places the sample is crystal clear. We have not been able to find enough free oil in the water to get samples for analysis."

Prosecutor of Chicago 7 Urges Equal Enforcement

Associated Press

Americans observed Law Day Friday with sober speeches on the need to retain respect for the courts and law enforcement.

U.S. Attorney Thomas A. Foran, the prosecutor of the Chicago 7, stressed "the necessity of enforcing the law across the board."

Foran, who spoke at a dinner of the Junior Bar Association of the Chicago-Kent College of Law, said, "Some young people in this country feel the law is selectively enforced. I think law enforcement should go into every area."

"SOME PEOPLE protest against civil disobedience or riots in the street but they will not comply with laws concerning price-fixing, discriminatory employment, income tax fraud, public corruption, pollution."

"The real obligation of government is to demonstrate that while it will not put up with violent protest, it will also use all its power to enforce the laws."

In Philadelphia, the city Bar Association presented "Concerned Citizens" awards to 10 persons who helped police apprehend criminals.

6 Hurt in Bronx Theater Blasts

NEW YORK (U) — Bomb explosions rocked two Bronx movie theaters only minutes apart Friday night injuring at least six persons, police reported.

Both theaters were evacuated.

Mitchell Defends High Court Against Critics

WASHINGTON (U) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell called Friday for an end to "irresponsible and malicious criticism" of the Supreme Court.

Without citing specific instances, Mitchell said in a Law Day address that criticism of the court has reached unparalleled proportions and threatens to undermine the entire judicial system.

He told the District of Columbia Bar Association he felt compelled to speak out because of "recent events" — even though, he said, some might think he was "overstepping the bounds of propriety" in doing so.

Noting the high court has been the target of criticism since the founding days of the Republic, he suggested, however, that today's attacks are much more serious.

IN THE PAST, he said, the controversies centered on single issues and stemmed from a particular institution such as Congress or a state government.

"But today, the criticism appears to be spread to many sections of the country, to many governmental institutions and to many different segments of the population," he said.

"There is regional criticism stemming from the reapportionment cases. There is urban criticism in our crime-ridden cities from the criminal justice cases. There is religious criticism from the school prayer cases and there is broad disagreement over the obscenity cases."

He added: "It seems to me that much of the popular dissatisfaction is ill-founded or maliciously motivated and that more people, especially lawyers, should point this out."

DEFENDING the court's controversial decisions on segregation, rights of criminal defendants, obscenity and school prayers, Mitchell said: "These cases stand for principles of our society — principles of equal protection, of the right of counsel and of freedom of speech and religion."

Antiwar demonstrators, carrying signs which read "Ditch the Mitch" and "Cambodia-Nixon's War," paraded outside the hotel where Mitchell gave his speech.

ROMAN CATHOLICS LIKELY TO JOIN WORLD COUNCIL

in Religion Writer

BUCK HILLS FALLS, Pa. — A Roman Catholic leader foresees a world wide synod representing all Christian denominations as necessary to draw them into common mission, renewal and ultimate reunion.

That possibility was cited at an ecumenical meeting along with disclosure that a study report is due soon on means by which Roman Catholicism might become a part of the World Council of Churches.

Rev. Thomas Stransky, for eight years a member of the Vatican's Administrative Curia, said the slowness of deliberation on the matter shows the significance that Roman Catholicism sees in such a step.

The council is a cooperative body of 230 Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Anglican denominations, with about 350 million members.

At the annual meeting of its U.S. conference here, it was brought out Thursday night that results of a study on how Roman Catholicism might affiliate with the world body will be ready for a meeting in Naples of a Council-Vatican joint working group May 25.

Father Stransky, formerly an official of the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat and newly elected to head the American Paulist Fathers, called the council a foremost instrument of the ecumenical movement.

He said the movement could be crippled by the development of a parallel "non-Roman Catholic type of ecumenism" within the council and of a "Roman Catholic ecumenism outside it."

BRIEFLY...

Old Conflict 'Artificial Hang Up'? Local Woman vs. Catholic Bishops

By LES RODNEY

One of Billy Graham's key aides, Rev. Dr. Leighton Ford of Montreal, N.C., had some strong things to say on the old issue of "evangelism vs. social action" last week when he spoke at the annual meeting of the U.S. Conference for the World Council of Churches, at Buck Hills Falls, Pa.

Ford, a leader in the (Southern) Presbyterian Church U.S., and a key figure at last year's Congress on Evangelism in Minneapolis, said the churches need to "get away from this unbiblical division between word and deed, to avoid the artificial hang-up between personal evangelism and social concern."

Effective witness, he said, has three keys: proclamation, or telling the story about God's activity in Jesus; presence, or being in the world as its salt and light; power, or experiencing the Holy Spirit.

Trouble is, Dr. Ford said, that various forces in the church tend to push just one of the three as central. "The truth is that all three are right. Wherever the church is really moving today it is because the living Christ has taught his people that all three keys must be turned."

Presence alone, letting our lives speak, won't do the trick, he held. "A picture may be worth a thousand words, but it takes words to say that. It takes words to tell about the Word of life." This could be considered as Ford's admonition to some who concern themselves with the world, but neglect the evangelistic message.

Then, this time obviously addressing evangelicals concerned with the Word but aloof from the world's agonies, he said that neither will proclamations, words alone, suffice. The words must come, as with Jesus, from one "found in the form of a servant." Ford agreed with theologians who say "we must earn the right to speak by fleshing out the Gospel in genuine love, in real concern for justice."

"Unless we demonstrate salvation in such matters as race," the evangelist said, "then the words are only sounding brass and tinkling cymbals."

On the third "key," the need for the power that infused the early Christians, he saw the growth of the Pentecostal movement on the world scene as a result of their attention to a more spontaneous receptivity toward this spirit.

Ford has moved well past the Graham movement itself in articulating what he sees as the need for corrections in the course of evangelism, better balance in a world that does not stand pat. At Minneapolis, he made a striking scriptural plea for Christian understanding of the roots of Negro problems (as opposed to only reacting to militant excesses.)

Whether or not Ford "has a better idea," he is certainly emerging as someone on the religion scene who commands some attention. What Long Beach church, or group of churches, will be the first to invite him out here to stir some thinking — and arguments?

IN THESE days of waste, it is somehow nice to know, even though not very important in the larger scheme of things, that during the demolition of First Methodist Church's old sanctuary, maximum salvage of lumber and materials has been scheduled by the subcontractor, who will arrange for its transportation and re-use in a poor community in Mexico where such materials are desperately scarce.

THE PHILADELPHIAN Seventh-day Adventist Church's Pathfinders, a scouting group, has presented two volumes of "The Bible Story" to the Brot-

Harte branch library. The books contain colorfully illustrated Bible stories designed to capture the attention of the young reader. Children of the church, a predominantly black congregation were along to make the presentation to librarian Harriet Lam-pert.

ONE OF THE steadily growing arms of the local Council of Churches is its Church Athletic Assn., now offering year round activities. Recently concluded was the successful basketball season with 30 church teams involved. Co-ed volleyball games begin Tuesday night in the First Baptist Gym, 10th and Pine, and softball leagues get under way May 9 in Long Beach, Lakewood and Bellflower. Six pitch games are also scheduled for the, er, more mature churchmen, on Saturday afternoons and evenings, in several locations. Any church groups can get in on this good, competitive fun. Call the Council office for info.

AN ANAHEIM woman, Mrs. Paul Leininger, a leader of the National Federation of Laymen, a conservative Roman Catholic organization of 15,000 members, says the group has decided to adopt a boycott against contributions to the church in answer to some decisions made by the National Conference of Bishops at their San Francisco meeting. She says the lay group bitterly opposes announcement of a $50 million crusade to aid black and white poor through special Thanksgiving offerings. "We are concerned for the poor," Mrs. Leininger explains, "but we are sick and tired of these programs which ignore spiritual values."

She terms "very weak and disappointing," the bishops' statement of opposition to the liberalizing of abortion laws, and especially denounced the move toward removing the social stigma attached to births out of wedlock.

At Frisco, Bishop Raymond J. Gallagher said the aim was to foster "Christian acceptance and understanding" of these unfortunates, and implied a possible modification of a long standing church canon which requires that the fact of a child's illegitimacy be noted on his baptismal register.

Says Mrs. Leininger, "The situation has already reached the point where there is no shame about it."

"FEW ISSUES of deeper moral or religious significance exist today than those related to a peaceful settlement of the middle-east conflict," says Rev. Dr. R. Eugene Crow, editor of the American Baptist, in an editorial in the April issue.

Saying he was "appalled" by Arab terrorist attacks upon planes and tourist groups, which have nothing to do with the conflict, Crow makes this point:

"Arguments about the history of modern Israel are of little meaning at this point in time. Whatever the merits of the founding of the Israeli state in the Middle East, it now exists.

"The great issue is that of Israel's right to continue to exist as a nation. I believe that it does for these reasons:

"1. It provides one of the most important earthly basis of security for one of who have endured near genocide in our time.

"2. The alternatives are unthinkable, for if Israel were to cease to exist as a nation 3,000,000 people would either be cast homeless upon an alien world or would be slaughtered.

"The consciences of men of good will could not endure either one of these alternatives. It is my conviction that this is the time for each of us to throw his influence upon the fundamental right of the people of Israel to exist as a nation.

western society is brought to bear upon the Arab world to observe a cease fire and to negotiate border disputes, not only Israel will suffer, but the entire world could be dragged into the suicide of humanity in World War III."

This is perhaps the strongest pro-Israel editorial to appear in the publication of any of the American "mainline" Protestant organizations, which have tended to stress rights and wrongs on both sides, though agreeing on Israel's right to existence.

MOTTELL'S MORTUARY

Mottell's offers distinction without extravagance

To serve the people of Long Beach and vicinity is a privilege ... but to serve as the acknowledged leader is an honor. Each year for the past 61 years, Mottell's Mortuary has followed a single ideal ... to serve with dignity, at economical costs. Our devotion to this ideal has earned your esteem over the years, and we are truly grateful.

Mottell's personnel are dedicated to serve you in the difficult hours of bereavement, and trained to follow with absolute fidelity the rituals of every denominational faith or fraternal group.

THEOLOGIAN SAYS REAL REBELS NIXED PERMISSIVENESS

Sex Libertines Never History's Successful Shakers and Movers

AP Religion Writer

Advocates of radical change whose battle against "the system" includes attacks on age-old sexual standards are not of the same sturdy mettle that characterized genuine revolutionaries of history.

That's the conclusion of Dr. Vernard Eller, professor of religion at La Verne College, a Church of the Brethren institution (in the San Gabriel Valley). Consequently, he adds, today's convention-defiers offer "little promise for the future."

HE SAYS that "some of the most successful social revolutionaries" of the past, who sought justice and righteousness, also demanded adherence to strict sexual codes.

But the "libertine revolutionaries," belittling sex disciplines, floundered, he notes, accomplishing little. "They are found today only, as footnotes in the dusty history books."

He sees a parallel between them and some modern youths who, in challenging social blights such as war, poverty and racism, also assail standards of sexual restraint as among the oppressions to be displaced.

Their "revolution is on very shaky ground, lacks power at the core," he writes in the Christian Century.

To back his case, he cites the "hard-nosed view" against sexual permissiveness characteristic not only of the colonial New England Puritans in defying the British establishment but of many other powerful reform movements.

THESE, HE said, included the 16th century Protestant reformers John Knox in Scotland, John Calvin in Geneva, the radical Anabaptist peasant uprisings in northern Europe, and the grandfather of all puritanism, Old Testament monotheism.

"Each of these groups represented not the cultural establishment but the revolution," he says. And each shared a common attitude—"what we have called a hard-nosed view regarding sexual permissiveness."

To the list might be added the strong, religious-moral orientation of the American revolutionary leaders, of Gandhi's followers in resisting colonial rule in India, of the early Christians in their endurance against persecutions of a licentious, declining ancient Roman Empire.

Dr. Eller, citing the Reformation period revolts and the ancient Hebrew struggle against the fertility cult of Baalism, said each resisted governmental intimidation and control, each established some form of participatory democracy and prevented wide gaps of economic and class distinction.

"Nowhere else can there be found better models of what the contemporary revolution aspires to," he says. And "the sexual puritanism of all these groups was an integral part of their respective revolutions."

"NONE OF it was 'Victorianism,' none of it a sophisticated, prissy, effete disdain of sexuality. Quite the contrary, all of these puritan movements were marked by a certain earthiness and intimacy with life."

"These peoples were tough-gutted as well as hard-nosed; they were not celibates; they had no illusions or hangups about the reality and character of sex. Their puritanical posture was motivated not out of fear or delicacy but precisely out of respect and honor for the power of sex."

Parenthetically, he says, this is an attitude which Playboy magazine and the theatrical show, "Oh! Calcutta!" with their downgrading of sex as mere pastime, do not comprehend.

THE TRIVIALIZING

view of sex, he notes, is similar to that of the modern young revolutionaries who say simplistically that sex is good without qualification or condition.

"The puritan revolutionaries were more discriminating," he says, adding that they realized "sex is like fire."

"Harnessed, disciplined, bent to humane ends as is controlled combustion in the gasoline engine, sex is indeed a very great good, capable of serving even greater goods than the present generation has dreamed possible," he says.

"However, if allowed to simply to run wild, sex can be a forest fire, a most destructive—and an antirevolutionary force."

He says the Old Testament prophets knew "all about the modern brand of sexual freedom" which was represented by Baalism, whose priests staged "celebrations of life" like some rock festivals and similar to what some

Presbyterian Men in Arrowhead Meet

Laymen and their pastors from 265 Southland churches will gather Friday and Saturday (May 8-9) at Arrowhead Springs Hotel, near San Bernardino, for the 1970 annual meeting of United Presbyterian Men.

More than 400 churchmen are expected to attend, with plans calling for the group to be divided equally, insofar as practical, between men under 25 years of age and those over that age.

Co-chairmen for the conference, appropriately, are Charles M. Liddell (under 25), a student at Cal State Fullerton, and Erwin G. Somogyi (over 25), a student at Cal State Fullerton business man engaged in educational research.

churches now consider "worship."

"CANAANITE Baalism broke down Israel's puritanical hangups and introduced Israel's government, but it 'also introduced Israel's government's exploitation of the poor, its social reactionism, its graft, its corruption . . .

"It was Baalism—beautiful swinging Baalism—that broke the back of revolutionary Yahwism."

But the puritan prophetic tradition, like the later strong revolutionary movements, he says, proved stronger in the long run and prevailed.

REV. OSTERMANN

Greet Associate Pastor at First Baptist

First Baptist Church has welcomed Rev. Jack Ostermann as associate pastor and the newcomer to Long Beach will preach his first sermon Sunday.

Rev. Ostermann, 42, will assist the pastor, Rev. Dr. Frank M. Kepner, at the busy church at Tenth and Pine.

He comes from the position of associate pastor for the past 15 years at Calvary Bible Church of Burbank. Rev. Ostermann assisted in founding the church in 1954 with Rev. Dr. Jack MacArthur, noted evangelist. From a start of 203 members, it has grown to an active membership of more than 1,000, with a Sunday school the same size.

Born in Wisconsin, Ostermann was brought to Southern California as a child, and attended Glendale and Los Angeles City colleges, Biola and California Baptist Theological Seminary. He served as a traveling evangelist and song leader, until pastored at several Southland churches led him into association with Dr. MacArthur.

He will reside in Long Beach with his wife, Marilyn and three children, John, 16, Lynne, 14, and James, 12.

'RECONCILIATION' MEET King's Father to Address Area Baptists

Black and white Baptist pastors and ministers of Los Angeles County will meet Tuesday in what is termed "an adventure in reconciliation" by Rev. O. C. Jones, executive director of Mutual Assistance Team Endeavors (MATE).

"Constructive confrontation and dialogue is the purpose," he said.

Rev. Jones, who moved to the newly created post last year from the pastorate of a Long Beach American Baptist church, said the event will begin at 9:30 a.m. in McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, 802 E. 46th St., Los Angeles, concluding with lunch, and that the program is open to all interested churchmen.

Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., father of the slain civil rights leader and Baptist minister, will make remarks on "Reconciliation" during the luncheon. He is visiting from Atlanta.

Hosted by the Los Angeles Baptist Ministers Fellowship, the meeting will feature in dialogue Dr. Elliott J. Mason of Trinity Baptist of Los Angeles, and Dr. William Progger, of First Baptist of South Gate. Other guests for the day include Judge Albert D. Matthews of Compton Municipal Court; Dr. Horace N. Mays, head of the Los Angeles Council of Churches; Dr. A. George Downing, leader of the Southern California Baptist Convention; Dr. Arnold S. Boal, executive of the Baptist City Mission Society, and William Elkins, project director of Teen Post.

ALC Lutherans Off to Fresno

Three pastors and three lay delegates will represent St. Timothy Lutheran Church, Lakewood, at the 10th annual convention of the South Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church, Tuesday through Friday in Fresno.

The convention brings together 700 lay and clergy delegates from 295 congregations in six western states, including Hawaii, and serves to air policies, review programs, approve proposals and elect officers for the District. President of the 175,000 member district is Rev. Dr. Gayler Falde.

Crises and issues confronting the church in the city, among migrant workers and other concerns of the day will be discussed in small groups.

FROM THE PULPIT

Who is this Christ we preach?
"He walked like man,
He talked like God.
His words were oracles,
His works were miracles.
Of God the true expression,
Of man the finest specimen.
Full of humanity,
Crowned with deity.
Without taint of iniquity
Or trace of infirmity."

Two few people believe that God knows, that He cares, or that He will help. This is not a religion with which we are dealing. It is a PERSON of POWER that may know.
There is POWER in a PERSON that, when experienced, will straighten us out on all ideologies and philosophies. All religions are in vain without HIM. He saves, He satisfies, He sustains, and He changes our lives.
To go to church is sometimes a chore, a boring experience, uneventful and unprofitable. But to meet HIM, to know His power, and to experience the change that this meeting brings is life's most thrilling moment.

CHURCH CHILDREN PRESENT BIBLE STORIES TO LIBRARY
Bret Harter Librarian Accepts Gift (See "Briefly")

Service to Open L.B.'s 1st Jewish Cemetery

Long Beach's first Jewish cemetery, located in Sunnyside Cemetery, 4725 Cherry Ave., will be consecrated Sunday, 11 a.m.

The religious service will be conducted by Rabbis Sidney Guthman, Wolli Kaelter, Bert Klein and Yosef Miller, members of the organizing committee. They will be assisted by Cantors Eli Kagan and David Kane. Other members of the committee are Sol Frankel and Marvin Lemmerman of the Jewish Community Federation.

Cecil Bryan, president of Sunnyside Mausoleum Corporation, will make the presentation of the site to the Jewish community. Judge Charles S. Litwin, president of the Federation, will accept for the Jewish community, and Rabbi Miller, president of the Harbor Board of Rabbis, will accept on behalf of the rabbis.

"The community is cordially invited to participate in this service of consecration," said Rabbi Max H. Kert, director of the Glashand-Willen Long Beach Mortuary and chairman of the consecration committee. "As we gather on this hallowed ground, in the presence of eternity, may all men realize that they are indeed brothers."

Goodwill's Brotherly Love Hailed

In 361 A. D. Julian the Apostate wrote, "Now we see what makes these Christians such powerful enemies. It is the brotherly love they manifest toward the sick and the poor."

About 145 Long Beach area churches will join Sunday in saluting one aspect of this expression of love. By pulpit announcement, distribution of pamphlets or articles in their parish papers they will commend the Goodwill Industries for its work-therapy programs for handicapped people.

The pamphlet being distributed is entitled "Rehabilitation Through Work-Therapy." It tells the story of Francisco Flores, California Goodwill Worker of the Year, who works for Goodwill in Long Beach. It also points out the connection between Goodwill and the churches.

The average week finds over 260 people at work at the Goodwill plant in Long Beach. Over 85 per cent of these are handicapped in some way. Last year they received over $600,000 in wages in addition to trade training, work adjustment training and evaluation services.

BOOKS Ecclesiastical Terms Told

A Dictionary of Ecclesiastical Terms. By John Skelton Bumpus. Gale, $8.50.

The 10 days after the Ascension are sometimes called Expectation Week "because they commemorate that anxious period during which the Apostles tarried at Jerusalem; in earnest expectation of the promised gift of the Comforter."

Squinch? The architectural term for a small arch or projecting course of stone formed across the angles of towers, etc., in Gothic architecture, to support the alternate sides of octagonal spires above.

Eagle? A common form of the lectern from which the lessons are read in churches and cathedrals.

This dictionary is a treasury of hours to be spent pleasantly or profitably, for churchman, student, layman alike.—N.

CONFIDENT LIVING

Sound Majority of Young People

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One thing the younger "mod" generation has been accused of so often is lack of responsibility. The older folk seem to think that youth wants nothing but freedom. And freedom to those older people means the license to do anything the kids choose to do.

Now I see a lot of the youth today and I doubt the validity of that opinion. I feel that the majority of young people feel a serious sense of responsibility today. As a matter of fact, I think they yearn for responsibility. They seek it out. You can see this on our college campuses. You can see it in our young newlyweds. The vast majority of them want to help society, not tear it down.

Of course, there is a small group of young people that give their generation a bad name by trying to right wrongs the wrong way. They seem to feel that they can change things by tearing down the entire culture of thousands of years and destroying it in order to replace it with a vague new society that they haven't even figured out yet.

BUT THEY are a small minority of the whole. When you consider the large headlines in our newspapers today about drug addiction and the so-called sexual freedom just remember the far greater number of young people who want to contribute to society and make it work. The numbers are all on the side of the positive thinkers.

A headline is made by a few hundred people. The majority, those young people who do not disobey or try to illegally change our laws, are by far the most powerful force in society. But unhappily good deeds seldom make headlines. And maybe that in itself is encouraging. For if the good got headline attention it would mean it is a departure from the usual.

Just consider one problem, the increasing filth of our environment. Every day there seems to be another story about more fish being killed, or another oil slick poisoning our oceans and our beaches. And here's a good example of what the positive thinkers in our younger generation are doing. All over the country young people are banding together and organizing groups to stop pollution in their own communities. On college campuses throughout the country students are beginning to take positive steps to stop this threat to our very survival.

Of course, the government is doing all it can to end contamination of natural resources and save our environment. Ordinary people are beginning to take responsibility toward ending the poisoning of the atmosphere. But more and more we are beginning to hear about the genuine concern, the action of our younger generation in stopping this scourge.

Certainly our young people today are looking for causes to fight for. But haven't young people always done that? If it hadn't been for Sam Adams and his group of youthful followers, the Sons of Liberty, the cause of our freedom and independence might never have gotten off the ground. And today young people are taking up, among other problems, the cause of a cleaner environment. They may very well be the ones to put a stop to this blight and destruction once and for all.

NEXT TIME you hear someone knocking the younger generation, think about that great silent majority of exciting, positive and wholesome young people this generation represents. For every single drug user, there are hundreds of thousands of others who do not bother with narcotics and who are acting to improve this world of ours in a constructive manner.

CHURCH HUMOR

GOINGS ON

Westside Church of the Nazarene, 2901 Santa Fe Ave., will resound Sunday night to the call of the trumpeters who were official heralds of the Rose Parade for 17 years. They are "The Emissaries," twin brothers Troy and Cal McLane on trumpet, and John Schlenz on trombone. Along with Rev. Lowell Williamson, back from 10 years in Taiwan, they have traveled throughout the continent with music and testimony. Starts 7 p.m. . . . The choirs of Bethany Lutheran, 4644 Clark Ave., Lakewood, will present "The Church Year in Music" Sunday, 7:30 p.m. at their annual spring concert. Featured will be sacred choral works from each period of the liturgical season . . .

"The Many Splendored Sounds," a concert featuring the Sanctuary Choir, folk groups, the Kings James Version, the Satisfied Mind and soloists, will be presented Sunday, 6:30 in Lakewood First Baptist, 5336 Arbor Road, first of a series of May-June musical events. Audience will be given the opportunity to record its preferences . . . Ladd Thomas, concert organist who will be featured soloist at the Bach Festival in Carmel this summer, will present a dedication recital on the new $3 rank Schlicker Pipe Organ of First Baptist of Santa Ana, 1010 W. 17th St., Sunday, 4 p.m. There is a $2 donation.

Candidates Get Heavy UROC Aid

Conservative GOP
Group Seeks Key Seats in Assembly

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The chairman of the United Republicans of California said Friday the organization already has poured $30,000 into races it considers vital to continued GOP control of the Legislature.

Michael Van Horn said the funds were put into the primary campaigns as part of the "UROC plan" for ensuring Republicans are in charge when the Legislature is reapportioned next year.

"We have put a considerable amount of money in certain districts in the primaries — close to $30,000," said Van Horn.

He did not identify the districts, but another source did.

The four target districts of the conservative organization now are held by Assemblymen George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno; Larry Townsend, D-Torrance; George W. Milias, R-Gilroy and Carl A. Britschgi, R-Redwood City.

MILIAS is running for the Republican nomination for Secretary of State. Sources said Milias backs Ben L. Reichmuth, a Los Gatos insurance executive, in the primary contest among six Republicans. The UROC candidate is Richard D. Hayden, a Sunnyvale city councilman.

Van Horn said Milias, regarded as a moderate probably would not receive the UROC endorsement for Secretary of State. Van Horn said it will go to either J. C. Chambers, Los Angeles school board member, or James L. Flournoy, a Negro Los Angeles attorney.

Debate Bid by Brown Rejected

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Edmund G. Brown Jr., son of the former governor, challenged Sen. Hugh M. Burns Friday to debate "the issues of conflicts of interest and lobbyist influence in Sacramento." Burns refused.

Both are candidates for the June 2 Democratic nomination for California secretary of state.

The 68-year-old legislator said he had no intention of discussing "spurious issues" and said the debate challenge is an "outgrown and over-worked campaign device."

At a news conference where he accused Burns of "running a pro-lobbyist campaign," the 32-year-old Brown said he believed his father was wrong when as attorney general in 1958 he issued an opinion stating that there was no legal requirement that names of campaign contributors be listed with the amount contributed by each.

"I feel this opinion is wrong, yet," he said. "Sometimes my father is wrong."

Burns, who filed as a last-minute candidate for secretary of state, cited the attorney general's opinion as evidence that Brown was conducting an election campaign based on "false issues."

Mrs. Alberta Jordan, widow of the late Secretary of State, also is seeking the GOP nomination.

Zenovich is giving up his Assembly seat to run for the state Senate. UROC is backing John D. Hix, a Fresno businessman, for the GOP nomination for Zenovich's seat.

Townsend is seeking reelection. The UROC candidate in the Republican primary is Fred Fredericks, a Torrance realtor.

BRITSCHGI is running for the state Senate and UROC is campaigning for William H. Royer, a Redwood City realtor, as his successor.

The UROC endorsing meeting officially begins here today with speeches from the major statewide Republican candidates. Gov. Ronald Reagan will give the dinner address tonight. The organization plans to endorse candidates Sunday.

Van Horn said Reagan, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke and Sen. George Murphy should receive routine endorsement by UROC. Reagan and Reinecke are opposed in the June primary election.

Murphy is challenged by industrialist Norton Simon of Los Angeles, but Simon told newsmen he did not intend to go to the UROC convention.

UROC was formed in 1963 by dissident members of the other major Republican volunteer group, the California Republican Assembly. Most of the break-away members supported Sen. Barry Goldwater's bid for the party nomination for President.

Derby Free-for-All; Terlago Slim Choice

By MARTIN KIVEL
Special Correspondent

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — There's a little bit of everything and a smattering of nothing about the 17 assorted steeds who battle for dough and roses over the mile and one-quarter Churchill Downs real estate today before the traditional crowd of 100,000 and a national television audience (Channel 2, 2 p.m.).

It's the most wide open Derby since Col. Matt Winn invented the darn thing. It's a regular revolving door from which everything could come out, even a girl jockey on an absurdity named Fathom.

But it will still be the richest Derby in history with a record gross of $170,300 and a record net to the winner of $117,800. The defection of Protanto, whose left front ankle had filled over-night, didn't affect the morning line in that the in-and-out son of Native Dancer had been rated a 20-to-1 shot.

The Santa Anita Derby winner, the small but quick Terlago, with Bill Shoemaker searching for his fourth Derby score, still holds the place of honor, as the 7-2 favorite in the program. My Dad George is the second choice at 4-1 with Corn Off The Cob sharing third place honors at 5-1 with the John Jacobs-trained entry of Personality and High Echelon.

The chore of making the line on the most difficult of all Derbys fell on the shoulders of John Battaglia, who admits that he couldn't split out the top two on past performance figures.

"I had 'em dead even," he said, "but went to Ter-lago because Shoemaker has the edge in experience on Ray Broussard. I really think it will be a three-horse race. I give Corn Off The Cob and Flamingo a solid shot."

Only two other jockeys have Derby victories. Bill Hartack has won five times and shoots for a record sixth triumph with George Lewis. Braulio Baeza, who rides Naskra, won with Chateaugay in 1963.

There's also the weather factor. Louisville has had a record rainfall during the month just ended, and more is expected today. If the track soups up as it did early in the week, then late scratches are apt to remove the non-mudders from the competition — Fathom, to be ridden by Diane Crump, the first girl jockey ever to ride in the classic, and Corn Off The Cob, with Angel Cordero, the most likely candidates for withdrawal.

There are eight legitimate contenders in the race, any one of which could win it without an eyebrow being raised, Terlago, My Dad George, Personality, Silent Screen, Corn Off The Cob, Dust Commander, Naskra and Admiral's Shield. If the winner isn't among them, today's Derby payoffs will be of box-car proportions.

My Dad George was established the 5-2 favorite by fans who poured $190,891 into the preliminary betting windows Friday.

The entry of Ethel D. Jacobs — Personality and High Echelon — was co-second choice with last year's juvenile champion, Silent Screen, at 5-1, with the six-horse mutual field the third selection at 7-1.

Odds on the other entries were: Terlago, 9-1; George Lewis, 10-1; Naskra, 12-1; Corn Off The Cob, 13-1; Holy Land, 14-1; Dust Commander, 15-1; and Admiral's Shield, 30-1.

Alston Moans as Punchless Hex Continues

By GORDON VERELL
Staff Writer

Big Don Drysdale, the former Dodger great who's now a television announcer for Montreal, sat quietly Friday night while the Expos handled the Dodgers on three hits, 3-1, and then remarked with a smile:

"I've seen that act a few times before."

"The Dodgers aren't renowned for their power but

DODGER OF DAY

BILL SUDAKIS drove in Dodgers' only run in 3-1 loss to Montreal.

It's the feeling of the manager, Walter Alston, the club should be scoring more than it has.

"We're not going to score a lot but we're capable of scoring more than we've shown so far," he said after the embarrassing setback before 32,929 Cap Night fans.

"We've got the speed but we can't use it if we can't get on base."

Asked if Von Joshua, recalled from Spokane to replace the optioned Bill Buckner, might be an answer, Alston snapped:

"He can go 0-for-5 and he won't be any worse than what we've done so far. What's he hitting? .300? Heck, he might start Saturday night if he gets here on time."

The manager is upset, but he's at a loss to come up with an answer.

"You expect guys to get into a slump now and then," he said. "But I've never seen the whole team in a slump. A guy might go 0-for-15 or even 0-for-20. But the whole team?

"I don't know who to take out. I haven't got that many players. Even the other night when we beat Montreal I think we got our runs on a walk and an out."

"Maybe a couple days rest will help Willie Davis. But I don't really know if it'll do any good."

Willie D., the man with sights set on .400, is hitting .181. But he's not alone. The only Dodger over .300 is Bill Grabarkewitz.

It's a month into the season but the Dodgers haven't come close to returning to their spring showing.

Friday night it was Carl Morton, a onetime outfielder, who baffled the O'Malleys. It was his second consecutive gem, the last one against San Francisco a week ago, and it caused Expo manager Gene Mauch to say, "we haven't ever had anyone pitch back-to-back the way he has."

Morton gave up only one run, an unearned tally in the second. He worked his way out of a couple of tough spots, ending the Dodgers' brief two-game win streak.

Montreal, which whipped the Dodgers for the first time this year and the first time since last August, got two unearned runs in the first inning off Don Sutton.

Mack Jones drove home two runs after Ron Brand got a single, Rusty Staub reached first on Maury Wills' error and Jack Hitt got a walk to load the bases for Jones.

The Dodgers got one back in the second when Willie Crawford reached first on shortstop Bobby Wine's two-out error. He took second on a passed ball.

Bosox Home Run Barrage Overwhelms Angels, 8-3

By DON MERRY
Staff Writer

BOSTON — Sarcastically, it can be reported that the staunch Angel pitching staff restricted the Boston Red Sox to four singles Friday night.

Objectively, it must be appended that the Red Sox also muscled four home runs and four doubles and clubbed the Angels, 8-3, in the opener of a three-game set before 23,292 faithful on a windy but summery evening.

Tom Murphy, the Angel starter, had an 11 p.m. plane to catch so he could be back in Los Angeles to day to play soldier. The Sox obliged by offering him a bar of soap and pointing him in the direction of the faucet at precisely 8:38 after massaging him for five runs and seven hits.

ANGEL OF DAY

None.

Therefore, Tom could have walked to Logan Airport and saved on cab fare because he wound up with time on his hands.

Murphy's opponent — Ray Culp — pitched like a guy in a hurry. He retired 18 of the last 19 men he faced in disposing of the Angels for the fifth successive time in his American League career. He has yet to lose to the Anaheim.

Culp benefitted from two home runs by Carl Yastrzemski, his first at Fenway Park this season, and solo shots from George Scott and Reggie Smith.

Rico Petrocelli chipped in with a pair of doubles and Luis Alvarado and Scott also decorated the Boston attack with two-base hits. The lone Angel extra-base smash was a fourth-inning double by Ken McMullen.

"It's a pleasure to pitch when this club is hitting," Culp admitted. "They're suited for this park. A lot of guys don't like pitching here but I don't mind a bit — especially on nights like tonight."

Culp struggled with his control through the first four innings when the Angels touched him for all three runs and five hits but he was excessively stingy in the late going. He wound up with nine strikeouts as he ran his record to 2-3.

Yaz elicited the largest ovation from the fans when he slammed a 3-2 offering from Murphy over the 420-foot marker in center to give the Sox a 2-0 cushion in the first inning.

Before he settled in the batter's box, a ripple of boos serenaded his appearance.

Vikings, Bakersfield Tied; Race Ends Today

BAKERSFIELD (Special) — Bakersfield College threw the Metropolitan Conference baseball race into a tie going into the season's final day with a come-from-behind 4-3 win over visiting Long Beach City.

The Renegades scored two unearned runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to catch the Vikings. The teams now share first place with 12-5 records.

LBCC hosts Pasadena at Blair Field (1:30 p.m.) in the final game of conference action today, while Bakersfield meets Valley. If both teams win, a play-off will be held to determine the champion.

The Renegades did not hit a ball out of the infield in scoring twice in the ninth. Ed Smith and Chuck Berg were walked by reliever Jim Schadel, and Lou Diaz's sacrifice bunt was unplayable, loading the bases.

Rick Havrick hit a grounder that Glen Berberet misplayed, allowing a run to score. After a pop fly out, the Vikings tried for a double play on Stan Hamlin's grounder, but the play at first was too late and the winning run scored.

Schadel, 7-2 on the season and 4-1 in Metro, absorbed his first league loss. Bill Czerwonka picked up the win to move his record to 4-2.

Wilson, Millikan Score Easy Wins

If Russ McQueen continues to pitch as well as he did Friday night, there's not much doubt about who will win the 1970 Moore League baseball championship.

McQueen was near perfect for Lakewood High in the opener of a double-bouncing a base hit over the shortstop's head with the infield in, one out and runners on second and third. That gave the Rams a 5-2 lead, and Jordan never did recover.

header at Blair Field, stopping Poly on four hits, 4-0, to give the Lancers a two-game lead with three contests to go.

The tight scramble now is for second place and the other CIF playoff spot.

Wilson rocked El Rancho, 9-3, in the afternoon game to stay a half-game ahead of Millikan. The Rams received steady hurling from Bill Schwar in the second game at Blair to beat Jordan, 6-2.

Lakewood, which scored 16 runs Tuesday in beating El Rancho, made an unearned run off hard-luck Ed Anderson in the first inning stand up against Poly, which saw its record level off at 6-6.

With one out, Kim Hanaford slapped a high bouncing single down the third base line into left field. The speedy second baseman took second on a passed ball, then scored on Clint Myers' hit up the middle.

Myers and Gary Brewsawh were eventually nailed on plays at home plate, but the Lancers had the only run they needed.

McQueen, now 7-1, made only 28 pitches in the first four innings before surrendering three of Poly's four hits in the fifth. A smooth double play that saw Hanaford make a quick relay bailed McQueen out.

Steve Dorian had a perfect evening, collecting three hits and driving in three runs for Millikan in its win over Jordan.

Schwar helped himself immensely in the fourth,

Jackrabbits Keep Spike Title; Bruins Upset Lakewood

Poly High frownced Millikan 89-29 Friday to capture its second consecutive Moore League track title. Wilson upset Lakewood, 67½-50½, and Jordan edged El Rancho, 60-58.

The Wilson victory set up a three-way tie for second place among the Bruins, Lakewood and Millikan.

Poly's Dave Schiller highlighted the surprisingly easy win with a mark of 62-4½ in the shotput. The mile run was won by Millikan's Ron Sasser (4:28.2) who spurred ahead in the last 50 yards to edge Poly's Dave Coltrill (4:32.6).

Wilson's strength in the field events powered the victory. Ed Lang notched career bests in winning the long jump at 22-4¼ and finishing second in the shot at 54-1½.

Hurdler Don Jones captured both races to lead Jordan out of the Moore cellar. Jones won the highs in 15.3 and the lows in 20.1.

Saints Turn Hits Into Runs, Edge Mater Dei

By RICK ARTHUR

Each team collected seven hits but St. Anthony did something with them, coming up with a 2-0 win over Mater Dei Friday.

The Saints put their hits together in the fourth inning. First baseman Ramon Estepe singled and then advanced on Ray Lawman's one-baser. Third baseman Marc Landry's line-drive that went through Mater Dei's Ron Muniz into right field cleared the bases.

Mater Dei threatened to get back into the game in the final frame when Saints' relief pitcher Ray Sansossian walked Gary Simpson and gave up a single to Chuck Adams after striking out the first batter on three pitches. Steve Capic pulled the game out for St. Anthony with a diving catch of Bob Haupt's fly to left field and threw to second.

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: The year ahead to life, the other fellow and how he lives, where your competitive enterprises are leading you. Much of what is important in your life is in the past, and the day is complex, requiring care with decisions.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Make a showing in your share of the community's Sunday customs. The rest of the day is complex, requiring care with decisions.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Take the conservative course. Lolling well enough along is in itself an art form.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Older people, chronic tensions are important in this Sunday's story. There's no point in worry as you take all the normal precautions.

Cancer (June 21-July 21): Your sensitivity is acute today, to make extra allowances for others. Older people around you need attention, special expression of your feelings and opinions.

Leo (July 22-Aug. 21): Prepare for a moderate day of relative inactivity, curbing impatience over pending developments. Other people's concerns are in the way, even ordinary routines.

Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Don't insist on pressing for social or material gains this Sunday. Count your blessings and catch up with the odds and ends of chores that got left out in the rush of the past week.

Libra (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): Your most constructive course is to make the best use of what you have at hand for immediate needs. Be aware that most of what you do is likely to upset or stir other people to attitudes and actions they don't usually take.

Scorpio (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): Faith, hope and charity begin at home this Sunday. Take heed for your own welfare, then spread to protect and improve the chances of those you care about.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Prepare for temporary delays - it seems that whatever you want to do is already being done by somebody else. Waiting your turn can be a rewarding experience if you use it that way and make use of the time.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Nobody wants to argue with you while you press your point of view as an argument. Relax! Let people find the facts themselves.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): What seems to you a minor, temporary adjustment may turn out to be a major revision for somebody else.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): The whims and moods of more conservative people hinder your fluent use of today's opportunity. Make do with what is available, to the extent that people's limitations permit.

Liberace Holds Court at Ahmanson

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

Liberace's in town; this week and next, holding court in the Ahmanson Theatre at The Music Center nightly — and four times each weekend — through Mother's Day, spreading corn, music, and joy to the wide-ranging audiences he attracts, and putting on, in the process, what may be (I shouldn't say, for I haven't seen "Mame," "Zorba," or "Hair," to mention only three) the best show in town.

The world's most flamboyant pianist, sporting five complete changes of wardrobe topped by a chinchilla-wrapped black velvet coat, all the accoutrements of his particular trade (the glass-lidded piano, the custom-built, blue velvet piano bench, the candelabra, the personal valet), and a pocketful of innocently naughty asides, opened his 13-show Ahmanson run in his success-hungry manner: by playing a great variety of music (but mostly the familiar, tune-oriented arrangements for which he is best known) on his personal Baldwin, by singing a little, by dancing a little, and by talking constantly.

You may sneer if you will, and many still do, but the man has charm. He is likable, he is sincere, he can laugh at himself. And he is absolutely devoted, (in this age, among keyboardists, only Artur Schnabel comes immediately to mind), to making music for the pleasure of others.

On opening night, Liberace played a little bit of everything: movie music, old standards, current tunes, some of his unique renderings of Chopin and Liszt, a Gershwin group, even a "psychedelic" arrangement based on one of Beethoven's 32 Variations in C minor and utilizing two loudly amplified electric guitars. The evening has several high points, but none higher, for this listener, than the touching three minutes devoted to "Over the Rainbow," which is offered without comment, introduction, or gimmicks. It was beautiful.

Otherwise, the jokes never stop, the quick changes are no less than amazing, and everybody, including a very good pick-up orchestra conducted by Gordon Robinson, seems to be having the time of his life. Liberace may not be able to stop the war, but he can certainly make one forget it, temporarily.

And there is one big bonus on this show: the Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band, a musical aggregation you have to hear to appreciate, makes a too-brief appearance in the first half. I heard them, and I appreciate them. I recommend them. Like Liberace himself, they are unique.

SOUTHLAND MOVIE GUIDE

As a guide to moviegoers this newspaper lists capsule contents of major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. Most classifications represent the judgment of the Film Board of National Organizations.

THE LIBERTINE — A young widow takes to promiscuity on discovering her husband was unfaithful. Wry humor. Stars Catherine Spaak and Jean-Louis Trintignant. (X)

TRUE GRIT — John Wayne plays a one-eyed, whiskey-guzzling western marshal who helps a 14-year-old girl track down her father's murderer. (G)

JENNY — Television comedian Marlo Thomas is improbably cast as an unwed mother. Miss Thomas' film debut. (GP)

A MAN CALLED HORSE — Richard Harris fights for survival after he is captured and virtually enslaved by Indians. Dame Judith Anderson also stars. (GP)

FLAREUP — Raquel Welch portrays a Las Vegas nightclub dancer fleeing for her life from a demented murderer. (GP)

EASY RIDER — Peter Fonda and Dennis Hopper are quiet, long-haired, pot-smoking motorcyclists "doing their thing" in a disquieting cross-country odyssey. (R)

FANTASIA — Walt Disney cartoons and music by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra conducted by Leopold Stokowski. A release. (G)

WITHOUT A STITCH — The story of a girl who sheds her clothes and her inhibitions during a hitchhiking tour across Europe. (X)

THE LAWYER — A tense and vivid courtroom drama paralleling the Dr. Sam Sheppard murder case. (R)

JOHN AND MARY — A light, sophisticated comedy with Dustin Hoffman and Mia Farrow as a pair of New York swingers who awake together and fall in love. (R)

GONE WITH THE WIND — The again-released classic of the Civil War era starring Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh and Olivia DeHavilland. Winner of 10 Oscars.

THEY SHOOT HORSES, DON'T THEY? A Depression period dance-marathon is the setting for a saddening and hard-hitting drama starring Jane Fonda. (GP)

2001: A SPACE ODYSSEY — Oscar winning special effects highlights this Stanley Kubrick fiction drama set more than 30 years after Apollo 11. (G)

RATINGS
G — All ages admitted. General audiences.

GP — All ages admitted. Parental guidance suggested.

R — Restricted. Persons under 17 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or adult guardian.

John Marley Face Looks Familiar

HOLLYWOOD (U) — When John Marley took a cab, the driver studied his craggy face in the rear-view mirror and said, "You look familiar. Are you an actor?"

Marley — an actor for nearly 27 years, 15 of them in Hollywood — says he got a kick out of his tantalizing, character-player's anonymity.

But his name, rugged face-wide-mouth, prominent nose, dark beetle brows, are suddenly better known since John Casavetes' movie "Faces."

IN THIS study of middle-aged restlessness and sexual searching Marley played a wife-weary businessman.

His performance won a best-actor award at the Venice Film Festival.

Marley, who is in his mid-40s, was born in Harlem, grew up in a tough neighborhood in New York City and dropped out of high school.

"I never knew what the hell I wanted to be," he recalls. "... But I joined a neighborhood theatrical group, and that hooked me."

After seven hard years he found work on Broadway. He acted there in "The Skipper Next to God," "Gramercy Ghost," and other plays. His Hollywood credits include "My Six Convicts," "America,

NUDE UNDER LIGHTS

M-A-S-H Put Sally on Way

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It just takes one big break in a sensationally successful picture to transform a floundering actress into a very desirable package of merchandise.

In the old days they would have called it a Cinderella story.

The picture is "M-A-S-H," and the actress who turned on like a 1,000-watt bulb is Sally Kellerman who has been trying to get a break in movies for a dozen years.

SALLY HAS appeared in 30 plays, 20 television shows and three motion pictures. It took her eight years just to win a lead in an episode of a television show — "Outer Limits."

"I couldn't shoot my way into the movies before M-A-S-H," Sally said, fixing a sandwich in her new hilltop home.

"Now I've been offered two movies playing the lead role. I never had anything like that happen to me before in my life."

Sally is a big blonde girl, almost 5-feet-11-inches tall. She's large boned, frank, a compulsive talker and possessed of a sense of humor.

She almost lost her opportunity to make a name for herself when she was first offered the role of Margaret Houlihan (Hot Lips), the officious nurse in the hilarious comedy.

"I went in to see director Bob Altman and told him I didn't want to play the nurse because she was a cold, stuck-up female that I'd played a million times before. Anyhow, she only had seven lines to speak in the script.

"BOB TOLD ME to take the part and maybe a few changes could be made. Well, the part was expanded and hot lips became a wonderful character in the movie."

Sally shines in one scene in which a bunch of playful medics at a field hospital, drop the side of a tent in which she is taking a shower. It is a high-point of the film.

"It's the first time I ever did a nude scene," said Sally, whose figure will not soon make the world forget Raquel Welch.

"But I wanted to look as attractive as possible. I asked Altman if he would light the set carefully so I could look my best and still be a little bit modest."

"He gave me a choice. He said I could stand for an hour without any clothes on in front of the cast and crew while the scene was lighted to my satisfaction. Or I could go in and have the shot done in one take, covering myself up as soon as possible.

SALLY KELLERMAN Lights Up in Tent

"I decided to forget about the lighting."

Currently Sally is making another film with Altman. Title: "Brewster McCloud and his sexy flying machine."

"I haven't seen the script yet, but I've already completed two days shooting on the picture," Sally said. "I asked Altman what sort of role I was playing and he told me I may be invisible or a fairy godmother or something like that."

"Kinda strange, isn't it?"

Sesame Street Ban

NEW ORLEANS (U) — Sesame Street, a nationally syndicated program for preschool children, has been banned on Mississippi's public educational television system because of its "highly integrated" cast, the Times-Picayune said Friday.

Is Paulsen Put Out by Orangutans?

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Watching Bill Burrd's "Animal World," on Ch. 7 Thursday night, I kept thinking how Pat Paulsen must feel being replaced by a bunch of orangutans.

"Animal Kingdom" is back for its second summer on network TV and if you are interested in back-stage chitchat about these things, Cynthia Lowry of AP, informs us that originally the program was a summer replacement called "Animal Kingdom" on NBC (Ch. 4) in 1968. Marlin Perkins had his "Wild Kingdom" on NBC, too, and there was a hassle over the title so "Animal Kingdom" became "Animal World" and moved over to CBS for a time last summer. Now as you can see, it's on ABC.

Well, that being cleared up, back to the Borneo staging area where the orangutans gambol or just laze about and make as cute a picture of animals who don't growl at humans as you could wish for. Pleasingly amusing for about the half an hour it fills, I'd find it much more palatable with more substantive narration and a less travelogish delivery by the narrator. This is a lot like a visit to the zoo — somewhat cleaned up, undoubtedly.

THERE'S ONE thing you can say about the CBS series of talks between former President Johnson and Walter Cronkite, another of which airs to night: there's always a pretty good public relations item available to build interest.

In the previous discussion, there was considerable talk aroused because of some of the things Mr. Johnson said — about whether the country was ready for a President from the South and whether he did or didn't wrestle with himself about running for the presidency.

This time the question is over his censorship of a portion of the interview, a deletion Mr. Johnson has the right to make under his contract with CBS. There are some reports, I don't know how accurate, that the footage trimmed concerned Mr. Johnson's views on findings concerning the assassination of President Kennedy. The reason, publicly given, is that the material was censored in the national interest.

It would be nice if there were no such things as secret treaties and secret information and everybody could know what was going on and the people then might be able to make better judgements about national interest.

Anyway, now that a segment of the interview has been clipped, can we expect that the U.S. attorney general's office will subpoena the material?

BUT PERHAPS of more interest to TV viewers is some information, come by second hand, that if "The Engelbert Humperdinck Show" in its new time this summer (reruns follow Lawrence Welk Saturday nights) gets good ratings, Engelbert could be brought back to ABC sometime next season.

Zubin Mehta to Conduct at Cerritos

Zubin Mehta will have the baton when the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra presents its 5th annual concert on the Cerritos College musical stage at 8 p.m. next Friday.

Under Mehta, a principal conductor and director of music for the orchestra, the musical organization gained world-wide eminence through its recordings on London record and in around-the-world tour in 1968 as well as appearances on television specials.

Negro Opera Star Hailed in South

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Negro opera star Leontyne Price received a rousing response from a small, integrated audience at a two-hour benefit concert to help build a cultural and recreational community center at Fayette, Miss.

"I am overwhelmed by the response but a little disappointed that more people did not turn out for such a worthy cause," said the Laurel-born soprano. Only 3,000 attended although 9,000 had been expected.

Long Beach Village, Mobilehome Community, Near Completion

Imagination and technical skill have transformed a former Long Beach refuse site into a million-dollar residential community.

The development, designed, engineered and constructed by Boise Cascade Building Co., one of the nation's leading developers of mobilehome communities, is scheduled for completion this month.

The mobilehome community, Long Beach Village, is located at 5400 Paramount Blvd. It sits on 17½ acres which were used as a refuse disposal site by the City of Long Beach from World War II years until the 1950s.

The rubbish was covered with six feet of fill and the property remained vacant until Boise Cascade Building Co. purchased the land.

"No one would know today this residential development sits on land which at one time was thought completely useless," said Richard J. Martens, general manager of Boise Cascade Building Co., Mobilehome Communities, Western Division.

THE COMMUNITY WILL HAVE spaces for 163 mobilehomes, and according to a representative of the management firm which has purchased the development from Boise Cascade, "about one quarter of the sites have already been reserved."

Recreation facilities for the enjoyment of adult residents of Long Beach Village include a swimming pool, outdoor therapeutic pool and shuffleboard courts.

Center of the community's social life will be a 4,200-square-foot clubhouse, of contemporary design, with a lounge, fireplace kitchen, card room and billiard room.

All utilities are underground and the entire area is landscaped. Streets are paved and lighted and the community has a private entrance.

All spaces are large enough to accommodate double-wide, mobilehomes.

IN EXPLAINING WHY Boise Cascade purchased this particular piece of property, Martens said the location met every criteria for park development, including acreage, market demand, nearness to shopping, transportation and metropolitan Long Beach facilities.

In spite of construction costs higher than for most of its mobilehome parks, Boise Cascade decided it could make the project a profitable one and at the same time be making a positive economic and aesthetic contribution to the community, Martens said.

Construction, which began six months ago, entailed supporting all utility lines underground on steel piles and concrete beams.

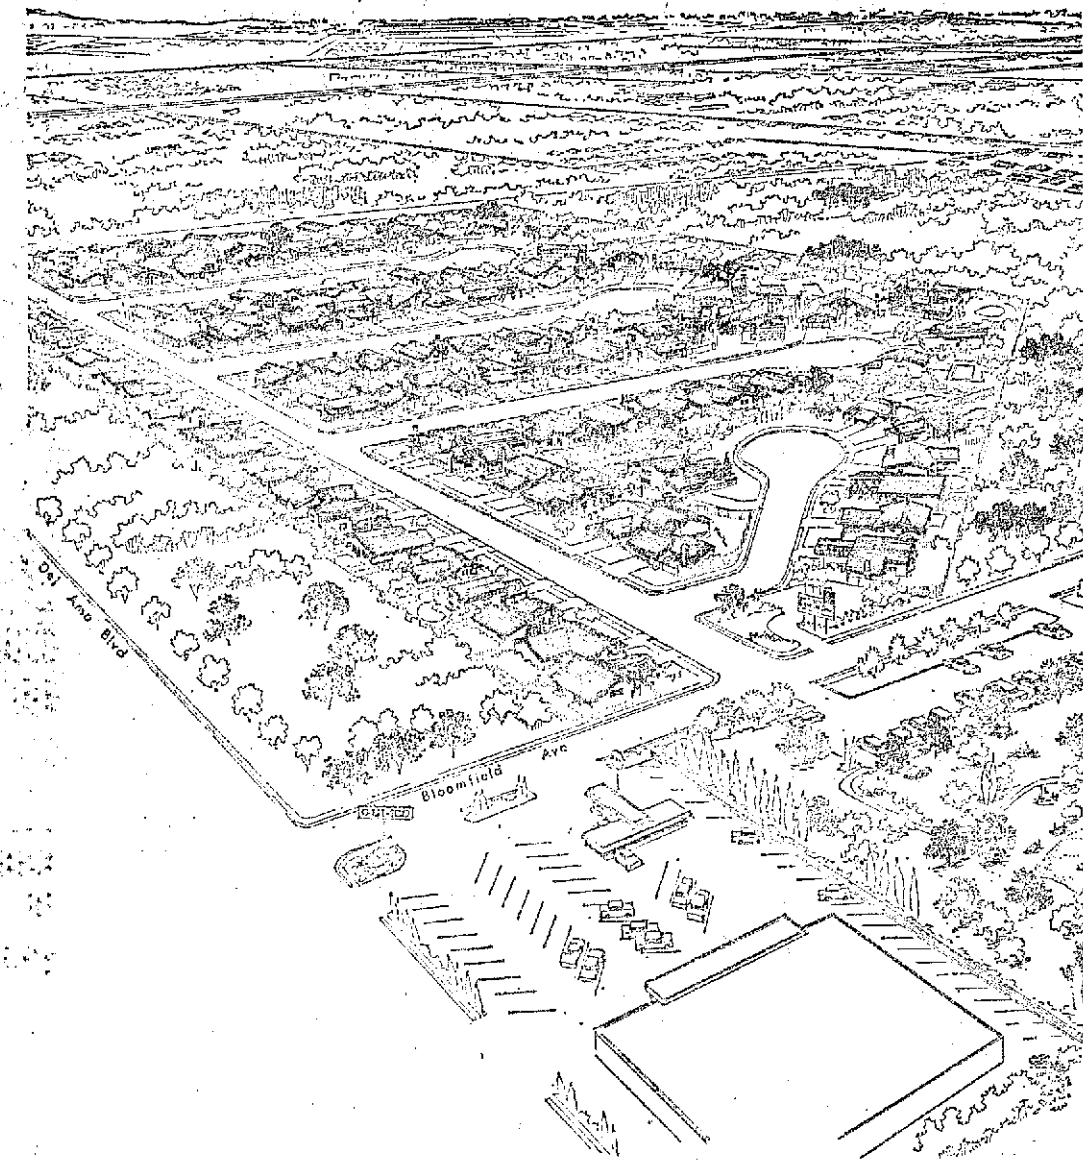

The clubhouse was also built on piles and beams and the entire park area was capped with a sealer before streets, coach sites and other improvements were added.

LONG BEACH CIVIC OFFICIALS and industry leaders are being invited to Boise Cascade Building Co. to view the completed project at an open house Wednesday afternoon, May 13.

Boise Cascade Building Co. leads the nation in the development of mobilehome communities and has 87 communities completed or nearing completion at the present time.

The Western Division, headquartered in Gardena, is responsible for project development in the 18 states west of the Mississippi, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

ARTIST'S DRAWING . . . Locates Beautiful New Casa Del Amo

Casa Del Amo Tabbed $6.5 Million Community

With interior decoration just completed on its four models, the $6½ million Casa Del Amo project officially opens today in Cerritos.

Built by the SIR Development Company, the 192-unit project offers three and four bedrooms of one and two-story designs.

Prices begin at $27,990, with VA, FHA and conventional terms available.

Some 12 different architectural styles, from contemporary Californian to Spanish, will be available for the homebuyer.

The private walled community of Casa Del Amo is located on Bloomfield Avenue, one block north of Del Amo Boulevard in Cerritos.

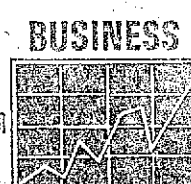

Directly across the street from the entrance is the site for a proposed 80-acre city park.

Preliminary plans call for the park to include football and baseball fields, playgrounds, a wading pond, covered pavilion, picnic grounds and tables, numerous parking areas and convenient restrooms stations.

INCLUDED in the purchase price at Casa Del Amo are continuous filament nylon carpeting, gas long lighter fireplaces, luminous ceiling, marble topped pullmans, cathedral ceilings, rear yard fencing and concrete driveways.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM

LONG BEACH, CALIF., SATURDAY MAY 2, 1970

chase price at Casa Del Amo are continuous filament nylon carpeting, gas long lighter fireplaces, luminous ceiling, marble topped pullmans, cathedral ceilings, rear yard fencing and concrete driveways.

Also featured are wood, shingle and shake roofs, and built-in oven-range, dishwasher and disposal.

The entire ceiling area is insulated and rear yards have electrical outlets for convenience in patio entertainment.

Developer Robert Solomon, who also built the Century 21 homes in Anaheim, guarantees his homes for a full year. Solomon, a native Californian, has built more than 2000 homes throughout Southern California.

IN ADDITION to the Casa Del Amo homesite in Cerritos, Solomon will start construction soon on a hundred home development in Fountain Valley.

Named Casa Verde Estates the $3 million community will be located on Ellis Street between Buschard & Magnolia Streets.

Minutes away from Casa Del Amo are such conveniences as schools, shopping complexes, the Cerritos civic center, several denominations of churches and such recreational activities as horse racing, golf and a museum.

Saddleback Interiors of Santa Ana provided the decor for the four Casa Del Amo models.

The progressive and brightly designed models have already received favorable comments from preview visitors.

A FAVORITE room in the Cortez model is the children's rumpus room where Saddleback built a lighted space ship control panel complete with a full sized robot.

The Cortez master suite with private bath and dressing area has double glass doors that lead into the outdoor patio.

Lusk & Son Announces 351-Acre Industrial Park

A 351-acre industrial park, oriented to the sophisticated requirements of space age industries, will be built immediately adjacent to the $50 million McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Company's Space Systems Center in Huntington Beach.

Ground was broken this week on the Huntington Beach Industrial Park, a development of John D. Lusk & Son, long noted as one of Southern California's leading home-building concerns.

Master-planned as a $40 million development, the project will encompass 316 acres for industrial usage, including 10 acres devoted to industrially-oriented commercial establishments.

Additionally, there will be 35 acres of contiguous garden apartments.

The irregularly shaped parcel in the northern portion of Huntington Beach extends from Bolsa Avenue east to Springdale Street, south to Edinger Avenue and west to a point midway between Bolsa Chica Road and Graham Street.

Originally a portion of the extensive Arthur R. Peck family holdings in Huntington Beach, as was the McDonnell Douglas complex, the land was used for the growing of sugar beets and general farming in the early 1900s.

WHEN THE SUGAR BEET industry was reduced due to the influx of sugar from Hawaii, the land continued for many years to be leased out to farmers, yielding such crops as tomatoes, peppers, lima beans and barley.

In recent years, as Huntington Beach exploded from a community of 11,492 in 1960 to more than 115,000 today, portions of the original Peck trust were sold for development of industrial, residential and school sites.

Plans for Huntington Beach Industrial Park call for making parcels available, in sizes of one-half acre to 70 acres, for sale, lease or build-to-suit.

A broad range of financing and lease arrangements is offered for adaptation to specific requirements of industrial park occupants and architectural planning will assure the future efficiency and attractiveness of the site.

The commercial portion of the master planned development will be in the northeastern portion, along Bolsa Avenue, with the garden apartment complex south of the industrial park, extending north from Edinger Avenue to a point about midway between Edinger and McFadden Avenue.

Located within a mile of the San Diego Freeway, Huntington Beach Industrial Park has quick freeway access to the Los Angeles International, Long Beach Municipal, Orange County and Ontario Municipal Airports, and is equally convenient to the West Coast's most modern deep water port facilities at Los Angeles and Long Beach.

OVER THE YEARS John D. Lusk & Son, builder of more than 10,000 Southland homes valued in excess of a quarter of a billion dollars, also has been involved in industrial and commercial development, including the Slauson Pacific Industrial Park and the nationally famous Whitewood Shopping Center.

This marks the most extensive development ever undertaken by the firm in the industrial field, however.

Huntington Beach was selected for this major step because of several factors available within the community.

These include a smog-free, temperate climate, availability of skilled and technical labor, industrial-minded and forward-looking city and county government, excellent transportation access and an attractive tax rate.

In the transaction transferring title of the Huntington Beach Industrial Park property to John D. Lusk & Son, R. A. Rowan & Co. represented both the buyer and seller.

Also involved in negotiations were the Bank of America, which held a major portion of the site in trust, and the law firms of O'Melveny & Myers, Paul Hastings, Janofsky & Walker, and Frank E. Gray.

OUTSTANDING-BY S&S

Culver Dale's Spacious Heatherwood Is Popular

The spacious Heatherwood model at Culver Dale is proving to be highly popular with families who want four bedrooms but don't want to climb stairs to get to them, it was reported by Clyde Wixom, general sales manager for Grant Company of California.

"This home has both living and sleeping areas on the same level, but the sleeping wing is fully self-contained so that it is quiet and private," Wixom said.

Another design feature of the single-story Heatherwood that appeals to buyers is the exceptional feeling of spaciousness provided by vaulted ceilings and wide expanses of glass, he said.

"Sliding glass doors furnish an access to the garden from the family room and glass walls are used in the master bedroom suite to make it bright and cheerful," Wixom said in citing some of the features of the home.

THE HEATHERWOOD is one of eight different floor plans, ranging in size from two to five bedrooms, being offered at the recreation-oriented Culver Dale project in the master-planned Irvine community.

Prices start at $24,995, with FHA and VA financing available.

All homes have cedar shingle roofs, copper plumbing, nylon carpeting, all-electric kitchens with built-in ranges, ovens, dishwashers and disposers, baths with recessed oval basins and cultured marble pullman tops and master suits with built-in vanities and compartmented baths.

WHILE Culver Dale homes are spacious, the development also offers its residents lots of additional areas in which to play or relax, Wixom pointed out.

All residents of the community have the use of a $100,000 private clubhouse and swimming pool, plus a private eight-acre park which is studded with recreational facilities and rolling greenbelts, he said.

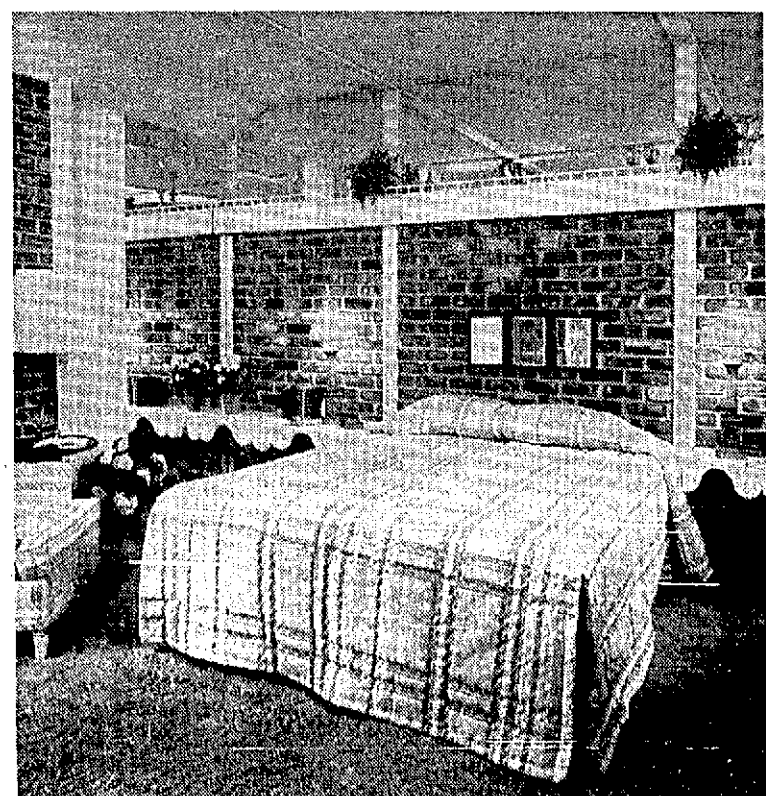

TO REACH Culver Dale via the San Diego Freeway from the south, exit at Culver Drive, then go left to Main Street and left on Main to the entrance.

From the south on the Santa Ana Freeway, take Culver Drive off-ramp and go right three miles to Main Street.

and model complex are open daily from 10 a.m. to dusk.

CHEERFUL MASTER BEDROOM . . . Found At Culver Dale

Buffums' GM Says Downtown L.B. to Be 'Discovered'

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

The Long Beach downtown area "has not quite been discovered," says the new president and general manager of Buffums'.

William S. Hansen—48, tall and athletic-looking—glanced down from his fifth floor office window and added quietly:

"But it will be."

Six weeks ago, Vale G. Young, chairman of the board of Buffums' and principal executive officer, announced the appointment of Hansen as "a forward step coastal area, but even that will assure a sufficient water supply only until the turn of the century, Security Pacific National Bank reports in its 1970 economic survey of Southern California.

Municipal, industrial, and agricultural demand for water in the Southern California Coastal Area (all or portions of the Counties of Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, and San Diego) is expected to rise from an estimated 3,430,000 acre-feet per year in 1970 to over 5 million acre-feet by the year 2000 and to 5.8 million acre-feet in 2020, according to a 1968 report by the Sub-Committee on Water Requirements and Supplies of the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce.

Probably the most likely additional source of water will be the reclamation of waste water. Another possibility is sea-water conversion. Desalinization of sea water is economically unfeasible; but atomic power could bring the cost down sharply.

Another possible method of increasing the water supply is through weather modification. Pilot programs in a number of areas indicate that it may be possible to increase local rainfall through cloud seeding.

HAIRCUT TIME

This year's June college graduates, who not long ago would have looked forward to breezing into a good job with high pay and multiple benefits, have fallen on hard times, says the New York Times News Service.

With the slowdown in the economy and the cutback in federal spending, the number of jobs available to graduates is the smallest in years and salary offers are the lowest, according to colleges, businesses and federal agencies.

Many companies have reduced or canceled campus recruiting efforts this year, sending a shock of near panic through some academic communities.

Campus officials note, with some amusement, that many students are suffering the indignity of the "interview haircut," a forlorn ceremony in which long hair is shorn and squared to make the young job-seeker more attractive to a prospective boss.

The pinch appears to have affected graduates at all levels. The College Placement Council in Bethlehem, Pa., in a report just out on the situation at the end of 1969, gives these figures for declining demand: for graduates with bachelors' degrees, a drop of 16 per cent; for those with masters' degrees, a drop of 26 per cent; and for those with doctorates, a drop of 14 per cent.

YOUNG (L), HANSEN... Look Forward

Chartline Almost Even With '69

The Index inched 0.1 per cent below the week ago figure. The chartline is now at a level only 0.1 per cent above a year ago.

Despite the crippling truckers strike, steel output rose 2.3 per cent.

Auto output lost 10.2 per cent. Production is down 2.1 per cent below a year ago. General Motors announced this week, intentions to discontinue production of the full sized Oldsmobile in two assembly plants until the end of the model year.

Crude oil refinery runs rose 1.9 per cent, electric power output lost 0.1 per cent.

Miscellaneous carloadings increased 4.7 per cent; all other carloadings went up 6.9 per cent — reflecting hikes in coal and metallic ore transportation.

Intercity truck tonnage went down 26.9 per cent.

GROWTH OF ANAHEIM FIRM SEEN

Buzza-Cardozo Doubles Floor Space

James Day, president of Buzza-Cardozo, has announced the formal opening today of his company's 170,000 - square - foot addition to the Anaheim facility.

This is the second time since 1961 the local floor space has been doubled, to a new total of over 570,000 square feet in a single building (over 13 acres).

Company growth has been such that sales volume and staff is now over three times what they were when the company moved to Anaheim in 1961.

Day said that 800 talented local people are employed in the Anaheim studios, offices and plant, plus a substantial sales staff serving in all states.

marked by a showing of fine art done by Buzza-Cardozo artists. This will be open to the public and followed by other shows to be announced.

Buzza-Cardozo is one of the top three producers in the world of a wide variety of paper products, including an average of one million greeting cards every day.

The plant operates on a two-shift basis.

After the formal opening, the public will be invited to view the operations during evening hours.

goals they have set for each year of the 1970s.

Day said that "by using the creative talents and the full energy of the employees, these goals can be surpassed."

Wall Street Briefs

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. announced it signed up 60 new dealers in the first quarter of 1970, the best quarter's achievement in that respect in eight years. The company attributed the attraction of new dealers to public response to AMC's new Gremlin subcompact automobile.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Imperial-American Management Co. has brought in an oil well in the Durham-Strawn Field in Coke County, Texas, that flowed at a rate of 211 barrels of 43 degree gravity oil daily from a depth of 7,075 feet. There were also indications of potential gas production.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chas. Pfizer's J. B. Roerig Division and Smith, Kline and French Laboratories have obtained the approval of the U.S. Food & Drug Administration to market lithium carbonate in a form for use in treating the manic phase of the manic-depressive psychosis.

TOLEDO (UPI) — Owens-Illinois, Inc., will build a multi-million dollar factory in Central Bay Industrial Park at Union City, Calif., to make corrugated paper shipping boxes. The new plant will replace one 30-years old at Oakland, Calif. The 30 employees will be moved from

J. H. Baxter & Co. In 1925 when the company was located in Wilmington, later moved to Long Beach.

Ross remembers how they brought a steam crane over the Southern Pacific right-of-way under its own power.

"When we reached within one and a half miles of our present location, we broke the track, laid ties down and with the crane, we picked up the rails from behind and placed them on ties in front of the crane."

"In this manner, we proceeded across the sand dunes and mud flats of Long Beach harbor to our present location."

Participating at the party were A. M. Baxter, owner of J. H. Baxter & Co., and old-time friends of Ross.

Special note was given to five other employees of J. H. Baxter & Co. who attended. Their combined employment with the company came to 223 years.

The others are H. Silkwood, 40 years; M. F. Jacobsen, 36; T. Cruze, 35; C. E. Prince, 33, and J. E. Apple, 34.

Parsons' Revenues in Jump

The Ralph M. Parsons Company (ASE), Los Angeles-based engineering and construction firm, has reported revenues for the 12 weeks ended March 27, 1970, of $63,287,000, compared with $55,150,000 for the comparable period in 1969.

Consolidated net income for the first 12 weeks in 1970 was $811,000, equivalent to 3 cents per share, compared to net income of $540,000 for the same period in 1969, equivalent to 27 cents per share.

The company's current backlog is $875,000,000, measured in terms of anticipated gross revenues not yet taken into account from all projects underway or contracted for.

Program chairman Donna Cole, sales representative for Security Title Insurance Company, said Mrs. Feldman will augment the talk with slides.

In bringing to Buffums' fast-growing nine-store chain the experience and background to enable us to more fully accomplish the goals which we have set."

Hansen has moved his wife and two daughters still at home to a house in Palos Verdes. Two other daughters are in school in the East, two others are married.

"All daughters," Hansen laughs in speaking of his family. "And you can add two granddaughters, too."

Hansen is not a newcomer to Long Beach or to Orange County. He served as the company's sportswear buyer here from 1953 to 1957 and was a Garden Grove resident.

Hansen's career has been the buying for and the operation of fashion and service-oriented stores and his most recent position was president of Garfinkel's, Washington, D.C.-based department and specialty store.

He was at Garfinkel's only two years before assuming the presidency.

"In the four years I was with Garfinkel's," Hansen said, "sales climbed 20 per cent. We built one new store and another was being completed when I resigned."

Young and Buffums' directors have briefed Hansen on this company's plans for future expansion. Much of it hinges on the speed with which the economy bounces back.

"It's going to take a substantial change in the money market before we'll see any change," Hansen said, adding that he does not see such change this year "but we should be heading out of it in 1971."

"American business has tremendous vitality and you should see solutions to the problem by the end of this year," Hansen said. "There are hopeful signs from the manufacturers — there's a limit as to what they can change."

"Recently, ready-to-wear manufacturers are seen trying to hold the line on prices — and technical advances in fabrics have been beneficial to this end."

Glancing downward Pine Avenue, Hansen brought his thoughts closer to home again.

"The Gruen Associates plan is absolutely fantastic. What's good for the city is good for Buffums' and this is a good plan."

LEASING CHANGES

A major revision in the law relating to leases has been passed by the Assembly and sent to the Governor's desk for approval.

The Assembly concurred in minor Senate amendments in the legislation authored by Assemblyman James A. Hayes (R-Long Beach), chairman of the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Said Hayes: "This legislation constitutes a major revision of the rights of landlords and tenants where a tenant abandons the leased premises or where a lease is terminated for any reason whatsoever."

"The new legal rights of the parties consist of the following:

"1. In those cases where the lessee violates the terms of the lease by abandoning the property before the end of the lease term, the lessor must try to lease the property to someone else in order to mitigate damages against the lessee. The same rule would apply where the lessee is evicted by the lessor for violating some provision of the lease.

"2. In the same situations above described, if the lease contains a provision that the lessor does not need to do anything to mitigate damages against the lessee, then the lessee himself may sublet or assign the leased premises under reasonable standards and conditions."

"3. Where a lease contains a provision for liquidated damages in the event of any breach, such provision will be valid only if it complies with the requirements of Sections 1670 and 1671 of the Civil Code relating to liquidated damages in contract cases.

"4. The new legislation will apply only to leases executed on and after July 1, 1971."

The legislation is the result of four years of study on the subject by the California Law Revision Commission.

Pressing automotive industry problems ranging from a program to test, train and certify mechanic skills, to the 15-million-car year and the problems it will create on the highways and in the cities were discussed by industry leaders at the recently concluded 25th Spring Business Conference of the Motor Car Dealers of Southern California at the Indian Wells Country Club at Palm Desert, California.

MCDA Executive Vice President James A. Gorman reported registrations were slightly under 1969's all time record but attendance at the business sessions was higher.

Among highlights from speeches were:

William Pickett, sales vice president of American Motors: "Car dealers in the U.S. are going to have to respond in the near future to consumer trends on a six hour basis rather than six months or six years."

Sam White, Houston, president of National Automobile Dealers Association: "Dealers must go to the courts to determine the legality of factory subsidies, leasing agencies and factory outlets."

Frank McCarthy, executive vice president of NADA: "Details of the voluntary national program of testing, training and certifying mechanics will be announced within 60 days."

Kent Redwin, MCDA legislative advocate: "Legislative over-zeal on behalf of the consumer not only penalizes the auto dealer but also his consumer customer."

Jim McFarland, San Diego, president of MCDA: "Be aware. Be active in protecting your business from governmental paternalism."

"THE ERA OF THE CONSUMER, which we have entered, isn't all bad," commented William Pickett of American Motors. "To respond to the consumer is ultimately good business. The end result is that the entire auto industry emerges stronger and more respectable."

"The heightened interest in ecology — and knowledge about it — has presented us with a challenge unknown 10 years ago. Ten years ago nobody knew the solutions to problems we are now accused of having ignored then. We will know more about such problems 10 years from now, and that we learn we will apply."

Pickett predicted the 1970's may see a 15 million car sales year. Among the needs this will create are better highways, more effective safe-driving regulations and "more acceptable" insurance rates.

NADA President Sam White praised Southern California auto dealers as pacesetters in establishing the area as the No. 1 car market of the nation.

He said three counties of Southern California — Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego sell more cars than 14 states in the Union; total registration is equal to the combined total of 22 states; and that 10 per cent of all new cars and trucks sold in the United States are sold in California with 42 per cent of the sales made in Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties.

White said the sales record has led to important contributions to the economic health of California with 80,000 persons being employed by franchise auto dealers with a weekly payroll of $12 million.

Hartfield-Zodys in Operation Agreement

Raymond L. Kaufman, president of Hartfield-Zodys, Inc., and Bernard Abrams, president of Fabrics National, Inc., have announced the companies reached an agreement in principle whereby Fabrics National, Inc., will continue to operate the domestic and piece goods departments in all present and future Zodys Quality Discount Department Stores for various periods expiring from 1975 to 1979.

In addition, certain provisions of the existing agreement will be modified.

As part of the same transaction, Fabrics National, Inc., agreed to sell 100,000 shares of its common stock on a restricted basis to Hartfield-Zodys, Inc., for $100,000.

Upon consummation, Hartfield-Zodys, Inc., will have an investment of slightly less than 10 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Fabrics National, Inc.

THE agreement is subject to the approval of the boards of directors of each company.

Fabrics National, Inc., has been operating the domestic departments in the Zodys Stores since January, 1965, and the piece goods departments since October, 1968.

The common stock of Hartfield-Zodys, Inc., is listed on the American and Pacific Coast Stock Exchanges of Fabrics National, Inc., is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Last Rancho Sites Good Chance for Equestrians

Equestrians, and just plain horse lovers, have an unequalled opportunity to purchase recreational land in the coastal area of Southern California where they can ride and raise horses unhampered by urban-residential restrictions.

Horse lovers have flocked to Rancho Capistrano in droves to purchase 2½-3 acre parcels where they can raise ponies for the kids or their own blooded stock.

The original land grant limits the number of parcels to 133 and only a few select sites remain, which are now being offered direct to the public.

These final few homesites represent a last chance to relive early California ranch life in complete privacy and seclusion.

PROTECTED on all sides by the Cleveland National Forest, Rancho Capistrano's early California charm is preserved in its natural form.

Ancient Spanish Oaks cast gracious shadows over 70 per cent of the land. And the rolling terrain is covered in heavy pasture grass, providing excellent grazing and many view homesites.

Rancho Capistrano is located just 23 miles inland from San Juan Capistrano at a smog-free 3,300-foot elevation.

Surrounded on all sides by the Cleveland National Forest, Rancho Capistrano is a 300-acre island of trees and trails, perfect for riding and raising horses.

Safe in the sanctuary of the surrounding forest, Rancho maintains stables and a white-rail fenced paddock area for care and boarding of horses.

Del Amo Fashion Square Work Begins; Open in '71

Site clearance and rough grading has been completed and structural footings and foundations will begin in Torrance this month for Del Amo Fashion Square, a two-level enclosed shopping mall expected to be one of the largest of its kind in the West.

The two-level mall will tie together existing stores and provide a total of 1,111,000 square feet of leasable space, accommodating some 125 specialty shops.

Two new major department stores, Ohrbach's and Montgomery Ward, will be added to the existing three, Bullock's, I.

Magnin & Co. and Desmond's.

The mall itself will encompass 118,000 square feet and will be 1,200 feet long, according to owners, Carson-Madrona Co. (a partnership of Great Lakes Properties, Inc. and Guilford Glazer). Actual construction began in March.

THE SITE is located on the northeast corner of the intersection of Hawthorne Boulevard and Carson Street, directly across the street from the Del Amo Financial Center.

Geared to the eclectic tastes of today's young and young-thinking market, the mall design is a striking departure from the formal, highly stylized look typical of most enclosed malls.

The exterior will have the feeling of a European village that gradually evolved over a long period of time.

The interior will be highly flexible and colorful, with decor ranging from old world to the most modern in themes.

It will have the warmth and visual play of a bazaar, according to Charles Kober, BKN&A partner.

CHOICE OF 18 STYLINGS Visitors Enthusiastic at La Valencia

New models in the recently opened fourth and final unit of La Valencia Homes in Brea merited enthusiastic approval of visitors, according to Mort Rhodes, sales representative.

Rhodes attributes much of the successful sales pace at La Valencia to the old-home-for-new trade program that is offered by builders Henry and Myron Reichert.

A brochure with full details of this carefully selected plan is available in the sales office.

La Valencia plans range from three to five bedrooms and three baths, with a choice of 18 exterior stylings.

The builders include many features that make the home family-ready and save the new owners expense and labor.

FINE quality nylon carpeting, FHA approved, is installed in living room, formal dining room, bedroom hall and master suite.

Decorator mirrors and lighting fixtures, mirrored wardrobes are all included just as shown in the models.

Dramatic double-door entries, cathedral ceilings and upstairs galleries for study or library are among the unique features that contribute to the customized quality of La Valencia models.

All plans have spacious family rooms. FULLY equipped kitchens are planned for the convenience of indoor and (Continued on Page 8)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Net assets of mutual funds affiliated with The Investment Company Institute fell to $47.915 billion in March from $48.2 billion in February, ICI reported. Sales of new shares for the month totaled $451.464 million up from $407.024 million in February. However, on a seasonally adjusted basis, the Institute said sales must be considered to have declined to 408.2 million from $441.5 million a month earlier. Net sales, minus redemptions, however, rose to $162.5 million from $158 million in February.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sperry Rand Co. has obtained an Air Force contract to provide $11.4 million worth of automatic data processing equipment.

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — U.S. Natural Resources, Inc., has completed arrangements to start a drilling program for oil off the coast of South Africa. A specially built outrigger type drilling platform, constructed at a cost of $8.5 million, will arrive at the drilling site in July. It currently is undergoing sea trials in Japanese waters. The actual drilling will be carried out by a subsidiary of Santa Fe International, Inc., about 470 miles east of Capetown in the Indian Ocean. Other partners in the venture include Rand Mines, Ltd., the South African Government Oil Company, Charles W. Engelhard and Transvaal Consolidated Land & Exploration Co.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Damson Oil Co. said it has found gas in the Porcupine field extending southward from the Highlight field in Campbell County, Wyo. The first two were flowed at rates exceeding 2.5 million cubic feet daily each plus upwards of 290 barrels of distillate.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI) — General Electric Co. has obtained a $10 million Navy order for fire-control and guidance equipment for the Poseidon missile system.

HOUSTON (UPI) — A new international firm to build deep water oil production systems was announced by Westinghouse Electric Corp., British Petroleum Co. and Compagnie Francaise des Petroles. It is called Subsea Associates, Ltd., and is headed by Louis R. Ramette.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Francisco consumers organization called "Consumers Arise" has petitioned the Federal Communications Commission to revoke the Bell System long distance telephone tariff now in effect. The petitioners charged that the FCC has unlawfully allowed Bell a rate of return in excess of the 7½ per cent set in 1967. The petitioners said they will appeal to the federal courts if the FCC turns them down.

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. announced it will close field offices at Saigon, Los Angeles, Lancaster and Colorado Springs by midsummer in an economy move.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eastern Air Lines has dropped plans to discontinue its passenger shuttle service between Newark, N.J., and Washington. The company said it has received many protests from congressmen and the public since it announced it would stop the service at the end of May.

WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM?

Lingering Tenant Causes Expense to Waiting Lessee

By DON CAMPBELL

You know the type: the house guest who finally announces that he "simply has to be going," but then spends the next hour at your half-opened door bringing up conversational topics that he forgot to mention earlier.

Except for the head cold that you catch from the wind whistling through the ajar door, this is merely annoying. But there are definitely times when the "guest" who lingers on can prove expensive.

MR. CAMPBELL:

My husband recently changed jobs which necessitated a move across country. We put up our house for sale while my husband went ahead to begin his new job and find a place for us to live.

About three months ago he called to tell me that he had leased a nice house which would be available as soon as the tenant's lease expired in a couple of weeks. On the strength of this I sent our furniture ahead and, with our three preschool children, joined him.

That was almost three months ago and we are still — all five of us — jammed into a motel room with our furniture in storage and the expense of all this is ruining us! Not to mention the fact that we are all getting on each other's nerves.

Naturally, my husband calls the landlord every day about getting this tenant out but without any luck. In the meantime, of course, housing here has gotten very tight and it's practically impossible to find anything else.

The expense and the mental strain of all this is getting us down and we don't know which way to turn. Do you have any suggestions? — MRS. T.G.

ANSWER: This is one of life's stickier thorns and, while it's no consolation, the situation is probably vexing the landlord as much as it is you.

Obviously, you are in an impossible position and — unless you can find another place — the old tenant is going to have to be evicted. Unfortunately, the question of just whose responsibility it is to do this depends, largely, on where you live.

In some states the law puts the burden of bringing court action against the tenant on the landlord's shoulders and, in others, the chore is dropped in the lap of the new tenant.

I suggest that you get hold of a good lawyer and get something rolling at once before both you and your husband lose your sanity — at this stage of the game a little additional expense is absolutely necessary.

MR. CAMPBELL:

Please explain the difference between a land contract and a mortgage. Is one safer than the other from the seller's standpoint? — MISS D.K.

ANSWER: Basically, a mortgage can be defined, simply, as an instrument by which real property is made security for a debt. A land contract, on the other hand, is a form of conditional sales contract under which the buyer doesn't obtain title to the property until all, or a certain part of the purchase price, is paid.

Certainly, there's nothing wrong — from either the buyer's or the seller's — standpoint in a land contract transaction although it is generally conceded that there are probably more pitfalls for the seller in a land contract than in a mortgage.

The crucial point is this: for Heaven's sake, don't ever try to draw up such a contract yourself, or blindly accept one offered by the would-be-buyer. This is strictly lawyer's work.

MR. CAMPBELL:

In reading your recent article on how a person can get his credit restored after bankruptcy, I can see that you have not had any dealings with credit bureaus since they look down on a person who has had to file, and they do not believe in giving a second chance no matter how well he has done since then.

I should know, since, for now, I'm at a standstill as far as getting money to do the work I want to do on my house. I think this is very unfair since everyone should get a second chance. I would like to hear from you and get your advice as to what to do in this matter. — Mr. R. D.

ANSWER: I agree with you 100 per cent that everyone should get a second chance — as long as his credit record since his bankruptcy has been good.

I don't know the details of your case, of course, but if you are, indeed, being turned down purely because of your past record — and in disregard of your more recent record — then your obvious bitterness is justified. I just can't help feeling, though, that there is more to all this than appears on the surface.

We are, as you know, in a period of extremely tight money. Some appearances to the contrary, that is, there has never been a period in American history when money (hard cash) was scarcer. In all likelihood, then, you are probably being turned down on the loan you need simply because the lenders have what they consider a better use for the money or, perhaps, because they consider you overextended.

United Air Lines will inaugurate Boeing 747 jumbo jet service with a double-header feature on its two major West Coast-Hawaii routes July 23.

The airline will have simultaneous 9 a.m. departures from Los Angeles and San Francisco to Honolulu. The San Francisco flight will arrive at 11:05 a.m. and the Los Angeles 747 will come in 20 minutes later.

The giant 747s will each replace a Super DC-8 flight. The added seats in the larger planes will give United a daily one-way capacity of 3,542 passengers to Hawaii during the summer travel peak.

During the June 1-Sept. 15 season, the airline will have 19 flights daily from seven mainland cities. The heaviest concentration will be from Los Angeles with the 747 and five Super DC-8s providing a daily capacity of 1,262 seats in each direction.

United's 747s will have 48 first class and 204 coach-economy seats for a capacity of 342 passengers. The airline will have six of the jumbos in its fleet by the end of the year, with 10 more scheduled for delivery next year and two in 1972.

THE NEW MOVIEWORLD PLANES, of Fame museum, to be opened in Buena Park on June 5 is looking for some volunteer help to put World War II vintage planes back into flying condition.

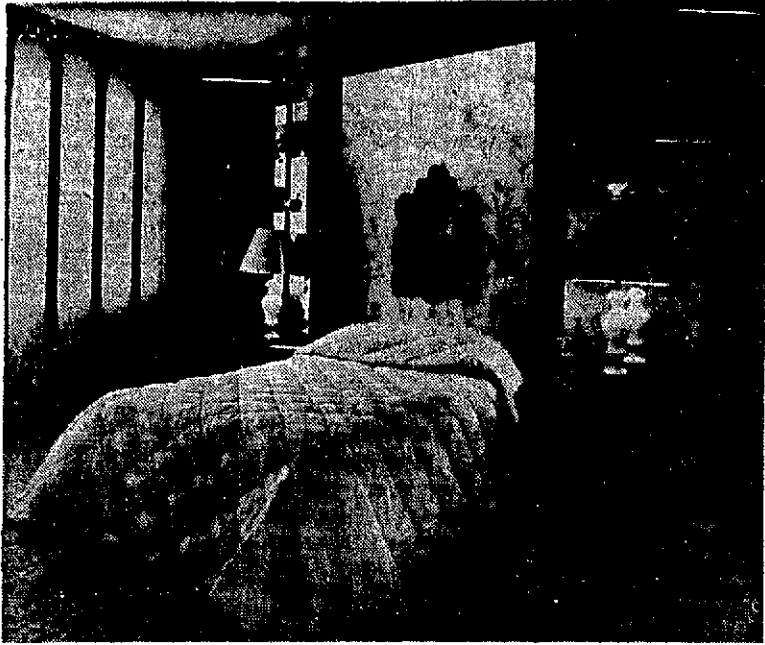

The collection of planes includes a Spitfire, Messerschmitt, P-40 "Flying Tiger," Grumman Wildcat, P-38 Lightning, Japanese Zero and others that once etched their names into history.

The planes now are located at the Air Museum at Ontario International Airport, waiting to be restored. When airworthy they will tour the nation before being put on display in Buena Park.

Edward T. Maloney, director of the museum, said: "We need qualified technicians and mechanics to join in the effort to preserve these historic planes. We especially want those who once worked on them."

Maloney said volunteers who contribute 100 or more hours will have their names placed on an honor roll to be displayed at the new museum.

Volunteers interested in aiding the cause of aviation history may contact Maloney at the Air Museum in Ontario or by phoning (714) 984-0410.

Procter & Gamble Announces Record Sales for Nine Months

The Procter & Gamble Company has announced record sales and earnings for the nine months ended March 31.

Net earnings for the nine months were $172,520,000, compared with earnings of $152,273,000 for the corresponding nine months a year ago.

Earnings per share were $2.12, an increase of 16 per cent over earnings per share of $1.82 for the same period a year ago.

The earnings per share figures for both periods reflect the two for one stock split which became effective April 24.

Worldwide net sales for the nine months were $2,214,529,000, an increase of 9 per cent over sales of $2,038,322,000 for the comparable period a year ago.

THE AVERAGE number of shares outstanding adjusted for the stock split was 81,495,261 for the nine months ended March 31, 1970 and 83,739,700 for the same period last year because the divestiture of the Clorox Company was completed Jan. 2, 1969.

The average number of P&G shares outstanding is lower than a year ago and the results for the current nine month period do not include Clorox sales and earnings.

The results for the same nine month period last year include Clorox sales of $45,509,000 and net earnings of $5,259,000.

In the nine months reported provision was made for foreign and federal income taxes of $177,941,000 surtax is included at 10 per cent through Dec. 31, 1969, and 5 per cent thereafter.

Young Families Find Bauer Homes Pleasing

Plan One at Bauer Homes in Cerritos represents a break-through for very young or more mature families, reports Pete Blair, marketing vice president of Bauer Development Co.

"If they want a two-bedroom home," Blair observed, "couples without children or with just one child usually are forced to buy an old-fashioned home in an older neighborhood, or to go very far from the city to buy a stripped economy model in a low priced neighborhood."

"Our development offers them a quality two-bedroom home that is up-to-date in design and has many of the features of more expensive homes, yet is at a close-in location."

Blair added that more mature families seem to prefer the Park Series, a 24-home neighborhood next to Pat Nixon Park on South Street.

He noted that they like the idea of being right next to a park and they also like the conventional financing available on the series.

BAUER Homes offers a choice of five different models with two to four bedrooms, priced from $24,950 to $29,950.

Included are such expensive features as custom architectural detailing, self-cleaning ovens, carpeting and draperies, front-yard landscaping and sprinklers and complete backyard fencing.

Models for both developments are on South Street, two blocks west of Bloomfield Avenue.

They may be reached by taking the San Gabriel River Freeway to South Street and driving east. Or, the Santa Ana Freeway to Orangethorpe Avenue (which becomes South Street) and driving west.

Security Pacific Opens Irvine Center Branch

An Irvine Industrial Center Branch of Security Pacific National Bank will be opened for business Monday.

Robert M. Gubrud, a former assistant vice president at the bank's Newport Center Office, will manage the new branch at 2050 Michelson Drive (east of MacArthur Boulevard).

The branch is being established in temporary quarters on the site of a proposed high-rise office building. Permanent branch quarters will be provided in the proposed high-rise building.

The Irvine Industrial Center Branch will be Security Pacific's 397th California banking location and its fourth serving Newport Beach. It will be Orange County's 42nd Security Pacific branch — the 16th to be established during the past five years.

IN CERRITOS

Casa Bonita Homes Have Yard Privacy

Casa Bonita residents in Cerritos will enjoy backyard privacy when they move into their new home.

Both side and rear yards are completely enclosed, making the yard child and pet-safe, according to a spokesman for builders Henry and Myron Reichert.

Front lawns and shrubs are planted professionally. Underground sprinkling systems make it easy to maintain year round beauty.

Casa Bonita models range from three bedrooms to the large six-bedroom plan with upstairs gallery, three baths.

All plans offer formal dining room, family room and a sunny family dining space that adjoins the fully equipped garden kitchen.

OUTDOOR meals may be served with step-saving convenience through a pass-through window that opens to patio snack bar.

The builders include FHA approved carpeting, custom mirrors and lighting fixtures in baths and powder rooms, mirrored wardrobes in master suites, and deluxe marble-topped pullmans in all bathrooms.

P-G Lines Now in L.B. Office

Prudential-Grace Lines' Southern California operation has moved its Los Angeles office to the recently opened Bank of California Building, 444 E. Ocean Blvd., Long Beach.

The move includes Prudential-Grace's agencies for both Johnson Line and Moore-McCormack Lines.

"These new offices are both larger and more streamlined, giving us a really efficient operation," stated Raymond R. Abbott, district manager for the Southern California area.

"Because we've combined our port office and Los Angeles business office into one, we can more closely coordinate our entire operation, to the benefit of our shippers."

The Johnson Line terminal, previously located at Berths 54 and 55 Outer Harbor of San Pedro, will be moved to Berth 142, Neptune Avenue, Wilmington.

M/S Annie Johnson Voyage 3 will tie up at the new terminal on her arrival April 28.

Original Microfilm in Museum

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — An original microfilm — the same model which helped convict mobster Al Capone of income tax violation — has joined the "Hall of Fame" of Eastman House, museum of historic photographic equipment.

Invented to record bank checks, the unit is one of 228 microfilmers produced by Eastman Kodak Company in 1929, one of which is credited with providing a microfilm copy of a check supporting federal charges against the gangster Al Capone in the 1930s.

A 1927 reader unit also was presented to the museum. These early microfilm units represented a historic breakthrough in the technology of record-keeping.

RANCHO REALTOR FINDS:

Youth Find Challenge in Real Estate

What kind of future is there for a young man or woman who wants to get into real estate as a career?

Low Hawkins, chairman of the Rancho Los Cerritos Board of Realtors education, has given the question some thought. Here are his observations:

As a realtor, I am sometimes asked this question.

One of the best answers I've read lately was by the recipient of a California Real Estate Association Scholarship Foundation award. A senior at the University of California, he said he wanted to get into the field because "it is deeply involved with the major issues of our day: civil rights, property rights, taxation, welfare, urban renewal, transportation, conservation, and ecology."

"There is hardly a problem or a challenge," he commented, "that can be mentioned that a person in real estate won't have the opportunity to work on, perhaps even to help solve."

MIXED in with the mundane, everyday necessity of making a living, which goes with any occupation, he's right. He can get into any of those fields if he wants to. There are many specialties within real estate practice: appraising, property management, counseling, exchanging, industrial and commercial brokerage, developing, selling homes, and apartments, financing.

All of them require an increasing amount of education and expertise. Another student at UC, studying for a master's degree with emphasis on real estate, who received a CREA scholarship, had been a successful engineer, a graduate of Georgia Tech.

"I followed the growth of the city planning field," he commented, "with great interest. In particular, I feel cognizant of poor planning policies or the lack thereof, irresponsible real estate development, lack of headway in building technology, and a general disregard for aesthetics."

HE REMARKED that he was studying real estate because he hoped to enter the development-construction business where he could make his mark felt.

Earnings in real estate occupations are usually through commissions on sales, so success is partly dependent on sales ability.

It is a licensed occupation, the state giving examinations for real estate salesman and real estate broker.

A broker may be in business for himself; a salesman may not. He must work for a broker, who is responsible for his business actions.

Once a young person has developed enough work habits and sales ability to earn a living, the possibilities for accomplishment are as great as his ability and imagination. There is educational help available in courses at the junior colleges, state colleges, and universities.

CALIFORNIA Real Estate Association also has a continuous educational program, putting on educational conferences in various parts of the state throughout the year. These are usually taught by realtors who are expert in their particular subject and give the student the benefit of practical experience.

Textbooks used for these conferences are published by California Real Estate Association one of the largest publishers of real estate texts in the nation.

Local boards of realtors also conduct educational programs. So does the National Association of Real Estate Boards and its affiliate, specialty organizations.

The development of our community, our cities, state and nation is closely tied to real estate. So are our urban problems. So are the problems of conservation, pollution, recreation, farming and ranching.

Influential Home Prices Cut $2,000 to $3,000

Prices on Influential Homes in Orange, Lakewood, and Riverside have been cut $2,000 to $3,000 by Butler-Harbour Construction Co., reports Account Marketing Manager George Fulton of Walker & Lee, Inc.

At Candlewood, in the city of Orange, the three-bedroom Parkwood model has been reduced from $31,950 to $29,950.

At Influential Homes-Lakewood, the four-bedroom, two-story Eastgate model has been cut $2,400, from $36,350 to $33,950.

At Collegewood, between Corona and Riverside, the three-bedroom Rutgers model has been slashed $3,000, to $27,900 from $30,900.

ALL OF THE homes feature carpeting, cathedral ceilings, family rooms, bonus storage areas, self-cleaning ovens, and fenced rear yards with gates.

"All of them also have more than 2,500 worth of extra quality features and future planning features not found in competitive homes," Fulton concluded.

At the intersection of Lincoln Avenue and Batavia Street, Candlewood may be reached by taking the Glassell Street off-ramp of the Riverside Freeway, going south on Glassell to Lincoln, then west on Lincoln to Batavia.

Near Centralia Road on Bloomfield Avenue, Influential Homes-Lakewood may be reached by taking the Del Amo Boulevard off-ramp from the San Gabriel River Freeway, going east on Del Amo to Bloomfield and south on Bloomfield to Centralia.

On La Sierra Avenue, just north of Magnolia Avenue, Collegewood may be reached by taking the La Sierra exit from the Riverside Freeway and heading north.

New Pacific Telephone Office Building Planned

A $350,000 mortgage loan has been arranged to construct a Pacific Telephone Co. office building in Torrance at 2908 W. 164th St.

Wallace Moir Company, Beverly Hills-based mortgage banking firm, arranged the loan between a pension fund and El Camino Properties, a partnership, and Dr. Charles A. Dello, an orthodontist and real estate investor in Rolling Hills.

The new building, to be known as the Pacific Telephone Information Center, will have a garage and lobby on the first floor, and offices and conference rooms on the second floor.

Already constructed and occupied on the site near El Camino Junior College: Taco Bell Restaurant, Stop 'n Go Market and a Kentucky Colonel Fried Chicken Restaurant.

New Towns Seen Curbing City Decay

WASHINGTON (UPI) 8 By the turn of the century, just 30 years away, as many as 30 million Americans may be living in "new towns" built either on open rural land or redeveloped sections of decaying cities.

Many urban planners believe careful construction of completely new communities is the only answer to a growing problem of urban sprawl and a deterioration of the quality of city life.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has made a cautious start at encouraging new town development. Under the 1968 Housing Act, the department can guarantee loans for the development of new communities. Only one project has been assisted so far.

HUD Secretary George Romney announced the first new town guarantee, a project in Minnesota, with some fanfare and indicated additional developments will be aided in the future.

BUT A GROUP of Democratic congressmen, including the chairmen of both the senate and house committee with jurisdiction over housing, has introduced legislation calling for substantial new town development.

The Democrat bill would establish a council on urban growth to plan orderly development of new towns. The measure also would provide direct federal financial assistance — in addition to the presently authorized loan guarantees — to get new town projects going.

A new town is a completely planned community, usually ranging in population from 50,000 to 500,000. It contains homes for a wide variety of income levels, shops, entertainment and recreational facilities.

MOST NEW towns are built within commuting range of a larger city although the new town usually is planned to provide employment opportunity for many of its residents.

IF PRESENT population trends continue, the United States will add another 100 million to its population in the next 30 years. It took more than three centuries after the first European settlers arrived for the nation to reach its first 100 million population. The next 100 million came in 100 years but the third 100 million is expected in 30 years.

Unless measures are taken to alter present patterns, 85 million of the 100 million new residents will congregate in just 12 major cities. New town advocates hope their communities will be attractive enough to lure some people away from the crowded cities.

'BE READY,' SAYS DOWNEY REALTOR

Prepare Your House for Sale

James W. Hartley, president of the Downey Board of Realtors, has some good advice for people about to sell their home:

"You've just hung up the phone, wondering if there is some last thing you can do to help. The Realtor is bringing over a couple, possible buyers of your house, to consider what they see.

"At this point there is not a whole lot you can do, except make a last trip through the rooms to make them neat, then arrange to be out of the way.

"But there is much you have done before this moment if you prepared your house to attract buyers. As a Realtor, I have seen the effect a well tended and trimmed lawn, neat shrubs, and blooming flowers can have on prospects. Here is a house they like to approach."

"THAT applies even more to the house itself. Is it inviting as they walk to the front door? A little brass polish and cleaning up goes a long way.

"Step inside. Are the walls unmarred and well painted, windows bright and cheerful, curtains and drapes clean? The stress on cleanliness is not just because it's next to Godliness; it's practical. Someone who cared for the house enough to keep it shiny and in repair would keep up the parts that don't show as well.

"And we may as well admit early that buying a house is an emotional affair as well as a practical experience. What you as the owner want to create is the desire to live there. One of the best ways is to create a sense of orderliness and attractiveness. The fact that the bathroom closet is in the wrong place will not be so important."

"EXTEND that idea to other things — fix the faucet if it leaks, apply the right tools to a sticking door. Bring order into the chaos of a storage area so prospects can appreciate the roominess, not mentally move the junk aside.

"Pay particular attention to the kitchen, that the curtains are in harmony with the floor and counter tops, that the appliances the new buyer will inherit work, that the walls don't need a coat of paint.

"I am often asked, as a Realtor, by people preparing their house for sale if they should paint it throughout, outside and in, maybe do a little remodeling here or there. Usually it isn't necessary unless, of course, it's in such bad shape as to repel."

Stardust Selects Aer-O-Lite

The Stardust Hotel, Las Vegas, has awarded a contract to Aer-O-Lite Draperies, Inc. of Garden Grove to fabricate and install draperies as part of a major refurbishing project, announced Maury Silverman, Aer-O-Lite president.

Included in the contract are measuring, manufacturing and installation of draperies and window treatments for 300 guest rooms in the existing hotel.

Overdrapes and underdrapes will be installed in the world-famed Strip hotel's rooms, Silverman said.

Drapery contracts for national facilities including hotels, apartments, medical centers, convalescent hospitals and high-rise office buildings are coordinated from Aer-O-Lite's Orange County headquarters at 10451 Park Ave., Garden Grove.

Goodyear Expert in Prediction

Record 1970 sales of $700-million for the nation's adhesives industry have been forecast by an official of the Goodyear Chemical Division. This is a $100-million increase over 1969 sales.

Samuel M. Berkowitz, manager of Goodyear's adhesives department, Ashland, Ohio, also predicted that industry sales will soar to $1.5 billion by 1975.

Berkowitz said he bases his forecast on the increasing amount of corporate commitments to reduce costs of manufacturing by improving and streamlining production techniques.

"AS PRODUCTION and automation technology increase," Berkowitz explained, "manufacturers are able to increase the use of chemical fasteners as replacements for more costly mechanical ones."

"This, in turn, will reduce manufacturing costs," he added.

Another major reason for the increased use of adhesives, according to the Goodyear official, is the growth in the prefabrication and bonding of buildings and other structures.

WITH CHECKBOOK IN HAND 'Bumbling Innocents' Cause Headaches

The woman at the supermarket checkout stand is about to write a check. When she does, it will bounce and she'll have joined the ranks of the "bumbling innocents," as they are called by the Loss Investigation department of Bank of America.

She and her cohorts — law-abiding citizens from every walk of life — daily bounce more than $1 million in rubber checks at the world's largest bank.

Roughly 20,000 checks of this type are written each day on the bank's 965 state-wide branches, according to a bank official who said each bad check averages about $50.

"BUMBLING innocents" are in a class by themselves. They cash the checks without intent to defraud, so, according to California law, they are not lawbreakers.

Sometimes, said a loss investigator, they are merely poor bookkeepers. But often, he said, they think they'll be able to make a deposit to cover the check before it is debited to their account.

Sometimes they make it. Sometimes they're too late. When they're too late, it's because high-speed data processing centers have reduced what bankers call "float time" — the length of time it takes to clear a check.

THE RAPID computer system is the reason a check can be written at a Bank of America branch in Los Angeles and bounce at a branch in San Francisco the very same day.

Downey Savings Opens Branch in Cerritos

Downey Savings and Loan Assn. opened a new branch office in the City of Cerritos this week.

The grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremony included executives from Downey Savings and civic officials from Cerritos.

The new office is at 10751 South St. and is the seventh branch for the Downey-based firm.

The Cerritos branch is housed in the South Street and Palos Verdes Avenue office temporarily, until a new permanent office can be constructed.

THIS office will open in 1971, and will be located at South Street and Gridley Avenue.

Participating in grand opening ceremonies were Maurice McAlister, president; Gerald McQuarrie, executive vice president; and Herb Hensley, coordinator of branch offices, all for Downey Savings. Representing Cerritos was Mayor Robert Witt. Special guests included banking and building executives.

Branch manager of the Cerritos office will be Richard Killeen, who has been at the Downey Savings' main office in management training and accounting.

Shields' Yorktowne Homes Offer Top Dollar Value

A common complaint heard today is that people do not get enough for their money — that with inflation and its effects, the dollar does not give true value any longer.

However, at Yorktowne in Huntington Beach, "every possible value is included in the homebuyer's dollar," stated Dick Kurth of Kurth & Associates, sales agent for the development.

Built by pioneer developer Lawrence P. Shields, these Yorktowne homes incorporate all of the latest innovations the building industry has to offer, Kurth said, including many features which would normally only be found on more expensive homes.

PRICED from $26,995, the homes are one and two-story, with two, three or four bedrooms and all come complete with the popular Shields "turn-key" package. This includes carpets, drapes, fencing and a built-in Gaffers & Sattler Medallion kitchen, said Kurth.

"Another excellent feature about these homes is that the two-bedroom models can be expanded with a minimum of cost and effort," he added, noting that this feature was only one of many which makes Yorktowne ideal for a growing family.

Located only minutes from the ocean and some of the finest beaches in California, Yorktowne residents have year-round mild climate and the huge playground of the Pacific practically at their back door, he said.

OTHER conveniences include the nearby schools — from a grade school within the community to high schools and colleges — and two of the most modern shopping centers in the Southland.

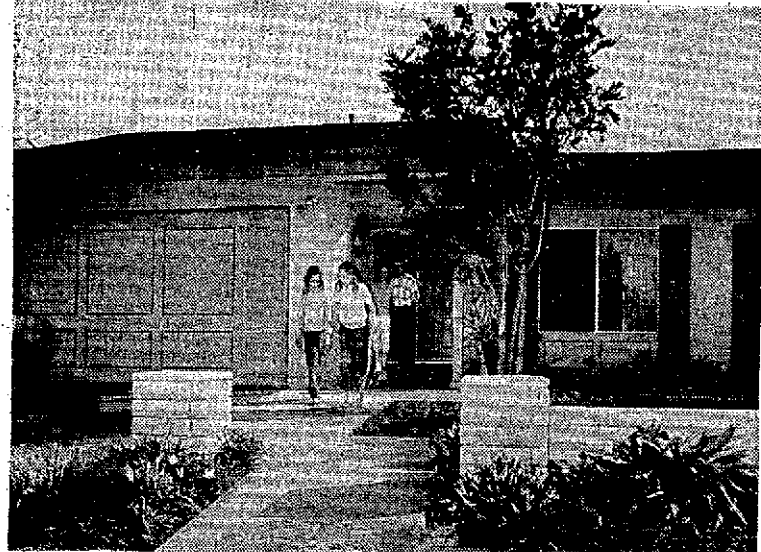

Located within walking distance and across only one secondary street is the public John B. Bushard School with grades kindergarten through eighth. The high school is within walking distance also although school buses do serve the community.

Less than a ten-minute ride away is the famous Huntington Shopping Center with its several major department stores and nearly 60 small specialty shops. Other smaller centers are also close by and the elegant South Coast Plaza is a short drive down the coast from Yorktowne.

THE NEW spring 1970 model homes at Yorktowne are part of the third unit of homes in the community and have been included as part of the overall master plan, which is to make the entire community blend together, while maintaining the feel of "custom built" in each of the homes.

To reach these "true value" homes, drive south on Brookhurst from the Garden Grove, Santa Ana, or San Diego Freeways and turn right on Yorktown Avenue to the models, one block west of Brookhurst.

Furnished and landscaped models are open daily from 10 a.m. until dusk.

OES Western Chooses Davis & Associates Firm

Expansion of both staff and clients was announced by Davis & Associates Advertising, Long Beach-based advertising agency.

President Chuck Davis said: OES Western, Inc. has appointed Davis & Associates to serve the national energy company.

OES Western, an operating division of Ohio Energy Systems, is the contractor for developing a central energy facility for the Queen Mary.

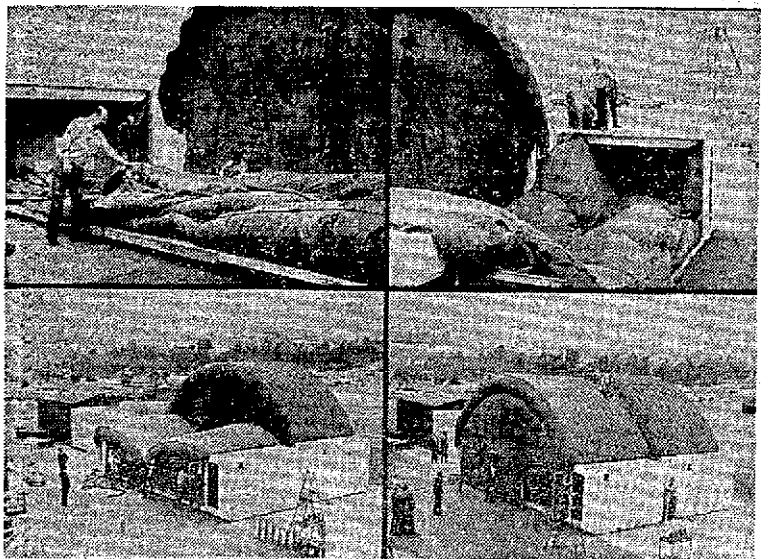

This project, now under construction on Pier J is proceeding on schedule, according to Larry Thayer, OES general manager, and will be ready to deliver cooling and heating energy to the ship this summer.

DAVIS also announced the naming of another new account in the firm of Arnold, Eaton and Durant, Inc. This long-time, Long Beach-based insurance company has selected the Davis firm to assist it in graphic development and corporate public relations.

Coupled with the acquisition of new business, Davis described changes in the agency staff.

Effective this week, Senior Art Director Michael Glover is advanced creative director. Don Davis, present account executive, is promoted to director of community relations.

The agency was established in 1966 as a one-man office.

MOBILE OPERATIONS

Modular shelters provided by the Air Force Electronic Systems Division's 407L program can be airlifted to any part of the world and can be moved quickly within an area of operations by helicopter, cargo aircraft or truck. By expanding the air-inflatable walls and roofs, and combining modules, varying configurations are obtained for TACS operations centers. In this series of photographs, four stages are shown of the erection of an intermediate command and reporting center (CCRC) the Hughes Aircraft Company plant, Fullerton. Hughes-Fullerton is developing operations centers, computers and electronics displays for the U.S. Air Force.

Vacationland, Recreational Vehicle Park to Open Soon

Vacationland, Orange County's largest recreational vehicle park, is now under construction in Anaheim and is scheduled to open in June.

Operated by Wrather Vacationland, Inc., and adjacent to the Disneyland Hotel, the park will provide hook-ups for travel trailers, motor homes, pick-up campers and tent trailers of every size.

First phase calls for 280 spaces on 10 acres. A second 10 acres is available for further development.

Vacationland will be a deluxe, limited stay park. A minimum of three nights is required for advance reservations.

FRONTING on South West Street north of the Disneyland Hotel golf complex, the park's facilities will include a large recreation hall with special television viewing area, billiard room, card playing area and lounge; a children's playground, heated and filtered pool, sanitation stations with showers, restrooms and dressing rooms, and a large laundry room with coin-operated washers and dryers.

Visitors to Vacationland will have easy access to the Disneyland Hotel's five restaurants, 28 shops and recreational facilities including 50-position golf driving range, miniature golf course and a number of attractions now being completed including marina, wharf area, fishing pond and Dancing Waters.

FIRST spaces are expected to be available for guests June 15 and reservations are being taken by the Disneyland Hotel.

Vacationland was designed by Walters and Son, Newport Beach, specialists in mobile home facilities. General contractor is H. L. Gutsch and Associates, Newport Beach.

Ecology Pavilion Message Parodies Book of Genesis

By GILBERT BAILEY
Contributing Editor

"And man said,
"Let us put our wastes in the water that the dirt will be washed away."
"And the waters became polluted and foul in their smell."

This rewrite of the Book of Genesis marks the path through a grass carpeted pavilion at California State College at Long Beach's "Ecology Fair," which started Friday at the college.

The pavilion is a mixture of light shows, voices, slides and displays, pointing up man's pollution of his environment.

At the end of the semi-circular pavilion are the words:

"On the seventh day man rested from his labors and the land was still, for man no longer dwelt upon the earth."

"And it was good."

Perhaps 1,000 Cal State students participated in building the pavilion and preparing the exhibits and programs which will carry fair through next Friday.

THE PAVILION WILL BE OPEN from 1 to 5 p.m. today and Sunday and from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. for the remainder of the week.

Friday an estimated 2,500 students, laughing in the sun, gathered to listen to Assemblyman Jess Unruh, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, speak on the environment.

"It is really nice to sit out here in the open space, as long as it is open space," Unruh told the students, as he noted building after building going up on the campus.
He urged the students to do all in their power,

"short of violence," to change state and federal government policies, policies of "polluted government."

Unruh noted that the state is spending $750 million this year on freeways and highways, but only $237,000 on rapid transit.

"We are subsidizing our own destruction," he concluded.

Unruh joked easily with the students, moving through the crowd, signing autographs.

"WHAT ARE YOU DOING about overpopulation?"
one student asked.

"I've told my wife to stop getting pregnant," he replied, before giving a serious answer on the need for birth control information.

He skirted a touch football game, which featured a talented young playing end, who could catch a mean pass.

As Unruh left, his view of nearby power plants was dimmed by a light smog.

Earlier two students had tried to explain what the fair was all about:

"Our purpose is not to present solutions, but to present a picture of an unmanaged environment," the first student said.

"We're here to celebrate what ecology is all about.
It is to enjoy life," said the second student.

Law Day Speaker Deplores Violence

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

"We are drifting away from government by consent of the majority at the ballot box, and becoming vulnerable to violence of the minority," Capt.
Charles Carr, USN (Ret.), told a Law Day luncheon Friday.

"They are not 'the people,' although they say they are," Capt. Carr asserted.

The luncheon, attended by city and harbor officials and representatives of the Navy, was hosted by James C. Adams, 3607 Country Club Drive, who said it was in appreciation for the opportunities offered in the United States.

As part of the brief program, Capt. Carr read a statement prepared by Adams in recognition of Law Day.

"This nation was founded with great hope and promise," the statement read. "The hope was that all men could unite in a society within which all could work harmoniously.

"The promise was attainment of a better life, consistent with man's unalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"The bedrock of the hope and the promise was the rule of law," Adams wrote.

Capt. Carr noted that America's founding fathers believed that law comes from the people, but that because people tend to disagree, the law must represent the beliefs of the majority.

"Demonstrations have come to mean interference with the public," he said.
"This isn't entirely bad, because the government is the people—and they are demonstrating to the people."

Capt. Carr warned, however, that demonstrations are valid only when they avoid violence.

"Law is necessary for this or any other nation," he said.

Avoid Violence, Unruh Tells CSLB Students

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Any means short of violence that will bring a quick end to further expansion of the Vietnam war into Cambodia was endorsed by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Jess Unruh at California State College at Long Beach Friday.

But he told 2,500 students on the college's central lawn that the most effective way to change U.S. policy in Southeast Asia is to elect anti-war candidates.

Unruh, who received a warm reception at the college, was the first speaker in Cal State's week-long Ecology Fair.

He said he felt a "deepening sense of disappointment and frustration" at massive U.S. military action in Cambodia this week.

"We must end the pollution of the human spirit caused by our deepening involvement in Southeast Asia," he said.

UNRUH, DRESSED CASUALLY in shirt and slacks, said he doubted that proposed faculty and student strikes at Eastern universities would effectively change President Nixon's Cambodian policies.

Neither will a proposed move to impeach Nixon, Un-ruh said.

"Irrational action is what gets hawks elected," he said. "You should carry out what you began in the Mc-Carthy campaign in New Hampshire in 1968."

"The American political system will work if people want to make it work."

The former State Assembly speaker said the most "dangerous and pervasive pollution" in America today is governmental pollution — "the acts and action of local, state and federal governments that contribute to spoiling our environment."

The government has added to pollution through oil subsidies, encouraging migration from the central cities to the suburbs and constructing more freeways instead of rapid transit systems, Unruh said.

In California, he said, Gov. Ronald Reagan's government "is so befuddled with concern for special interests that it permits — even encourages — pollution for private profit."

"RONALD REAGAN DEVOTED one-third of his state-of-the-state address to environmental pollution," Unruh noted, "but he devoted only one-three-thousandth of new dollars in his state budget to protecting the environment."

After Unruh's speech, work began again on the nearly-finished Eco-Chamber on the school's central lawn — the focal point of the CSLB Ecology Fair.

The fair continues today with a noon speech by Monte Kirvin of the San Diego Museum of Natural History on "Pesticides and the Environment." The talk is in room LA2-109.

At 2 p.m., Assemblyman James Hayes, R-Long Beach, will speak on "Auto Emissions and Legal Aspects of Air Pollution."

About 200 students attended a May Day celebration on Cal-State's lower campus after Unruh's speech Friday.

It was sponsored by the school's Experimental College and the radically-oriented Oct. 24th Coalition. The groups are seeking to establish a permanent park in the area, at Bellflower Boulevard and State College Drive.

ANNUAL LAW DAY DINNER

Cranston Addresses Bar

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

California's Democratic Senator Alan Cranston related his Senate-seat view of the rejection of Supreme Court nominee
Judge G. Harrold Carswell
Friday night to more than 350 persons at Long Beach's annual Law Day dinner.

The members of the Long Beach Bar Association and their guests also saw 15 students receive $2,500 in scholarships and four community members honored for their contributions to the ideals of law and justice.

Cranston told his audience that he and his staff had interviewed 10 attorneys who had brought cases before Carswell and received negative commentary from all of them.

"TWO OF them used almost identical terms to tell us the same thing," said Cranston. "They said,
'It seemed to me I had been up against two attorneys, and that here was no judge in the court.'"

The senator said the furor and subsequent rejection over Carswell has been
"of a constitutional nature."

"But now we may be on the eve of an even more critical constitutional struggle between the Senate and the Presidency, with the unfolding of the events in Cambodia."

Among other noteworthy guests, including city representatives, judges and lawyers, was comedian Sid Caesar, who congratulated the youthful scholarship winners.

Top scholarship winner honored by the association was 18-year-old Joellen Irvine of Lakewood High School, who received $500 in recognition of her work both in school and in the community.

OTHER TOP winners include Mia Christine Vye, 17, from Poly High, $400;
Angela Manns, 18, Poly
High, $300, and Jay Robert Lentzner, 17 Wilson High, $200.

Miss Vye has maintained a 4.0 grade average and a high interest in drama groups. Miss Manns, who carries a 3.92 grade average, is active in choir and the Poly Interracial Committee.

Lentzner, with a grade average of 3.88, is president of the Forensics Club at Wilson, a leader on the schools' debate team, and an award-winning pianist.

A $25-bond was also awarded by the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union to Sherry Piers, of Lakewood High School, for her regional winning entry in the group's national Bill of Rights Essay contest.

LIBERTY BELL AWARDS

4 L.B. Leaders Honored

By MOLLY BURRELL
Staff Writer

Two community service program directors, an educator and a minister, were honored with Liberty Bell awards at Long Beach Bar Association's Law Day
Friday night.

The awards, presented annually for "community service which strengthens the effectiveness of the American system of law" went to Mrs. Miriam

Week's Wall Street Trend

By DAVID BURKE AP Business Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took another loss the past week, penetrating what analysts considered critical support levels. On Tuesday, low point for the week, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial and the Associated Press 60-stock average both closed at their lowest level since 1963. A strong technical rally Wednesday, in which the Dow average showed its best gain in over a month, brought only a partial recovery, and the market ended the week on the soft side. Analysts said that investor pessimism, already fed by continued poor first-quarter earnings reports and concern over inflation, suffered a new jolt at news of late Cambodian developments. The Dow Jones average closed Friday at 733.63, off 13.66 for the week, while the Associated Press 60-stock average ended the week at 257.7, off 5.2. On Tuesday, the Dow average closed at 724.3, lowest since President John F. Kennedy's assassination Nov. 22, 1963, when it stood at 711.49. The Associated Press average Tuesday ended at 254.9, lowest since March 7, 1963 when it stood at 254.6. Big Board volume rose to 56.8 million shares, up from the 49 million that changed hands the previous week. Of the 1,759 issues traded the past week on the New York Stock Exchange, declines outnumbered advances by 1,189 to 439. There were 938 new lows and 6 new highs. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks closed off .78 for the week, at 44.75. Standard & Poor's 500-stock average fell 1.33 to 81.44. Among the week's 25 most-active issues, 18 declined, and 7 advanced. The most-active included Alcan Aluminum, off 1 1/2 to 23; Telex, up 10 1/4 to 99 1/4; Polaroid, off 9 1/2 to 77; Occidental Petroleum, off 1/2 to 19 1/2; and American Telephone, off 1 1/2 to 47 1/2. Prices on the American Stock Exchange also moved downward the past week. The Amex price change index closed at 21.93, off .41. Volume was 20.4 million, as compared to 15.5 million the previous week. On Tuesday, Amex prices hit their lowest level in more than two years. The price-change index closed at 21.75, lowest since March 5, 1963 when it stood at 21.97. The five most-active issues on the Amex were Milgo Electronic, up 3 1/2 to 11; Leasco Data Systems, up 1/2 to 5; Saxon Industries, off 1 1/2 to 52 1/2; Equity Funding, off 5 1/2 to 28; and AMK warrants, off 1/4 to 5. The New York and American Stock Exchanges will resume the normal 5 1/2 hour trading day Monday, closing at 3:30 p.m. EDT, which is a half hour later than at present.

Firemen Handle 3,577 Calls

Fire fighters can expect almost any kind of duty, and in 1969 those in Orange County got a major share of flood control and rescue work.

Elmer F. Osterman, the county's fire warden, who also is state forest ranger assigned to Orange County, filed his annual report Friday, listing activities of his men and their stations.

They handled 3,577 calls in 1969, a 15 per cent increase over 1968, but they reduced losses in all areas, he said.

503 to structures, 322 to

AMONG THE calls were burning cars, 83 to improvements, 219 to refuse fires and 285 to vegetation afire in the foothills or open areas.

Losses amounted to $626,885 in property and $399,210 in contents. The men figured they saved $8 million worth of property.

They lost only 249 acres of brush and range plantings, an all-time low.

Orange County's fire service operations are spread over 523 square miles and 26 fire stations, manned by 197 paid personnel and 415 paid-call volunteers.

All fire personnel, including most volunteers, were "totally involved" for several days in the record floods of February 1969, Chief Osterman recalled. They performed rescues, salvage operations and set up first aid stations and emergency shelters.

A price of $112.50 per lineal foot for constructing concrete bulkheading was quoted by Dick Masters, Inc., of Huntington Beach, Jones said.

Westminster
Court Needs
More Judges

Orange County supervisors Friday readied a request that the state legislature allot two more judges for the West Orange County Judicial District at Westminster.

The court is growing so fast that it will be doubled in size by an addition now under construction — but it now faces an overcrowded calendar and too few judges, according to Presiding Judge Cella Baker.

County supervisors voted 3 to 2 for the two-judge addition; the minority wanted one more judge.

MEDICAL CENTER TO BE REVAMPED

Seventeen projects, combined into one contract, will update several buildings and facilities at the Orange County Medical Center.

J. J. Smisek, chief of the building services department for Orange County, said Central Contracting Corp. of Costa Mesa was low bidder, asking $510,490 for the job estimated to cost $486,473. High bid was $675,152.

Fire sprinklers will be installed in two buildings, electric services will be updated, sewer lines replaced and enlarged, the emergency room enlarged, the pathological laboratory will be expanded, and a radium storage room will be built, among other improvements.

Lighting and other facilities will be improved for the clinics and classrooms used by UC Irvine school of medicine, which has a teaching unit there.

Canal Bulkhead Agreement Seen

Sunset Beach residents were told Thursday that Orange County will join them in bulkheading their properties fronting the canals, improving street ends and alleyways.

Gerald A. Jones, representing the Canal Front Property Owners' Association, said there has been a 75 per cent sign-up of owners of private properties fronting the channel, and the association hopes for a 100 per cent agreement to guarantee what he said was a low price for the bulkheading.

The county's action in joining may be a spur, he said.

A price of $112.50 per lineal foot for constructing concrete bulkheading was quoted by Dick Masters, Inc., of Huntington Beach, Jones said.

AUCTIONS LIVELY, COLORFUL

It's noisy. It's colorful and the last word in what your car and millions of others are actually worth. It's the auto auction, held daily in cities throughout the U.S. and Canada.

It is here that professional buyers and sellers of used cars gather in a carnival atmosphere to test their skill in bargaining.

To the average man or woman who thinks of auctioneering as a genteel competition to bid for antique china, the auto auction would prove a baffling but colorful contrast.

The track is fast with the average car being on the block for less than a minute. In that minute, buyers appraise its worth and bid accordingly. The car is sold, or the offer is refused by the seller and another car is quickly driven in place.

In some auctions as many as four lanes of cars and a like number of auctioneers are in action at once. Each auctioneer is equipped with a microphone, a length of rubber hose which he slams on the desk for emphasis and a set of lungs that would put a hog-calling champion to shame.

Adding to the decibel level is a crew of men among the bidders who serve as combination cheer leaders, kibbitzers and spotters of the furtive bids from the buyers.

Meanwhile the auctioneer is chanting the bidding, wise-cracking, ("If I could buy a car that cheap, I'd be down there bidding, not up here selling") and pleading for reason ("There's no way you can buy this Caddy for less than a Chevy!")

Out of this study in chaos comes the hard-headed evaluation of what a car is really worth. To bid too low means that the seller will not accept the bid. To bid too high can mean the difference between a profit and a loss on the resale.

To even be considered for sale at an auction, cars must appear in almost new condition. Mechanical condition of the car must be honestly represented by the seller.

How do the pros who attend these auctions judge the cars before bidding?

Hal Humphries of APTCO Auto Auction near Detroit says, "The first thing to attract a buying dealer is the appearance of the car. Body repairs must be perceptible only to the trained eye, if at all. A sloppy job of bumping and refinishing can be spotted instantly. Most often, the dealer attending the auction will stay away from a car like this rather than get involved in a costly refinishing job."

William Jacobs, a Columbus, Ohio, car auctioneer says, "The owner who has the foresight to keep his car in top-notch shape may come out as much as $300 to $400 ahead of the man who has neglected the same make and model."

If you're pulling any one of these you may need a TRAVELALL®

Travel Guides Available

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The 1970 edition of the Mobil Travel Guide will be in Mobil service stations and bookstores across the country within the next few weeks. Travelers and vacationers can save up to $122 through the use of "Guest Certificate" discount coupons for major resort and tourist attractions included in the Guide.

According to Arnold Fury, Mobil's Travel Promotions Manager, Guide users have reported that the book has also helped save them money through the book's check-rating system. "Traveling with a Guide," he stated, "is one of the proven ways to stretch vacation dollars."

The 1970 edition quality rates almost 24,000 restaurants, motels, hotels and resorts on a one star to five star basis. The ratings are established annually by over 70 Mobil Travel Guide inspectors and user checked on the basis of over 30,000 reader reactions each year.

Thirty-five establishments earned five stars, best in country, rating in the new 1970 edition — nine resorts, ten hotels, twelve restaurants and four motels.

Included in this elite group are such well-known attractions as the C Lazy U Ranch in Cranby, Colorado, the Boca Raton Club in Boca Raton, Florida, Le Pavillion in New York City, the Homestead in Hot Springs, Virginia, Pi-gall's in Cincinnati, Ohio, the Century Plaza in Los Angeles and the Blue Fox in San Francisco.

Detailed information is listed alphabetically describing points of interest and travel accommodations for almost 5,000 cities and towns in the United States. Over 400 of the listings carry a checkmark. This means they offer an exceptionally good value for the rated service they offer.

Another first for the Mobil Travel Guide is the inclusion of details describing a new free NDC Instant Reservations system for motorists and vacationers. Toll free, telephone numbers are listed by state so that hotel reservations may be made and confirmed by computer in seconds. When fully developed, Mobil expects this new service will help eliminate one of the major causes for travel anxiety.

Other Mobil Travel Guide features include road atlases, city maps and detailed auto tours to points of either scenic or historical interest. "Guest Certificates" are included with discount admission prices for popular tourist attractions. Each listing in the seven-volume Guide is coded to indicate which major credit cards are accepted.

The seven volumes cover California and the West, the Great Lakes region, Middle Atlantic States, Northeastern States, Northwest and Great Plains States, Southeastern States and the Southwest and South Central area. Each 8½x11 inch volume sells for $2.95.

Control Studied

Cadillac Motor Car Division, Detroit, is adding a new multi-million dollar emission control facility to its engineering center, according to George R. Elges, general manager of the division and vice president of General Motors.

"The two-story building will provide facilities in which our engineers and manufacturing personnel will share new equipment for the development of future emission control systems and for performing audits of present production emission systems," Elges said.

"With construction now under way, the building will be operational by March, 1971," Elges reported.

"More than 25,000 sq. ft. of floor space will be utilized by special engine and chassis dynamometers and a temperature controlled pre-test area where cars can be kept for a 12-hour period prior to testing as required for Federal Government Certification," Elges explained.

He added, "This move will more than double our existing capacity and equipment to keep ahead of the increasing requirements of emission control activity."

Natural Gas Bus Fuel Eyed

The Southern California Rapid Transit District plans to test natural gas as a smog-fighting fuel for its buses.

One bus will be converted from diesel power to natural gas for comparison with others in the fleet. If results warrant it, nine buses would be converted for testing.

The plan was announced Tuesday by the district, which operates only buses, the Air Pollution Control District and the Pacific Lighting Service Co.

FIRST CALIF. SHIPMENT

Used Car Cleaner Air Package for installation on 1955 through 1967 Chrysler-produced cars and light trucks is on the way to company parts depots near Los Angeles. The simple, inexpensive ($12.50, not including installation) yet effective package for combating pollution caused by automobile exhaust emissions is expected to achieve emission reductions on typical older vehicles of 50 per cent less hydrocarbons, 50 per cent less carbon monoxide and 30 per cent less oxides of nitrogen. The kit, held here by Charlotte Atkinson, consists of a vacuum advance control valve, a hose and an idle screw locking tab. The kit, which can be installed in less than one hour, is available through dealers to owners of Chrysler products.

Plugs Fire 15 Million Times in 10,000 Miles

Your car's spark plugs may look mighty little but they are more than a little mighty when it comes to providing electrical energy.

Engineers at the Detroit Edison Company calculate that a set of spark plugs transmits enough electrical power during their normal service life to run all your household appliances for 15 months.

Spark plugs fire 15 million times during 10,000 miles of operation. During each of these charges, 20,000 to 25,000 volts of electricity is fired into the combustion chamber. This is the voltage needed to ignite the gasoline-air mixture which in turn gives the engine power to help propel the car.

Starting with 10 basic volts of electricity, the car's ignition system multiplies the voltage available 2,000 times. Any leakage of that voltage, through defective parts, causes the spark plugs to misfire and hinders good combustion.

Misfire wastes gasoline, causes loss of power and in extreme cases engine damage.

Champion Spark Plug Company engineers remind you to make sure your car gets all the electrical power it needs. They say, visit your favorite service outlet and pay your electric bill in terms of a tune-up every 10,000 miles or every year, whichever comes first.

Hearst Castle Awesome Sight

Nowhere in all the world will you see another residence quite like William Randolph
Hearst's "La Casa Grande," atop his fabled
"La Cuesta Encantada"
(The Enchanted Hill) at San Simeon.

This amazing 100-room castle in the heart of the Hearst family's 275,000-acre ranch is filled with art treasures from Spanish convents and cathedrals, from Italian monasteries, from French chateaux and churches, from Greek and Roman temples, from English castles and Egyptian tombs.

Hearst spent $1-million a year for 50 years collecting art treasures to fill his castle. He spent $30-million erecting the fantastic structure, 5½ miles up his hill from Route 1. He died in 1951 at the age of 88. His family presented this medieval Shangri-la and its unbelievable riches to the state for public exhibit in 1958.

People have come from all over the world to see it. Two separate tours are conducted by the State Division of Beaches and Parks, each lasting two hours. The Downstairs or Garden Tour costs $2. ($1 for children 6 to 12.) The new Upstairs Tour of Hearst's private celestial suite, his Gothic library and numerous other rooms, seldom shown while Mr.

Hearst was alive, costs
$4. ($3 for children 6 to 12.)

While Hearst lived here guests included Winston Churchill, President Coolidge, George Bernard Shaw and many other famous people. Every room is different, a museum in itself. For example, one room has a Pompeian tile mosaic floor dating to 60 B.C.
Outside is the white marble Neptune Pool, studded with antique-green marble mosaics, surrounded with statuary, with an ancient pillared colonnade leading to a classic Greek temple. It is considered one of the most beautiful pools in the world.

Air Bath Vital Part

A dirty air cleaner on your car's engine can cost you up to thirty-two dollars a year in wasted gasoline — to say nothing of extra engine wear from added grime. Let your engine breathe easy — check the carburetor air cleaner often and replace when recommended.

Emission Control Proposed by Ford

Ford Motor Company has applied to the State of California for formal accreditation of a used car emission-control system for its older models.

"Testing in government fleets indicates the Ford used car system can reduce exhaust emissions of hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and oxides of nitrogen by approximately 50 per cent," Lee A. Iacocca, president of Ford North American Automotive Operations, said.

"As soon as our system is officially accredited by the California Air Resources Board, we will offer it nationally," he said.

Ford actually started the accreditation process in February by requesting California approval of a test fleet of 20 cars to prove out a selected variety of pre-1966 engines. The state has approved the company's plans and 4,000-mile tests on the vehicles will begin immediately at Ford's Michigan Proving Ground at Romeo.

Ford first announced development of used car controls last December. In February, a cooperative test program was initiated on federal government cars at the Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

Last month, a similar program was started at Los Angeles with cars owned by the California Department of Highways.

Components of Ford's used car control system include:

Installation of a coolant temperature-sensitive vacuum switch to control the vacuum signal to the distributor.

Lean carburetor idle mixture adjustment, which may be established through use of an exhaust analyzer recently developed by Ford's Service Research Center and Honeywell, Inc.

Increased idle speed by about 100 revolutions per minute.

Retarded initial spark timing.

Lean choke thermostatic bi-metal setting.

Modification of distributor spark advance on six-cylinder models.

Parts in the conversion kit will have a suggested retail price of about $10 time will average one hour. The total installed cost will depend on hourly labor rates which vary from one location to another. Cost of the Ford kit would not include an engine tune-up which, although not required with the conversion, may be desirable for customer at dealerships. It is estimated that installation satisfaction.

There's Car Theft Every 45 Seconds

Every 45 seconds an automobile is stolen somewhere in the United States.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation figures, 700,000 automobiles are stolen in this country annually, making car theft the greatest national crime against personal property. It is a crime, statistics show, which has increased 101 per cent since 1960.

Safety authorities suggest motorist: take certain precautions to reduce auto theft risk. They advise drivers to:

(1) Lock your car doors and ignition every time you park. Professional thieves are adept at breaking into locked doors, but locked ignition and doors do deter "joy riders" looking for a car they can jump into and drive off. Also, lock doors when parking in front of your home or in your driveway. More than half of car thefts take place in residential areas.

(2) If possible, park in a well-trafficked, lighted area.

(3) In pay lots, take keys with you, if permitted.

(4) Remember not to leave packages or clothing in plain view in your parked car. Police say many thieves, bent first on car pilfering, also decided to steal the automobile.

(5) Don't keep registrations or other vital documents in the glove box.

$11.5 BILLION BENEFITS ANNUALLY

Interstate Road Expected to Save 8,300 Lives a Year When Complete

With over two-thirds of the Interstate Highway System already open to traffic, the day is close when the 42,500-mile network of controlled-access roads is finished and its benefits can be enjoyed to the fullest. At the end of fiscal year 1969, 28,219 miles were in use, construction was taking place on another 5,259 miles, and preliminary engineering or right-of-way acquisition was under way on an additional 6,956 miles. Mileage opened totaled 67 per cent, while some form of work was under way or completed on 40,434 miles — about 95 per cent of the 42,500 miles.

Some $37.2 billion has been put to work on the system since the accelerated program began in 1956. Work completed cost $26.57 billion and work under way or authorized as of June 30, 1969, totaled $10.63 billion.

By F. C. TURNER
Federal Highway Administrator

The federal share of the cost is 90 per cent, financed by the Highway Trust Fund which is supported entirely by federal road user taxes.

Of the many user benefits stemming from the Interstate System, probably the most welcome and the most important is the saving of lives.

For each five miles of the system opened to traffic, a life is saved during each year thereafter. Because it is designed and built with primary interest for safety, the system is expected to save at least 8,300 lives annually once it is finished.

Interstate travel is more than twice as safe as on conventional roads replaced by the new IS routes.

Although it constitutes only a bit more than 1 per cent of the country's 3.7 million miles of roads and streets, the system will carry at least 20 per cent of the nation's traffic, and will link together more than 90 per cent of America's cities with populations of 50,000 or more.

It has been estimated that when the system is finished, user benefits will total about $11.5 billion a year due to lower operating time, accident and strain-of-driving costs.

The system is providing a new mobility for the movement of people and goods.

Business and vacation travel takes less time than formerly.

More recreational opportunities are accessible.

Driving is more comfortable.

Trucking operations are more efficient and deliveries are faster. Farm products are shipped more quickly and with less loss from spoilage.

But of most benefit, it is truly a life saver.

In 1968, an estimate submitted to Congress by the Federal Highway Administration fixed the cost of the then-41,000-mile system at $56.5 billion, of which the federal share was $50.6 billion.

But that same year, Congress increased the mileage from 41,000 to 42,500 to fill missing critical links between major cities.

The cost of the system necessarily will rise, and a new estimate will be submitted to Congress in 1970.

The I-system is a pay-as-you-go program. When it is finished it will be fully paid for with no long term indebtedness hanging over its future.

Pismo Beach Clams Known Far, Wide

Pismo Beach is the clam capital of the world, where clamming is a year-round sport. Motels and hotels lend their guests long-handled clam forks and buckets. You thrust the fork into the sand, far out from shore at low tide. Those over 16 need a state fishing license, which costs $1 for 3 days. Ten clams a day is the limit per person, and the minimum size 4 1/2 inches. Naturally, all Pismo seafood houses feature the best clam chowder in the world. Follow Route 1 south through Grover City and Guadalupe to Orcutt. Then south on Route 1 past sprawling Vandenberg Air Force Base, where you just may see a Minuteman, Titan 2 or Thor scorch the skies on its 5,000-mile blast down the Pacific Missile Range to Kwajalein Lagoon. Next stop is Lompoc, flower-seed capital of the world, the most fragrant city in the Western Hemisphere.

SHOPPING CHECK LIST

Emergency Equipment

Few of us keep our cars equipped for the unexpected, which may confront us.

If you are among the millions of unprepared motorists, you can correct the condition quickly and inexpensively.

Begin with the following shopping list of ten items. Stored neatly in a carton in the trunk of your car, these should prepare you for most roadside emergencies.

1. FIRST AID KIT . . . Check the American Red Cross for proper contents — such things as water, paper cups, a blanket, certain bandages, etc.

2. FIRE EXTINGUISHER . . . Buy a good one and practice using it — before you have to. A CO-2 or 2½ pound (or larger) dry chemical extinguisher is recommended.

3. FLASHLIGHT . . . Use it to read a map, find a key or house number at night. And get one with a magnet so it can be placed on the side of the car to free your hands while you are changing a flat tire.

4. TIRE INFLATOR . . . The pressurized can is easy to use and will help you get to the nearest service station for a tire change. In fact, there are times when it is downright unsafe to change a tire yourself — traffic conditions, weather, position of the car, time of day, etc.

5. FUSES . . . Your auto store or service station man can tell you how many of what type you will need. If you can't figure out fuse locations from your owner's manual, ask your service man to help you. It can be a frustrating search when you have no lights.

6. FLARES . . . When you're in trouble on a dark road, reflector flares or emergency flashers are friends indeed. These are available at most auto supply stores. Place yours 50 feet behind and ahead of your car to alert oncoming traffic of your predicament.

7. BATTERY JUMPER CABLE . . . This can be worth its weight in platinum when you are stranded with a dead battery and another motorist comes to your aid.

8. TWO 4x4 WOOD BLOCKS . . . about 12 inches long, to block the wheels while you jack up the car for a tire change — if you've forgotten your tire inflator. "Checked" wheels keep the car from rolling off the bumper jack.

9. DISPOSABLE WASHCLOTH. You'll be glad you have it after you've worked with the battery jumper cable.

Penny's Worth of Tire Care

Quiet Killer

A tip to car owners — invest a Lincoln penny in your family's future. Why a Lincoln head penny?

Insert a penny head first into the tread grooves of each tire. If the head of "Honest Abe" can be seen, the tire has worn to a dangerous point and should be replaced.

Keep Autos Serviced

MOTORISTS MUST HELP FIGHT SMOG

Clean air will be obtained sooner in this country if the motorist assumes his share of the responsibility.

According to George M. Galster, director of automotive technical services for Champion Spark Plug Company, "the auto industry has already made and will continue to make tremendous improvements in achieving cleaner air.

In a few years the internal combustion engine promises to be virtually free of harmful emissions.

"However, clean air will not be attained until the operators of these vehicles maintain them at levels and at intervals somewhere near those recommended by the manufacturers.

"Very simply, cars with engines in substandard condition are reducing the effects of improvements being made by the auto makers," Mr. Galster said.

He cited Champion studies, reporting that a five percent incidence of engine misfiring will increase harmful emissions about three times the normal rate. This is true whether or not the vehicle is equipped with an emission control device.

The misfire can be due to worn out spark plugs, wrong plug application or by long periods of slow speed, or start-stop driving. Other ignition or fuel system malfunctions also can increase unwanted emissions.

Galster also referred to an independent study showing a seven per cent reduction in unburned hydrocarbons and a 10 per cent reduction in carbon monoxide emissions after a tune-up.

Galster remarked that well over half of the vehicles in the United States need at least minor tune-up work, and the majority of motorists are not aware, or do not care, that their cars are operating inefficiently.

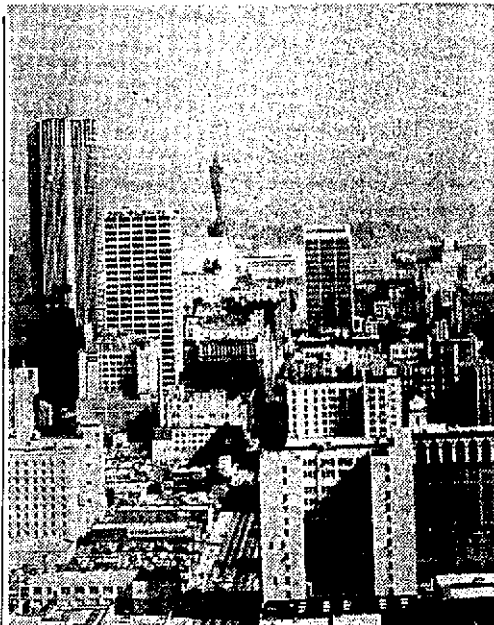

Galster said, "The insidious thing about this situation is that the driver of the modern V-8 engine can experience a considerable amount of misfire without knowing it.

VIEW OF LOS ANGELES ON SMOGGY DAY

At constant speeds there could be as much as 10-20 per cent misfiring without the driver being aware of much difficulty."

He said to make sure emission control efforts by manufacturers achieve maximum results, motorists should also remind their favorite service outlet to follow manufacturers specified tune-up settings.

Special Edition of Barracuda

AAR CUDAS ARE NEW OFFERING

A special edition of the Plymouth Barracuda — called the AAR 'Cuda and powered by a new engine — has been announced by the Chrysler-Plymouth Division.

The initials for the AAR 'Cuda stand for international racing star Dan Gurney's All-American Racers team, said Glenn E. White, Chrysler-Plymouth's general manager. Gurney will drive a Barracuda on the Trans-Am circuit this season.

The AAR 'Cuda, which will be sold by Chrysler-Plymouth dealers, features a special version of Plymouth's 300 cubic inch engine. It has three two-barrel carburetors, special cylinder heads, and a modified block and valve train for greater durability and performance.

Either a four-speed manual transmission or a TorqueFlite automatic transmission can be ordered with the car.

The car is equipped with a 3.55 axle with Sure Grip. A 3.91 ratio is optional. Power disc front brakes are standard.

The AAR 'Cuda has a flat black grille and a stripe which runs the length of both sides of the car ending at the rear in an "AAR 'Cuda" decal with the "AAR" in the form of the Dan Gurney All-American Racers crest in red, white and blue.

The car's suspension includes special front and rear sway bars and heavy duty shocks. Special heavy duty rear springs raise the rear end of the AAR 'Cuda to make room for a Trans-Am type exhaust system with side outlets, and also provide room for extra large rear G60x15 inch tires. Front tires are E60x15 inch. Road wheels are standard.

The hood, cowl and fender tops are flat black. Ornamentation includes a black strobe

SAYS SEARS

Remade Engines Popular

"Mister, your engine is shot!"

After hearing these discouraging words from your favorite mechanic, chances are your first impulse is to call the nearest scrap yard.

But there's another possible answer. And that's having a remanufactured engine installed.

If your car's body and interior are in poor condition, perhaps the junkyard is the proper resting place for the vehicle. But assuming your car is sound other than the engine, you'll save by installing a remanufactured mill.

According to Sears, one out of every nine vehicles in the nation is operating with remanufactured engines.

A remanufactured engine differs from an overhauled one by the fact that the camshaft and crankshaft in the former is remade. More than 250 new parts are replaced in the remanufacturing process.

In addition it is customary to install new spark plugs, a new or rebuilt carburetor, new fuel pump, fresh hoses and belts as well as new filters in the remanufacturing process.

It is also important to have the radiator rodded. New or remanufactured parts fit so tightly that they put a special burden on the water pump to keep the engine cool. If the radiator is clogged through rust or corrosion, the engine may soon run hot.

An untuned car is all kinds of trouble! But it's trouble you can avoid right now by getting a Champion Tune-Up. That's a new set of Champion spark plugs plus other basic tune-up items your car may need. You'll enjoy quicker acceleration for safer passing, and better gas mileage too. And make sure you specify a Champion Tune-Up. More than 20 million motorists have already switched to Champion from other brands. The reason? Better performance! Tune up with Champions once a year—or every 10,000 miles.

The heart of a tune-up!

Frequent Check on Car Pays Off

"Use it up, wear it out; Make it do, or do without"

This bit of doggerel was popular in a more simple, less affluent yesterday. The trick was to make things last as long as possible, whether it was an all-day sucker or a suit of clothing.

It is ironic that today, when the philosophy seems to be "Use it up quickly and get another one," some products are actually built to endure longer.

Take the modern car, for example.

There is no question that today's automobile is built to last.

Tires, for example can actually give service ten times longer than they did years ago.

Paints are more durable, bodies are better prepared to withstand deterioration.

Engines are better built to cope with punishment that was undreamed of only 20 years ago.

In fact, every component has a lab-tested durability going for it.

The secret of taking advantage of built-in strength lies in a conscientious program of maintenance. By practicing such a program, you stand to save in several important ways.

First, you preserve your car's vital components from premature wear. A timely squirt of lubricant here, a quart of oil there often can prolong engine and chassis life, avoiding lengthy and expensive sessions in the service bay.

Periodic service also saves you money as you go. Tune-ups save gasoline mileage and cut short chances of engine damage and road service calls. Proper wheel alignment and balancing add miles to tire life.

Frequent washing and waxing stop body and paint deterioration. And when you do trade in the car, the money you spent in maintenance also will be returned, at least in part, by a higher trade-in value.

Even if good car care weren't economically wise, you'd still benefit measurably from its practice — especially at this time of year. Nothing can ruin a spring and summer holiday trip like a breakdown which at best can cost you time and money and at worst could lead to a serious accident.

Somehow the most scenic road you can travel becomes a drab, miserable stretch of highway when your car has quit running on it.

Stop by your favorite service outlet and make your car run better and last longer. And don't be surprised if more frequent stops to your bank — to add to your savings, not take from them.

This section is devoted to advice on how to keep your car running safer, longer and more enjoyably. Read it and reap.

Checkup on Lube

When you get that pre-vacation lubrication at your favorite service outlet, you're likely getting more than a freshly-greased chassis.

Chances are you're also taking out an anti-breakdown insurance policy.

According to Chex-Chart Corporation, more service outlets are conducting safety inspections every time the car is on the hoist for a lubrication.

The importance of such inspection is increasing since extended lubrication intervals recommended by manufacturers mean that cars are on the hoist less frequently.

Chex-Chart recommends the following components be inspected during a lubrication and any necessary defects be corrected:

- Brake system
- Steering, suspension
- Shock absorbers
- Tires and wheels
- Exhaust system
- Fuel system
- Cooling system
- Drive line units

Threaded fasteners

Seat belts

Electrical system

Lights and horn

Locks and latches

Visibility items such as glass, wipers, washers,

mirrors and defrosters

In inspecting these systems, a trained mechanic will check for various fluid leaks or low levels of lubricants. Particularly sensitive areas are brake fluid reservoirs, master cylinder leakage, power steering fluids, shock absorber and drive line lubricants.

If you spot any leakage on your driveway or garage floor, bring it to the attention of your mechanic.

Mission

The beautiful old city of Santa Barbara is so deep in its Spanish heritage that its railroad roundhouse was patterned after a Spanish bull ring.

Its magnificent Spanish-style courthouse on Anacapa Street is well worth visiting.

So is the Mission Santa Barbara at Los Olivos and Laguna Streets, one of the best-preserved of all Spanish missions.

There are also a number of picturesque Old Spanish adobes, most of which are open to visitors. You'll probably want to take pictures of Santa Barbara's many delights. Just beyond the city, head right on Route 154, over the easy slope of San Marcos Pass, with its gorgeous panorama of ocean and offshore channel islands.

QUEEN MARY WHEEL

TURN SIGNALS WORKING, HEADLIGHTS ADJUSTED?

How long has it been since someone made a left turn in front of you without signaling? Probably not since yesterday.

You snarled at him for not using his turn signals. But did it occur to you that maybe his turn signals were out of order, and he didn't even know it?

Incidentally, are yours working? For some reason, we seem to know less about what lights are working on our cars than about anything else. When you hit the brake pedal, do you really know whether or not your brake lights, turn on?

How many drivers have mumbled to themselves about yours recently? Burned out lights account for most discrepancies in reports from diagnostic centers around the country.

Even the driver whose lights all burn like blazes may have his lighting problems, too: Improperly aimed headlights. This is the driver who appears to have his high beams on as he heads your way. But your up-and-down flash warning finds that those were his low beams blinding you — aimed too high.

Meanwhile, there is someone else groping along, unable to see because his lights — at least one of them — has dropped so low it can't light the road that lies ahead.

Drooped. That's the term. For headlights can do just that, even if it is barely perceptible to you. But they are adjustable devices which mechanics can keep aimed where they should be aimed.

Too high, too low, or too much to one side or another, and a driver is temporarily blinded, for all intents and purposes.

The adjustment should be checked every six months. If your man is properly equipped, he will have an electronic checker to keep you right on the beam.

It will tell him if your beams are up to power, too. Headlamps can lose their brilliance after a while.

Whether your lights are out, drooping or cross-eyed, they are trouble for you if they are not up to snuff. Better have them checked now.

RAINY ROAD RACER

This racing tire with built-in "gutters" and "downspouts" to channel rainwater from underfoot has been developed by Goodyear for United States Auto Club road course events. Designed specifically to provide superior traction on wet racing surfaces, it is more than twice as wide, across the tread face, as a high-performance passenger car tire.

Famous as Spa

Palm Springs has more than 3,000 swimming pools, one for every five permanent residents. And what residents!

The chamber of commerce listed a hundred and one Hollywood celebrities having homes here, from Desi Arnaz to Darryl Zanuck. Many own stores, hotels, and other businesses, and sometimes will be seen waiting on customers.

The Desert Museum, just off the main thoroughfare, on Indian Avenue at Tahquitz Drive, is a treasure house of Indian and desert lore.

The Palm Springs Aerial Tramway, one of the world's longest, offers a spectacular ride to a mountain station 5,873 feet high on Mt. San Jacinto. The change can be from sunsuit weather to snow in fifteen minutes. (Adults, $2.95; 13-15 yrs., $1.95; 4-12 yrs., $1; Parking 50c.) A great opportunity for taking pictures!

1 in 6 North Americans Is a Camper

By BOB BOELIO
A.A.A. Motor News

Remember when you and a buddy once pitched a pup tent for an overnight stay beside a stream in the woods a few miles from home and thought it was great?

Camping out, you called it.

Now you may be among those families who pull a travel trailer or camper vehicle to woods many miles from home and still think it's great.

Outdoor living, we call it now.

One of every six North Americans is now a camper, according to best estimates. For an inexpensive family vacation that offers relaxation and a place to stay in nearly all areas of the U.S., Canada, and even foreign lands, camping is hard to beat.

Whether the camping growth is a result of the vast array of equipment available, or whether the public's interest in learning to camp brought improved equipment is moot. But there is agreement that interest in camping has grown to unbelievable proportions in the last 25 years and the boom continues.

It is now a year around activity. The popularity of skiing, snowmobiling, ice fishing and other cold weather sports, together with better equipped vehicles, has helped to make camping enjoyable the year around in the U.S. and Canada.

Camp grounds have been increasing in the U.S. and Canada at a rate of about 1,000 a year, providing about 25,000 new sites annually.
A large number are private. These offer fine accommodations to campers willing to pay a little extra for their outdoor living.

Ten years ago they could be counted in the hundreds. Today there are more than 3,000.
While some are modest,
others are on the posh side, offering swimming pools, recreation facilities, supervision for children, clubhouses, and guided excursions to points in the area.

The U.S. government now has developed camp grounds and more primitive camping areas in 30 national parks and more than 150 national forests, including wilderness areas where there are no roads and vehicles are prohibited. Such areas are for the experienced camper. Certain other national areas also permit camping.

The states have provided camping sites in state parks, state forests and other state-owned areas.
Counties, townships and cities often provide camping facilities.

Most public camp grounds charge a nominal fee. A few are free.
Most operate on a first come, first served basis, though reservations are accepted at some state parks.

Length of time required for advance reservations varies. At the United States' southernmost camp ground, Bahia Honda State Park, near Key West Fla., all camping space for the Christmas holidays was booked by the end of July, 1969.

National parks and similar areas draw the largest number of campers each year, about 40 million, while state parks attract more than 25 million.

For all these campers
there are more than 10,000 camp grounds in the U.S. and Canada, including federal, state and private, with about 200,000 campsites. California has the largest number of camp grounds, most of them in national forests. Trailing California are New York, where most camp grounds are private, Colorado, Michigan, Oregon, Minnesota, Alaska, Idaho and Montana. Ontario is the leader in Canada, followed by British Columbia.

Most Mileage Is Clocked in the Summertime

Late summer presents a special threat for drivers that can be more treacherous than ice.

After a dry spell, a light rain or drizzle creates a thin, greasy film on smooth road surfaces. It is slick, and it is dangerous, because drivers are not concerned about skidding at this time of the year.

Bald tires increase the danger. More miles are driven during the summer than at any other time of the year and without realizing it, tires may wear beyond the safe point. When there is less than 2/32" of tread remaining, according to tire experts, your tires are unsafe.

UNDER dangerous driving conditions, reduced speed and extra caution are obvious accident prevention measures. However, a double measure of safety is to keep your tires in good condition.

You can substantially increase tire life by having them rotated about twice a year. By putting tires in different positions on the car (left front to left rear, left rear to right front, and so on around the car — according to instructions for your make and model), your tires, including the spare, eventually will have taken their turns in all positions, thereby equalizing wear.

THIS semi-annual procedure also provides a good opportunity for your automotive serviceman to look for cuts, bruises or other damage.

Another part of semi-annual tire care should be a check of wheel balance and alignment. Both have a serious bearing on tire wear and will affect your car's handling ability and driving comfort.

Once a month, have the air in the tires checked. An underinflated tire will wear rapidly at the outer edges; overinflation causes wear at the center.

ONE FINAL tire care fact especially important during the summer: excessive heat is a tire's worst enemy. It results from a flexing of the tire body. The faster you drive, and the more load you carry, the more your tires will flex.

Tires can get sizzling hot at high speed on a summer day. When they hit 250 degrees (considered their critical temperature), wear is rapid and you may be in danger of complete tire failure.

Your tires are the only contact between you and the road. Should they fail, you are in danger. Also, they represent a substantial portion of the total value of your car. So, both in safety and in economy, proper tire care is like money in the bank.

TRIP MAY BE SHORTER THAN PLANNED FROM LOOKS OF HER TIRES

8 of Ten Wipers Faulty

Eight out of ten cars have unsafe windshield wipers, according to a recent survey by a major oil company.

Why would such an important item as wiper blades be so neglected on such a high percentage of cars? It's like a hole in the roof. People don't want to bother when it's raining — and when it stops raining there's no need to worry.

Wiper blades go dead in six months or less due to exposure to sun, wind and oily road film.

When they go dead and start streaking the windshield, they should be replaced.

Night driving is particularly dangerous when oncoming headlights are magnified in the smear caused by streaking wipers.

When replacing the wiper blade, it's a good idea to have the wiper arm pressure tested. If the tension is too weak, the arms can't do an adequate job.

While you're at it, be sure to have your windshield washer solution checked, and refilled if necessary. You don't want to be out of washer solution just when you need it most.

Accessories to Enhance Joy of Motoring

A man walks up to his car, inserts a key into a lock on the front fender, turns it, takes another key to unlock the driver's door, climbs in, starts the engine and drives off.

That man isn't taking any chances. He's burglar-proofed his car — something more and more owners are doing these days.

The auto burglar alarm, which is de-activated by turning the lock in the exterior of the car before getting in, (and which, incidentally, can set up a "ho") that can be heard for a block) is one of hundreds of accessories that are available to today's car owner.

If you're worried about car thieves, get an auto burglar alarm. From $29.95.

Or how about a set of wheel lock nuts? For a couple of dollars per ten tire thief from taking wheel you can discourage off with your wheels and even the most hard bit-tires. The lock looks like a regular wheel lug, but it cannot be removed without first using a key.

"Auto accessories is a brisk business," says Ed Gutowski who runs Hollywood Automotive on Detroit's northwest side. "Sometimes people come in here looking for one thing and leave with three or four items. They look at something and see the value in it and sell themselves. Impulse buying."

Hollywood Automotive does a big business in hot rod speed equipment. But the family man is important to them, too. What does the man with a sedan or a station wagon want most?

"Luggage racks. We sell a pile of them," says Ed. It's not surprising, since more and more people are vacationing by car, and they're taking with them enough gear to be comfortable for two weeks, a month, or more.

Another family-type item is a stereo tape player. It can be installed by an amateur with the most rudimentary tools.

Popular, too, are a variety of gauges to replace "idiot" lights. The gauges are available in sets including an ammeter, oil pressure gauge, and engine temperature gauge — or in individual pieces.

Side marker lights or reflectors for cars not originally equipped with them, are bought and installed by the owner himself. They're inexpensive, dressy looking and contribute to safety.

Vanity mirrors have always been popular, but the current crop of self-illuminating mirrors are more popular than ever, especially with the

Oil Filter

Most cars built today are equipped with an oil filter. That's one reason engines can go for longer periods between oil changes.

But when the filter gets clogged, dirt and sludge get into the engine and could spell trouble. So change the oil and the filter at recommended intervals.

Hot Brakes

In an average day's driving — and stopping — your car's brakes build up enough energy to heat your home. Can younger car owners. These clip on to the sun visor like the original vanity mirrors, and the lights are powered by flashlight batteries.

What else is new? Headrests are available in all sizes, shapes and colors. Installation takes seconds — either bolt-on or clamp-on types, depending on what the owner wants. And baby seats, the kind that will keep Junior secure from harm, out-of-the-way, and yet close at hand should he need attention.

Then there are a variety of air deflectors and dust flaps (for wagons), dress-up ornaments, lights, rearview mirrors, tachometers, fuel and oil additives and dozens of other items including baby bottle warmers.

Whether the car owner buys his car "stripped" or "loaded" he can satisfy his every motoring need and want by dropping in to one of the thousands of accessory retailers around the country. He may start out as a browser, but chances are he'll walk out of the store with something that he really needs.

Feel Sensation of Big Race Drivers

Have you ever had the secret desire to be a Juan Fangio, a Parnelli Jones, a Wilbur Shaw? Well, now's your chance to let all your suppressed inhibitions go with the sound of the starter's signal.

Fastrack, Inc. just opened the first Fastrack franchise on the west coast. This unique new motor sport amusement is to say the least, exciting and fun-filled.

Utilizing the Subaru 360cc mini sedan on a closed, measured course, the driver gets all the thrills of big-time competition driving. The only real difference is the competitor is racing against a clock, not against another car at the same time.

The new innovation in motor sports has all the trimmings. By removing the glass from the sporty 360 Subaru the driver feels all of the sensations that big race car drivers do in world championship competition. Complete with safety helmets, seat and safety harnesses and off-track barriers to prevent over zealous jockies from the obvious, Fastrack leaves little to the drivers racing imagination.

The concept of Fastrack all started last winter at the American Road Race of Champions at Daytona Beach, Florida. For promotional purposes, the company laid out a quick course to let some of the country's top drivers have a shot at mini-racing. The results were nothing short of sensational. Big-name drivers found themselves timing each other with wrist watch second hands. The competition became most vigorous.

The result was the installation of the first Fastrack franchise in America. Ex-NASCAR champion Ned Jarrett was awarded the initial franchise at his Hickory raceway facility in North Carolina.

This month the first California Fastrack opened adjacent to the world famous Orange County International Raceway located about halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Members of the press, automobile dealers and just plain fans were introduced to one of the most exciting sports to come along in ages.

Fastrack is under the direction of Mr. John Taliaferro and assisted by Mr. Donald B. Sheik. Both men are well qualified in the automotive and franchise fields.

The Fastrack franchise ranges from $18,000 to $25,000. Included in these figures are 10 race cars, all liability coverage, track construction, and numerous items. The Fastrack people state that the franchise is a perfect turn-key operation for the absentee owner or ideal for working owner or partnership. Whatever else Fastrack is, it's a ball. And as one California newspaper writer said, "Fastrack is sure to clean the carbon off your points as well as the points of your wife and kids... it's for everybody."

One of the pleasures of driving a new car is being able to go over a rutted or bumpy road without any discomfort. As mileage adds up, however, that new car ride disappears, particularly if you've neglected maintenance.

Proper car care in the front end system and suspension can continue to give that new car feeling for years to come.

Front end and suspension systems should be checked every three months. And the front end should be lubricated as specified in your owner's manual.

Front End, Suspension Can Be Kept Like New

If you neglect these services, your car will give tellable signs that something is wrong.

Your car will tend to wander all over the road, even though you hold the steering wheel firmly. Another sign that the steering system is malfunctioning is the presence of irregularly worn tires.

Parts of the front end system that need particular attention include the steering linkage — the idler arm, pitman arm, center link and tie rod assemblies. Have your mechanic check these next time your car is on the hoist.

Also have him check the dust seals which keep dirt, water and foreign material out of the working parts of the steering linkage. If the seals are broken or damaged, it is an indication that the parts are wearing out, prematurely.

If you notice that the front end of your car appears lower than the back end, it may be a sign that the front coil springs or torsion bars are sagging. The condition may also indicate worn upper or lower control arm bushings. In the case of torsion bar sag, it is often possible to adjust them. Sagging coil springs must be replaced, as must defective control arm bushings.

Bad or worn shock absorbers can be detected by loose bushings, leaks of fluid around the seal, or by bouncing the car. If the car bounces more than one and one-half times after you have rocked it, the shock should be replaced.

The function of the shock is to hold the wheels on the road, and a bad or worn shock cannot do this. Driving a car with bad or worn-out shocks will give the driver the feeling of being in a boat. The vehicle continuously bounces up and down and is difficult to control.

Always check the rear suspension. With the advent of four coil suspension, control arms and radius rods hold the rear axle to the frame. Loose bushings in these arms often contribute to oversteering, difficulty of holding the car on the road, and driver fatigue.

After, and only after all suspension parts have been checked, and defective and worn-out parts have been replaced, should the vehicle be aligned.

Periodic inspections will determine when parts are just beginning to wear, and by replacing these parts the car owner will avoid large repairs at any one time. The car will give better service, it will handle like new, and will be fairly easy on the pocket-book.

Credit Card Repair

The familiar sign "We Trust in the Lord — All Others Pay Cash" is becoming increasingly rare in automotive service facilities. A growing number of facilities and the motorists they serve are putting their trust in credit cards.

The trend is having a significant effect on the service industry. The motorist need no longer delay vital repair work until he can raise the ready cash. And the facility owner has a list of benefits including simplified billing procedures. Also, it is no longer necessary to keep large amounts of cash on the premises.

Gasoline stations, more than 200,000 of them, are the most common areas of credit servicing. Virtually all oil companies offer credit cards to customers, primarily for gasoline, oil and minor repair services. Also, oil companies are allowing such service as tune-ups to be charged on credit cards.

Independent service outlets numbering more than 114,000 are climbing on the credit bandwagon in ever growing volume. Many honor credit cards from banks, travel organizations and individual facility credit card set-ups.

The more than 33,000 auto dealership service departments are also showing increased interest in financing repair work through a wide variety of credit sources.

Many banks will extend personal loans for needed repair work at going commercial rates consistent with state usury laws.

As a result, there is no need for a person with established credit to risk driving an undependable, unsafe car because he doesn't have the ready cash.

For him, good transportation is in the cards — credit cards.

Car Test Started in 1924

Proving grounds were introduced by the industry in 1924. But what probably was the first test track designed specifically to test and evaluate production vehicles was built by a Detroit auto maker back in 1915. A half-mile planked track circled a steel-fabricated "hill" more than 40 feet high, which cars had to climb prior to leaving the factory.

Cars also were required to plow through a sand pit and travel around the track at all speeds before being approved for shipment. Before the track was built, newly-assembled vehicles were tested on nearby city streets.

Upkeep Key to Gas Mileage

Are you driving an economy car on a luxury car budget?

Chances are this is the case if you aren't driving and servicing your car properly. Getting the best performance from your car at the least possible expenditure depends on how you drive and how you care for your car.

Take the matter of gasoline consumption. Tests conducted on an international basis by Champion Spark Plug Company last year showed how condition of the car affects gasoline mileage.

Champion transported a dynamometer on wheels to shopping centers in the United States, Canada and Mexico to test effects of tune-up on gasoline mileage.

Cars were tested for gasoline consumption before tune-up, after installation of new spark plugs and after a complete tune-up.

Average improvement after installation of new spark plugs alone was 6.2 per cent in the U. S. and Canada. Average improvement after complete tune-up was 8.2 per cent.

Thus, close to two gallons in every tankful of gasoline can be saved when the engine is kept in tune.

Proper maintenance can also save as much as 20 per cent in tire life. Keeping tires at recommended air pressures not only save wear on tires but actually helps improve gasoline mileage. Underinflated tires, especially, are thieves of gasoline.

In addition to proper inflation, balancing the wheels and correct wheel alignment are essential to maximum tire wear.

Experts estimate that tires subjected to unbalancing and wrong alignment could easily wear out six months prematurely.

Another ingredient to economical driving is using the best grades of oil available and changing that oil and filter at recommended intervals. Good oil, properly maintained, can save inestimable yet substantial wear on vital engine parts. Neglect of oil could lead to a premature deterioration of rods and pistons and could require a major engine overhaul.

In fact, any program of preventive maintenance is the most economical investment you can make. Lubrication performed on time saves steering and chassis components. Attention to brake condition makes each service reasonable priced instead of excessively costly as in cases where drums are scored through neglect.

The above are but a few examples of potential savings through systematic preventive maintenance.
